

MODERATOR—Rev. A. A. Scott, 65-year-old college principal from India, (right) is the new Moderator of the United Church of Canada. It is the first time the Church's highest office has gone to a missionary. Dr. Scott, a native of Carleton Place, who has spent 40 years in the mission fields, is installed after his appointment at the 15th General Council of the United Church of Canada, held at the University of Toronto, Ont., by Rt. Rev. C. M. Nicholson, (left) of Halifax, N.S. Mrs. Scott is at centre. (CP PHOTO)

Over Since Eve

A touch of garlic can make even the simplest gourmet's delight and one sure way of getting "ouch" and no more is by using a garlic press. A little kitchen gadget gives you just the amount of garlic without the sometimes overpowering effect of garlic which are too strong.

LOAF is an interesting economical way to start your culinary planning. One like is to take 1½ pounds of beef, 1 egg beat, 1 fresh bread crumbs, 1 onion, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 cup tomato sauce, 1 cup ketchup, 1 cup molasses. Pour loaf in oven and cooking 1½ hours longer. The family will them in a warm room to dry. The newspaper will absorb the moisture and hasten the drying action.

Valhalla Lodge Holds Meeting
The Scandinavian Fraternity of America of Valhalla Lodge No. 67 held its first meeting since the summer recess with President A. O. Morse in the chair. One of the highlights of the meeting was the report made by Mr. Morse, the only delegate of B.C. to the district convention held in Butte, Montana, this summer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. K. Hallberg.

LENGTHY CHURCH
The longest parish church in England at Hull, Yorkshire, is 272 feet in length.

RCAF Head Confident of Air Cadet Squadron Success Here
Confidence that the move to establish an air cadet squadron in Prince Rupert will meet with great success was expressed here Saturday night by Air Commodore R. G. Gordon, OBE, CD, air officer commanding for the Pacific coast.

"The number of applications already received from boys in the city anxious to join the Air Cadet League is very encouraging and the air force is watching with interest the development of a squadron here," Air Commodore Gordon said. "We plan to do everything possible to support it."

Air Commodore Gordon, who was commanding officer for the RCAF in Prince Rupert during the war, brought with him Flight Lieutenant F. G. Armstrong, air cadet liaison officer for B.C., to advise the local sponsoring committee on the formation of a squadron. The meeting was attended by Dick Garrett, formerly of the RCAF, who has been named commanding officer for the Prince Rupert squadron.

F/L Armstrong described the air cadet movement as "a dynamic one which once started would have to be continually kept up."

"Benefits to the air cadets are twofold," he said. "If cadets choose a civilian career, the discipline and varied lectures will be useful to them, and if it should ever be necessary they will be prepared for a military career."

CADETS TO FLY
Air cadet classes will consist of formal lectures on navigation, meteorology, personnel hygiene, and air force background and history. In addition, there will be films, rifle shooting, games, and once a year an RCAF Canso will come up from Vancouver to give the boys a "flip," during which they will receive instruction in map-reading and navigation.

Members of the squadron will be eligible to attend the two-week summer camps which offer ground classes in aviation, sports and time in the air.

Uniforms for air cadets will arrive next week and first parade of the squadron has been scheduled tentatively for

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. George Lefler, accompanied by Miss Mona Brearley, arrived here Sunday by car on a province-wide tour. Mr. Lefler is Grand Master of the IOOF lodges and Miss Brearley is president of the Centennial Rebekah Lodges of B.C.

Two brothers of a Prince Rupert family are home to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Forman of Atlin Avenue. Ted is a graduate of Royal Roads Military College, Victoria, and has been taking summer training at Trenton RCAF station. He returns to RMC at Kingston next month, where he will graduate in April.

Allan is a fourth-year student at University of B.C. and will return to Vancouver next month. He has been home for the summer months, working at Atlin Fisheries.

A third brother, James, is a third-year student at Washington University, and is at present working in Kamano Bay.

