Poor Time For National Crisis.

While Lord Burnham, in Vancouver, paints a picture of unsatisfactory conditions in the Old Country with the nation being called upon for the first time to draw on its own capital against an unfavorable trade balance, Great Britain is facing another coal strike which, because of the industrial tie-up it might cause, is feared might be a national disaster.

Great Britain can ill afford to have such a happening at this time. The economic condition in the Old Country, it may be safely judged, is not as healthy as it might be. Instead of standing resolute with a breach between, it seems time for patriotic Britishers, be they mine owners or mine workers or any other class, to get together and negotiate their differences without obstinately challenging each other.

Resolution is a British virtue but it is different from obstinacy that may wreck a nation which is claimed, even by its greatest patriots, to be in none too healthy a condition at this time.

Traffic Accidents Are Preventable.

There are too many motor car fatalities in Canada. Almost every day brings in despatches of people being killed through collisions and even Prince Rupert has had its own traffic accidents. Some accidents are unavoidable but others may be prevented if due care is observed. Those who fail to exercise that care should be punished and punished severely.

The law provides severe punishment for people guilty of negligence after a fatality or serious accident has occurred, but unfortunately there is no adequate penalty to insure against such accidents. The man who, driving a car, kills someone, is liable to long imprisonment for manslaughter while the man, driving to the common danger but not having killed anyone, may get off with a light fine or jail term. In many cases his license is not even rescinded. It seems something like "locking the barn door after the cow has gone."

Whatever the law may be, however, it should be exercised most stringently in the prevention of traffic accidents. Even in Prince Rupert there are rules being daily violated. The citizens generally see the violations even if the police do not. Rounding the looting pole on Second Avenue is an instance. A passerby there, watching cars proceeding to the wharf, might think the left hand side of the road rule is still in vogue.

H.M.S. Capetown Welcome Visitor.

The visit to Prince Rupert of H.M.S. Capetown with its 450 officers and men is a welcome one and citizens generally will extend their efforts to make pleasant the stay in this outpost of the Empire of these representatives of Britain's authority on the seas. While they are members of a grim organization which is still necessary for the maintenance of the Empire's integrity and welfare, these Jack Tars and their superiors we find to be a jolly lot and it gives us pleasure to make their stay a pleasant one and show them that Prince Rupert people are just as patriotic about their interests as are all the other widespread points of Empire they may visit.

Seattle Meeting Important Here.

Elsewhere in today's paper is published a letter referring to the tariff conference to be held in Seattle on August 10 and urging that strong representation be sent from Prince Rupert to fight for a reduction in the present tariff on Canadian fish entering the United States. The suggestion made is a timely one and one that the Daily News agrees with as the matter to be taken up is vital to this city.

Representatives of local packing concerns will, it is understood, be present and some local business men will also be there. Besides these people, the fishermen of the port should also be represented. Last spring they cried for a closing of the port; now it seems there may be means of attaining the end they desire without such a measure. Their representatives should be there to carry on the fight. Probably, local fishermen's organizations are preparing to be represented at the meeting.

WEDDING WAS PRETTY EVENT

Miss Gladys Kemp is United in Marriage to James R. Mitchell

Many friends of the contracting couple attended the wedding in the Anglican Church yesterday afternoon of Gladys, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kemp, and James Mitchell, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mitchell. Archdeacon Bix read the service and Miss Marjorie Lancaster presided at the organ. E. J. Smith supported the bridegroom as best man and W. Mitchell and G. Mitchell acted as ushers.

The choir was present, and rendered the hymns "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," and "O Perfect Love." The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was a picture of girlish beauty attired in a gown of ivory brocade satin trimmed with seed pearls, the long veil being held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her slippers were of silver brocade and the bouquet was of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Caroline Mitchell, sister of the bridegroom and bridesmaid, was attractively attired in a charming frock of orchid georgette and gold lace and peach ostrich tufts, hat and shoes en suite. She carried a shower bouquet of white and pink carnations. Miss Irene Mitchell, flower girl, was dainty in a frock of pale blue silk.

During the signing of the register, Miss Adene Advant sang "Ave Maria" with violin obligato by W. Balagno.

Reception Held

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom where the guests were received by Mrs. C. F. Kemp, mother of the bride, wearing a gown of black satin with orchid ostrich chaux, a large black hat with osprey plumes and a flat stole of uncurled ostrich. Mrs. Mitchell, mother of the bridegroom, who shared the congratulations, wore a handsome dress of rose silk erose with silver applique and large black hat with osprey. Under a floral arch in the drawing room, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the principals received the congratulations of the guests.

Mrs. G. A. Bix and Mrs. H. R. Grant presided at the urns and Mrs. H. Macey at the ices, while, acting as servitors, were Miss May Reid, Miss Beta Johnson, Miss Violet Taylor, Miss Willa Dyer, Miss Dorothy Thomson, Miss Winnie Dobb, Miss Hazel Cunningham and Miss Vi Cameron.

Honeymoon in South

At 5 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left on the Gardena for a trip to southern cities. The bride travelled in a richly embroidered cinnamon brown satin dress. Over this was worn a handsome fur-trimmed fawn coat. Her hat was of fawn silk crepe with velvet antirrhinums. Mrs. Mitchell is a popular member of the younger set of Prince Rupert where she has lived for a number of years. The bridegroom is a graduate of the U.B.C. and is assistant principal of the High School at Anyox. They were the recipients of over ninety beautiful gifts. On their return north they will take up their residence at Anyox.

ALICE ARM NOW HAS CHAMBER OF MINES
