ELWOOD BARD IS ARRESTED AGAIN

Local Youth and Indian Girl, Under Influence of Liquor, Were Found Hiding in Apartment House

Elwood Bard again fell into the hands of the police during the night. At 3.45 this morning, a call was sent into the station that someone was trying to break into the McMordie Apartments. Sergeant Bailey and Constable Macdonald responded and, after making a search, found Bard hidden in a coal closet on the first floor. Upstairs, also in a coal closet, was found an Indian girl named Kate Dennis. Both were apparently under the influence of liquor. They will appear in court tomorrow probably in answer to charges of vagrancy.

POLICY OF PROTECTION EXPOUNDED BY STEVENS AT BIG THEATRE MEETING.

see him in such bad company. The tariff was a question that loomed large but unfortunately there was one for the Maritimes, one for the Prairies and a third for British Columbia. He did not see how it was possible to raise the duties and at the same time not raise the price of the products.

Mr. Nickerson then quoted Sir Wilfrid Laurier against a high tariff. That, he declared, was the policy of the Progressives. High tariff made the rich richer and the poor poorer.

Mr. Nickerson touched lightly on immigration and the freight rates. He declared it was John Oliver, backed up by the Progressives, who had got the lower freight rates. If they wanted to keep their lower rates they should be sure to send Progressives to Ottawa, as they would have the balance of power, no matter which party went in. They should be sure not send a Tory from this riding.

The speaker read from the Daily News an opinion in regard to who got the elevator. He twitted Liberals with not quoting Sir Wilfrid Laurier any more. He scored the railway for being still controlled by the Mackenzie & Mann officials and for trying to stop tourists coming to Prince Rupert.

George Bushby

George Bushby, the Conservative candidate, said it was impossible to follow the agile gymnastics of Mr. Nickerson. Matters in Canada today were too serious to joke with. He urged that the people do a little constructive thinking.

Mr. Bushby spoke of Canada's huge debt and said the day of reckoning would arrive.

Speaking of his personal affairs, Mr. Bushby said he had come to Prince Rupert for financial reasons. He did not go on the rocks because he was in the salvage business. He had made a success of his business and it would yet be a bigger success than people dreamed. He believed in Prince Rupert.

Speaking of the elevator here he said he was in favor of it. Mr. Stevens got abused years ago for securing an elevator in Vancouver and at that time he, Mr. Bushby, stood by Mr. Stevens. No matter who got the elevator they now had to make it pay. He had heard criticisms of Sir Henry Drayton until he was sick of Drayton. Let them see what Dr. Tolmie said. He said that an elevator at Prince Rupert would be a real advantage. The country had large investments in the form of a railway and must make it pay. He supported the building of the elevator.

Mr. Bushby then explained his Smithers reference to the elevator and criticized the defence of it by Dr. King. The farmers, he claimed, would not use the elevator during the next three years as they were importing chicken feed instead of growing it. The only reason the elevator had been built was as the price paid to the Progressives for their support.

ELEVATOR OPERATION IS DISCUSSED AT MEETING GRAIN COMMISSIONERS.

would be ready for them. This they were unable to do. However, several of the brokers had said they intended to make trial shipments this way. He did not see why Prince Rupert elevator should not get its share of business.

James Robinson, the other commissioner, spoke of the elevator and of the desire of the commissioners to co-operate. "It is the finest elevator of its size on the North American continent," he remarked. He agreed with the others present to the suggestion that it would be a good thing to secure a man who would go out after the business. So far as they were concerned they had nothing to say in the matter but they wanted to see the elevator busy.

Railway Co-operation

It was suggested among other things by the visitors that the railways should co-operate in regard to securing the business as if was to their advantage to have this end of the railway busy.

R. Heatherington, general manager of government grain elevators, agreed to give the board information asked for which would help them in their work. He said he would at all times be willing and ready to co-operate in connection with the business here.

M. P. McCaffery presided and laid the Prince Rupert case before the visitors.

The party on their arrival yesterday afternoon went at once to make an inspection of the elevator and expressed themselves as very pleased indeed with what they saw. They said they felt that owing to the advantageous position of Prince Rupert the elevator would soon be doing business.

This is the first visit to Prince Rupert of Mr. O'Hara and other members of the party. They are in the course of an inspection trip of the West and came here by yesterday afternoon's train from Edmonton. From here they will proceed tonight to Vancouver on the steamer Prince Rupert.