Fine Talent Boosts AMT Ticket Sales

Calibre of the artists to appear in the Alaska Music Trail concerts starting Sept. 24 is attracting interest and tickets are selling well, it is stated by the sponsoring committee.

Evidently, because all four concerts offer exceptionally fine talent, the demand for season tickets is greater than ever before.

The committee explained that one reason Prince Rupert is able to draw artists of world renown appears to be in the voluntary and enthusiastic publicity given the concert tour by two of the musicians who have been here before. They are Luigi Silva, cellist, and Maxim Schapiro, pianist.

Both are top-ranking artists whose opinions are respected by their contemporaries. They apparently so enjoyed their previous experience on the Alaska Music Trail, and the warm audience response they received, that they have spread the word among their associates with the result that the most sought-after musicians are taking time from their customary circuit of engagements to make the trip.

Both Silva and Schapiro are to appear on the first program, Sept. 24. With them will be Bela Urban, previously a soloist with the Andre Kostelanetz orchestra.

Tartans Popular at Edinburgh Festival

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDINBURGH—With the Edinburgh Festival gaining importance yearly in the market of overseas visitors, Scottish retailers are cashing in on the sales appeal of "a gaudy piece of Scots manufacture."

Tartan-draped windows, sporting Celtic brooches and elaborate sporrans, knitting and traditional tweeds, attract Canadian and United States visitors from the stylishly dressed to "teen-agers in tartan jeans."

In the heart of "Auld Reekie"—as Scotland's capital was known to "Rabbie" Burns—North American accents blend daily with the soft lowland burr, as the visitors go about their shopping tours.

WIDE VARIETY
A popular purchase is polished leather shoulder bags with

tartan front panels, the pointed flaps sporting a silver Clairgorm thistle or a Celtic reindeer head.

There are soft suede gloves with tartan back panels, tartan umbrellas with shepherd's crook handles, tartan blouses, jumpers, socks and bonnets. And these are just part of Scotland's lead in present-day fashions.

From highland croft to the woolen mills of the lowlands, Scots are working on home products and materials that have already won fashion popularity through public demand.

A festival fashion with definite overseas appeal is the huge, fringed woollen square in shepherd's tartan worn by a theatre-goer to top a simple, black wool dinner dress.

POPULAR STOLEES
Scotland is also cashing in on the stole craze with everything from over-sized tartan scarves to gossamer Shetland wool knitted squares flecked and trimmed with sequins, that make attractive evening wear.

Throughout the couture houses of London and Paris this season, buyers will find coats, suits and dresses in Scotland's fine "Glen" checks and tartans. Beautifully-styled, simple dresses with all-round pleated skirts and matching short jackets lined with moleskin, are found in many shades of the fine Glen-Urquhart checks.

This check, which had fallen almost completely out of favor for fashionable women's wear in pre-war days, is right back on top with many other shadow checks that depend on muted colors for effect.

And at such affairs as the military tattoo that takes place during the festival in the front square of Edinburgh Castle, many of the smart Scots check outfits worn by sightseers were not bought on this side of the Atlantic.

Canadian interest was centered more than ever before on this year's festival as for the first time, a representative band of Canadian pipers took part in the tattoo.

MAXIM SHAPIRO, well-known concert pianist who has made two appearances in Prince Rupert, will again visit the city when he performs with two others in the first concert of the 1952-53 Alaska Music Trail series. Mr. Shapiro will be accompanied by Luigi Silva, cellist, who has made one appearance here and by Bela Urban, noted violinist when they open the series here on Sept. 24.

Choosing Your Collage Dress

Choosing the basic dress or suit for fall lectures comes second only to choosing the course of lectures, with most feminine undergraduates.

The new, softer, more womanly lines are all very well. But most college girls plan from modest budgets. They want something plain enough for everyday. Yet they are looking for an outfit which can be touched up with accessories for a sorority tea. It must also go nicely with a warm jacket, should the wind blow sharply at the football game.

