BRITISH WOULD FISH IN CANADA

Representative of Big Industry Now in East Trying to Make Arrangements

Proposal to Spend Three Million Dollars in Big Venture at Halifax

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 20.—Major Hugh Green, representing the fisheries industry of Great Britain, who arrived here Thursday, went before the fisheries committee of the Halifax board of trade yesterday and told the gathering that those whom he represented were ready to spend three million dollars in the development of Nova Scotia fisheries providing the federal government would provide shipping facilities and reasonable ocean freight rates on the government merchant marine. Major Green said the English fisheries had suffered a slump during the past three years due to a change in the gulf stream, injuring the fishing grounds about the British Isles. His reason for going before the local authorities, he said, was simply to acquaint them with what was proposed before going to Ottawa where he said he had an appointment with the federal government. He left for Ottawa later accompanied by Major Gen. Garnet Hughes, who, while accompanying Major Green, said he was on private business.

Ships Load Daily

The scheme as outlined by Major Green was to establish a fishing centre in Halifax with three or four hundred vessels fishing out of this port and a steamer sailing every day for England with three thousand tons of fresh fish. The capital was ready for investment, he declared providing the federal government would equip enough merchant marine steamers with storage and cooling facilities suitable to handle such cargo and allow favorable rates. Storage plants would be established at Halifax, he said, and employment given several thousand men.

They were interested in a great measure, he said, in lower grade of fish, skate, cod and even dogfish, which local fishermen do not harvest. These fish, he said, find a ready market in the smaller cafes in the British Isles, France and Italy, too, would provide a ready market for Nova Scotia fish, he said. Major Green said he was also empowered to encourage the shipment of fruits and meats from Canada to Europe. It all rested with the federal government, he said.

ILLS OF MANKIND AGAINST WILL OF GOD IS DECLARED

LONDON, Jan. 20.—When men die of illness it is "not God's will to take them," according to the Reverend Michael B. O. Furse, Anglican bishop of St. Albans.

Addressing the St. Albans Diocesan Conference the Bishop said: "If physical disease is God's will and desire, why did Christ, who came to do His will, fight against it and heal the sick? I cannot believe," he said, "that it is right to say, when a human being dies of a physical disorder, that 'it was God's will to take him.' If I said that, I should feel that I had blasphemed."

Bishop Furse added that no medical practitioner would claim to have healed or cured anyone of disease. All that could be claimed was that medicine had helped nature to do her own work of healing.

As a Christian the bishop said he believed that "what the physiologist calls nature's laws are God's laws; that disease and disorder in the physical sphere are as much against God's will as disease or disorder in the moral and spiritual sphere."

GREEKS ARE JEALOUS FOR LIFE OF KING

Attempt to Assassinate Him Caused Indignation in Country

BUCHAREST, Jan. 20.—Copies of Greek newspapers received here show that public opinion in Greece is very much in favor of ex-King George and that the recent attempt to assassinate him has caused indignation among the Greek people.

Details of the attempt upon the life of the former king disclose that he was surprised in the forest near Sinaia by a band of Greeks who fired several shots at him, none of which, however, hit their mark.

The police allege that the would-be assassins, all of whom now are in jail, were in close contact with an organization in Athens, which aims to remove the ex-king from the list of pretenders to a re-created Greek throne.

J. C. Gavigan is sailing on the steamer Gardena this evening on a business trip to Vancouver.
