No Need To Worry About This Paper.

In writing opinions day by day on three, four or five different subjects each issue of the paper, we are bound to differ a great deal from many of our readers. Now and then we make mistakes and sometimes we over-emphasize matters which seem to us important but which perhaps with a wider perspective might not be so.

The other day, when endeavoring to stir up some interest in the children's ward for the hospital we trod on the toes of some of the women, as we intended to do. In some quarters we are told we raised somewhat of a hornet's nest and the hornets did considerable buzzing. We are glad of it. If women spent less time at afternoon bridge and silly teas and did more useful work instead, the city would be much better. However, that is not our business. The ladies can carry on their affairs any way they wish. We would not dare to say what they should do. All we would like would be to see the children's ward properly established and we have sufficient faith in the men and women of this community to believe they will do it. A good beginning has been made.

Lord Leverhulme Was Great Man.

Lord Leverhulme was a generous and discerning patron of man. Of course he had defects in his character, as all great men have. The greatness never extends all the way round.

Lord Leverhulme was a generous and discerning patron of painting. A few years ago there was a good deal of amusement over his differences with two celebrated portrait painters to whom he sat for his portrait. In the first instance the painting was returned to the painter with the head cut out. It was at once explained that the return of the mutilated painting was entirely unintentional, although Lord Leverhulme maintained his general objections to the painter's efforts. In the second instance Lord Leverhulme objected to paying the stipulated price for a full length portrait when only a three-quarter length work had resulted. Very naturally these incidents caused a certain amount of indignation among painters, and a not at all uncertain amount of amusement among the general public. To Port Sunlight Lord Leverhulme presented an art gallery and museum in memory of his wife. He made notable benefactions to his native town of Bolton, and to Masonic and other charities. Socially he was one of the happiest of men, and after seventy years of age was often ready to dance throughout a whole program.

Pertinent Things About The Tariff.

During his recent speech Mr. Archambault had some pertinent things to say about the tariff and the Robb budget. "The best reason for concluding that this budget is a sound and reasonable one is that it has failed to please the extreme wings of this House," said Mr. Archambault. "It does not please the high protectionist and it also does not please the free trader. The budget reminds me of the attitude of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on racial and religious questions. The Tories of Ontario used to say that Sir Wilfrid wanted French and Catholic domination, and at the time the Tories of Quebec were stating that Sir Wilfrid was betraying his race and religion. The principle that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did follow should apply to the fiscal policy and I can see in this budget the embodiment of that principle. Our geographical situation is such that it is impossible to please everybody, and unless we make a firm determination to adopt a policy of give and take, a policy of conciliation, it will mean the disruption of Confederation."

Daily Mail Service Is Needed Here.

A despatch to the coast announces that the postal authorities have at least consented to establish a daily instead of a tri-weekly baggage car mail service on the Canadian National Railway between Edmonton and Vancouver. That is satisfactory as it means that baggage car mail services are practicable. It is what we have been asking for alternate days here.

The weak spot in the mail service in the west is now that section of the line between Jasper and Prince Rupert. Another effort should be made to try to impress on the post office the desirability of establishing such a service and thus giving the people of this part of the country a similar service to that extended other parts of the west.

BANQUET GIVEN BY ROTARIANS

Members of Gyro Club Guests of Senior Organization and Visitors From Outside

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Ketchikan, Portland, Seattle and Montreal Represented at Annual Event

The spirit of Rotary, that of getting to know and understand and help each other, was clearly manifested at the installation banquet of the local Rotary Club at the St. Regis dining hall last evening when members of the Gyro Club were guests of members of the Rotary Club and there were also visitors from Ketchikan, Seattle, Portland, and Montreal. Incidentally farewell was said to W. E. Williams, one of the charter members of the local club who left for the south last night to establish a branch of his law business at Vancouver. Dr. W. T. Kergin presided during the earlier part of the evening and after the installation Thomas McClymont wielded the gavel.

Distinguished Guests

The distinguished guest of the evening was Governor Frank Riggs of Portland who came to install the officers, which he did in a neat speech. With him was Harry Nunan, president of the Ketchikan Rotary Club; Bob Shaw of the Vancouver Club; Rev. C. M. Van Marter of Ketchikan, N. R. Walker of Ketchikan, Walter Molson of Montreal, Frank Parrish of Seattle and Roy McNaughton president of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club.

The president drew attention to a new Rotary standard which is being presented to the new club at Ketchikan by Prince Rupert similar to the one given the local club by Vancouver when they were formed.

Dr. Kergin thanked the members of the club and particularly the officers for the support given him during the past year.

F. G. Dawson made a neat speech in which he welcomed the visitors and congratulated Ketchikan on its success. He thought it would be a good thing for Prince Rupert if they could imbibe some of the Ketchikan spirit and pull together as they did for anything they wanted. They were handicapped in not having a railway like this city had but in spite of that they forged ahead. The secret of their success was that everyone there was working for Ketchikan.

Cement Good Fellowship

Harry Nunan expressed the hope that the formation of the Rotary Club in Ketchikan would help spread the cement of good fellowship. He lived here for a number of years and was very glad to see the improvements that were being made here.

Rev. C. M. Van Marter told a number of humorous stories and told them well. He spoke of the desire of the Ketchikan club to work in harmony with Prince Rupert and encourage the spirit of "get together."

Thomas McClymont spoke of the regret they felt at W. E. Williams leaving. He had been here since the early days and had always been a good neighbor. They would miss him in the Rotary Club.

Mr. Williams thanked the club for the expressions and told of having been here in the early days and taking part in the incorporation of the city.

Roy McNaughton, president of the Gyro Club, spoke interestingly of the work the Gyros were doing here and thanked the Rotarians for the support in the enterprises. Without this support they could do little.

Best in World

Frank Parrish of Seattle mentioned the value of service clubs. In Seattle they had the best Rotary Club in the world. He admitted it. He told of some of the work they were doing and of the cultivation of the international spirit.

Bob Shaw of Vancouver spoke briefly and Frank Riggs gave the members of the two clubs a good deal of good advice mentioning that Prince Rupert had taken the initiatory steps toward the formation of a club in Ketchikan.

Community singing was led by Jack Nicholls while the vocalists of the evening were S. K. Campbell, John Davie, Consul Wakefield, and S. C. Jackson, with W. Vaughan Davies accompanying. The new officers installed were:

"It's guaranteed pure - and purity means value in soap -"

says Mrs. Experience, to housewives interested in saving.

"Of course, you know right away that I refer to Sunlight—because Sunlight is the only laundry bar soap made in Canada that is guaranteed pure. A $5,000 Guarantee of Purity goes with every bar; and according to the makers, this Guarantee has never once been challenged during the whole lifetime of Sunlight Soap.

"It's perfectly obvious, too, that when every particle of a soap is pure cleansing material—and not loaded with useless adulterants and hardening materials—then that soap has more cleansing power and does more work with less labour. A little of it goes a long way. In short, it's really economical.

"That's why I always use and recommend Sunlight for the laundry, dishes and general housework. Sunlight keeps my hands soft and comfortable, too!" Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto, make it.