Young women who are style conscious, know that is is the deceptively simple-looking dress which is the most expensive to buy and the trickiest to sew.

That's why many college women include, in addition to philosophy or economics on their fall study courses, a session at the nearest sewing-center in the art of dressmaking. It is the place to pick up ideas in sewing and the kind of well-cut patterns that give style. And it is where you can find out which material in a jacket goes best with what fabric in a skirt. To achieve those smoothly flowing feminine lines, sewing centers teach the art of blending. Blending is cutting away unseen material in seams, at necklines, in collar facings, sleeve finishes and pockets.

The current fashion for jersey and velveteen make the home dressmaking problem easier for undergraduates this fall. So does the cardigan look. These materials and styles are simple, yet dressy—and they wear well.

For the dresser accessory note, sewing centers recommend fashion stitching. It is embroidery done by machine without using any attachments. You simply thread needle and bobbin with the thread recommended for the stitch, and go ahead to make an attractive design on collar, cuff or belt. Embroidery is the last word this fall, too.

Try Daily News Want Ads

Make Your Printing Matter Part of Your Business

Did it ever occur to you that you need distinctive printed matter for your particular business?

Type faces give you this outstanding distinctiveness—and these can be supplied by our modern printing department.

Dibb Printing Co.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Tartans Popular at Edinburgh Festival

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDINBURGH—With the Edinburgh Festival gaining importance yearly in the market of overseas visitors, Scottish retailers are cashing in on the sales appeal of "a gaudy piece of Scots manufacture."

Tartan-draped windows, sporting Celtic brooches and elaborate sporrans, knitting and traditional tweeds, attract Canadian and United States visitors from the stylishly dressed to "teen-agers in tartan jeans."

In the heart of "Auld Reekie"—as Scotland's capital was known to "Rabbie" Burns—North American accents blend daily with the soft lowland burr, as the visitors go about their shopping tours.

WIDE VARIETY
A popular purchase is polished leather shoulder bags with

tartan front panels, the pointed flaps sporting a silver Clairgorm thistle or a Celtic reindeer head.

There are soft suede gloves with tartan back panels, tartan umbrellas with shepherd's crook handles, tartan blouses, jumpers, socks and bonnets. And these are just part of Scotland's lead in present-day fashions.

From highland croft to the woolen mills of the lowlands, Scots are working on home products and materials that have already won fashion popularity through public demand.

A festival fashion with definite overseas appeal is the huge, fringed woollen square in shepherd's tartan worn by a theatre-goer to top a simple, black wool dinner dress.

POPULAR STOLEES
Scotland is also cashing in on the stole craze with everything from over-sized tartan scarves to gossamer Shetland wool knitted squares flecked and trimmed with sequins, that make attractive evening wear.

Throughout the couture houses of London and Paris this season, buyers will find coats, suits and dresses in Scotland's fine "Glen" checks and tartans. Beautifully-styled, simple dresses with all-round pleated skirts and matching short jackets lined with moleskin, are found in many shades of the fine Glen-Urquhart checks.

This check, which had fallen almost completely out of favor for fashionable women's wear in pre-war days, is right back on top with many other shadow checks that depend on muted colors for effect.

And at such affairs as the military tattoo that takes place during the festival in the front square of Edinburgh Castle, many of the smart Scots check outfits worn by sightseers were not bought on this side of the Atlantic.

Canadian interest was centered more than ever before on this year's festival as for the first time, a representative band of Canadian pipers took part in the tattoo.

MAXIM SHAPIRO, well-known concert pianist who has made two appearances in Prince Rupert, will again visit the city when he performs with two others in the first concert of the 1952-53 Alaska Music Trail series. Mr. Shapiro will be accompanied by Luigi Silva, cellist, who has made one appearance here and by Bela Urban, noted violinist when they open the series here on Sept. 24.

