EARTHQUAKE MAKES WHOLE EAST TREMBLE

MORE TELEPHONES AND LIGHT SERVICES IN RUPERT TO-DAY THAN EVER

Earthquake Shook Whole of Eastern Canada and States Panic was Caused at Ottawa

Buildings were shaken and in some places damaged by three shocks, the first being the worst

OTTAWA, March 2.—Eastern Canada and the New England states and districts as far south as Kentucky were shaken by an earthquake Saturday night, which was the severest in the history of the Dominion Observatory and which authorities claim is the worst in two centuries.

The centre of disturbance is said to have been at the mouth of the Saguenay River in Quebec, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

So far one death is reported as a result of the tremors, that of Mrs. Eugene Bureau, 25 miles from Three Rivers who, falling unconscious from the shock, died shortly afterwards.

There were three shocks, but neither the second or third was as violent as the first.

In Three Rivers the damage included the crumbling of the top of the 243 foot chimney of the Wayagamack Pulp Co., the walls of which were damaged.

St. Mark's Church at Shawinigan Falls is closed on account of the crumbling of one of the transepts. A wall of a two story building went down.

Rink Was Shaken

In Ottawa buildings were rocked and the rink in which the Canadian-Ottawa hockey match was being played vibrated violently and the crowd there was brought to the verge of panic. A crowd witnessing the pupils' concert at the Glebe Collegiate Assembly room pushed for the exits and several women became hysterical before order was restored. In the memorial museum, plaster fell from several of the arches.

The quake was not felt west of Sudbury although it shook northern Ontario and Toronto.

In New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit and other large cities the quake was severe enough to alarm millions of people. In Detroit the hotel guests rushed into the streets. Quebec city reports that there is a rumor that five persons died of fright or were struck by falling debris on the south shore, but this report was not verified.

CONFERENCE ON COAST SALMON

Those Interested Throughout This Region to Meet in Seattle

DISCUSS HATCHERIES

British Columbia Representatives to Attend as Well as From Alaska

SEATTLE, Mar. 2.—A meeting is planned to take place here two weeks from today of all those particularly interested in the salmon industry on this coast. It has been called by E. A. Sims, chairman of the Washington state board of fisheries, and all important bodies are expected to be represented there. Among those attending will be Henry O'Malley, U.S. commissioner of fisheries; W. A. Found, director of fisheries of the Dominion of Canada; William Sloan, commissioner of fisheries for B.C., and J. P. Babcock, his deputy; F. P. Kendall of the fish commission of Oregon; N. B. Schofield, in charge of the commercial fisheries department of California; J. R. Heckman of the Alaska Territorial Fish Commission.

Among the important matters to be discussed will be the value of hatcheries and the alternative of improving the seedling beds on the upper waters of the streams.

An attempt will be made to arrange a unified program for the whole Pacific Coast dealing with the practical problems affecting the industry.

Important matters which will undoubtedly be discussed will be the further study of the life history of the salmon and tagging as a means to that end. The menace of the fisheries through the construction of dams and the harnessing of waterpowers; also deep sea studies. Possibly the subject of fish culture will be the most important of all these subjects for it is one that has lately been probed in various quarters and with differing and widely varying results.

DEPRESSION IN GREAT BRITAIN

Trouble Said to be Brewing in Three Key Industries According to American View

LONDON, Mar. 2.—The American Chamber of Commerce in its February summary of conditions says there is trouble brewing in three British key industries, mining, engineering and railways, and points out that unemployment figures jumped 77,000 over the same month the previous year and now aggregates 1,239,000.

Shipbuilding is much depressed, only thirty per cent of the available ships being operated.

The stock of coal is large and the export demand slow. There is a suggestion of a Government bonus of half a crown a ton to consumers.

More Light Connection and Telephones than ever before in History of Prince Rupert

The fact that there has been an increase in electric light and telephone accounts of the city about 100 in each department during the past twelve months indicates that the population of Prince Rupert is on the increase. There are at present 1752 light accounts and 1370 telephones in operation, both figures being higher than ever before in the city's history. Orders for new telephones and light connections come in daily and there is a corresponding increase in the number of water consumers.

NO PACIFIC BONUS FOR THIS YEAR IS OPINION AT OTTAWA

The Seal Cove sawmill is having its power connection with the city lines hooked up today. Half the connected load or about 300 horse power is being given at this time. This will enable the machinery of the mill to be turned over. The full load of about 800 horse power will be required about April when it is proposed to resume cutting at the mill. It was in the fall of 1921 when the mill's power was last disconnected, the period since then marking the time of idleness at the plant.