Choosing Your Collage Dress

Choosing the basic dress or suit for fall lectures comes second only to choosing the course of lectures, with most feminine undergraduates.

The new, softer, more womanly lines are all very well. But most college girls plan from modest budgets. They want something plain enough for everyday. Yet they are looking for an outfit which can be touched up with accessories for a sorority tea. It must also go nicely with a warm jacket, should the wind blow sharply at the football game.

Young women who are style conscious, know that is is the deceptively simple-looking dress which is the most expensive to buy and the trickiest to sew.

That's why many college women include, in addition to philosophy or economics on their fall study courses, a session at the nearest sewing-center in the art of dressmaking. It is the place to pick up ideas in sewing and the kind of well-cut patterns that give style. And it is where you can find out which material in a jacket goes best with what fabric in a skirt. To achieve those smoothly flowing feminine lines, sewing centers teach the art of blending. Blending is cutting away unseen material in seams, at necklines, in collar facings, sleeve finishes and pockets.

The current fashion for jersey and velveteen make the home dressmaking problem easier for undergraduates this fall. So does the cardigan look. These materials and styles are simple, yet dressy—and they wear well.

For the dresser accessory note, sewing centres recommend fashion stitching. It is embroidery done by machine without using any attachments. You simply thread needle and bobbin with the thread recommended for the stitch, and go ahead to make an attractive design on collar, cuff or belt. Embroidery is the last word this fall, too.

Try Daily News Want Ads

Make Your Printing Matter Part of Your Business

Did it ever occur to you that you need distinctive printed matter for your particular business?

Type faces give you this outstanding distinctiveness—and these can be supplied by our modern printing department.

Dibb Printing Co.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Tartans Popular at Edinburgh Festival

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDINBURGH—With the Edinburgh Festival gaining importance yearly in the market of overseas visitors, Scottish retailers are cashing in on the sales appeal of "a gaudy piece of Scots manufacture."

Tartan-draped windows, sporting Celtic brooches and elaborate sporrans, knitting and traditional tweeds, attract Canadian and United States visitors from the stylishly dressed to "teen-agers in tartan jeans."

In the heart of "Auld Reekie"—as Scotland's capital was known to "Rabbie" Burns—North American accents blend daily with the soft lowland burr, as the visitors go about their shopping tours.

WIDE VARIETY
A popular purchase is polished leather shoulder bags with

tartan front panels, the pointed flaps sporting a silver Clairgorm thistle or a Celtic reindeer head.

There are soft suede gloves with tartan back panels, tartan umbrellas with shepherd's crook handles, tartan blouses, jumpers, socks and bonnets. And these are just part of Scotland's lead in present-day fashions.

From highland croft to the woolen mills of the lowlands, Scots are working on home products and materials that have already won fashion popularity through public demand.

A festival fashion with definite overseas appeal is the huge, fringed woollen square in shepherd's tartan worn by a theatre-goer to top a simple, black wool dinner dress.

POPULAR STOLEES
Scotland is also cashing in on the stole craze with everything from over-sized tartan scarves to gossamer Shetland wool knitted squares flecked and trimmed with sequins, that make attractive evening wear.

Throughout the couture houses of London and Paris this season, buyers will find coats, suits and dresses in Scotland's fine "Glen" checks and tartans. Beautifully-styled, simple dresses with all-round pleated skirts and matching short jackets lined with moleskin, are found in many shades of the fine Glen-Urquhart checks.

This check, which had fallen almost completely out of favor for fashionable women's wear in pre-war days, is right back on top with many other shadow checks that depend on muted colors for effect.

And at such affairs as the military tattoo that takes place during the festival in the front square of Edinburgh Castle, many of the smart Scots check outfits worn by sightseers were not bought on this side of the Atlantic.

Canadian interest was centered more than ever before on this year's festival as for the first time, a representative band of Canadian pipers took part in the tattoo.

MAXIM SHAPIRO, well-known concert pianist who has made two appearances in Prince Rupert, will again visit the city when he performs with two others in the first concert of the 1952-53 Alaska Music Trail series. Mr. Shapiro will be accompanied by Luigi Silva, cellist, who has made one appearance here and by Bela Urban, noted violinist when they open the series here on Sept. 24.

Choosing Your Collage Dress

Choosing the basic dress or suit for fall lectures comes second only to choosing the course of lectures, with most feminine undergraduates.

The new, softer, more womanly lines are all very well. But most college girls plan from modest budgets. They want something plain enough for everyday. Yet they are looking for an outfit which can be touched up with accessories for a sorority tea. It must also go nicely with a warm jacket, should the wind blow sharply at the football game.

Young women who are style conscious, know that is is the deceptively simple-looking dress which is the most expensive to buy and the trickiest to sew.

That's why many college women include, in addition to philosophy or economics on their fall study courses, a session at the nearest sewing-center in the art of dressmaking. It is the place to pick up ideas in sewing and the kind of well-cut patterns that give style. And it is where you can find out which material in a jacket goes best with what fabric in a skirt. To achieve those smoothly flowing feminine lines, sewing centers teach the art of blending. Blending is cutting away unseen material in seams, at necklines, in collar facings, sleeve finishes and pockets.

The current fashion for jersey and velveteen make the home dressmaking problem easier for undergraduates this fall. So does the cardigan look. These materials and styles are simple, yet dressy—and they wear well.

For the dresser accessory note, sewing centres recommend fashion stitching. It is embroidery done by machine without using any attachments. You simply thread needle and bobbin with the thread recommended for the stitch, and go ahead to make an attractive design on collar, cuff or belt. Embroidery is the last word this fall, too.

Try Daily News Want Ads

Make Your Printing Matter Part of Your Business

Did it ever occur to you that you need distinctive printed matter for your particular business?

Type faces give you this outstanding distinctiveness—and these can be supplied by our modern printing department.

Dibb Printing Co.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Those who attended the air cadet sponsorship meeting were: Dr. A. W. Large, medical officer for the cadets, F. E. Anfield, Archie Gordon, Bill Bryant, John MacDonald, John Magor, Jack Lawrie and Frank Moore.

At the meeting discussion was held on the formation of a permanent committee of Prince Rupert residents to give the air cadets solid support. The appointment of adjutant and instructors for Commanding Officer Garrett was also considered. It is expected that these will be available next week.

Accompanying Air Commodore Gordon with F/L Armstrong was K. S. Blair, Vancouver, formerly of the RCAF. The party arrived here after an inspection of air force facilities at Terrace, and continued south on Sunday by way of Kitimat and Nechako.

Prince Rupert Daily News

Monday, September 15, 1952

HIGH MELTING POINT
MELFRT, Sask. (CP)—The melting point of most brands of kiss-proof lipstick is 146 degrees Fahr.

enheit. This was explained at an educational exhibit at the provincial honey show here. The bee industry gets into it because beeswax is an element in the lipstick.

Presenting for Fall our

New Suede and Leather Casuals

- ★ ALL COLORS
- ★ HIGH AND LOW WEDGES

Just slip a foot into one of these wonderfully buoyant shoes . . . and float off on your round of activities! For walking, working, relaxing . . . nothing equals their good-looking comfort.

Fashion Footwear

"Royal" Treat

Ask for...
ROYAL CITY
CANNED FOODS

Your taste will tell you

Player's "MILD"

ARE Milder

Smoke Player's and your taste will tell you what mildness really means! Player's are made from the costliest Virginia tobaccos, specially selected because they are milder.

And Player's freshness brings out all the flavour of these milder tobaccos . . . makes Player's the mildest and best tasting cigarette you can smoke!

THE NAME "JOHN PLAYER & SONS" ON THE PACKAGE