ADOPTS GOVERNMENT UNIVERSITY POLICY

DR. WRINCH OF HAZELTON ADDRESSES LEGISLATURE URGING DEVELOPMENT

Government Sustained After Keen Opposition University Loan Bill

VICTORIA, Dec. 9.—By a vote of 28 to 19 the Provincial Government was backed up by the Legislature in having continued the work at Point Grey after the money provided had been spent. Authorization was granted last night for the spending of over a million dollars on construction of university buildings now being used by students, but a vigorous opposition was put up by the Conservative opposition.

The vote was taken on the second reading of the University Loan Act amending measure. In addition to the straight Liberals voting for the measure were Greery, provincial; Burde, independent; Neelands and Browne, Labor, while opposing was Tom Uphill, labor, of Fernie.

This was one of the most contentious measures of the session and the Government majority of nine proved very satisfactory to Premier Oliver and his cabinet, who ran the risk of a reprimand, which would have resulted in their resignation, in order to carry on the work so that the buildings might be used this year.

Dr. H. C. Wrinch of Hazelton Praises Government Policy and Deprecates Blue Ruin Talk

VICTORIA, Dec. 9.—Members of the executive council of British Columbia are not only honest and honorable men, but they are remarkably able, the departments over which they have control are being handled with the highest degree of efficiency, a fact he had found out from personal dealings on behalf of his constituency, Dr. H. C. Wrinch, of Skeena, informed the Legislature. His tribute was paid at the conclusion of an able address, in which he appealed to capitalists of Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland to take some of their money out of bonds and put it to work in the many promising opportunities offered in the North Country.

Deprecating the "blue ruin" proclivities of opposition speakers, which he said were calculated to have a depressing effect on industry and prospective investors, Dr. Wrinch picked up random copies of newspapers left on his desk during the day and proceeded to read out item after item to show that the mining, shingle and pulp industries were all making great strides, and that millions of dollars were being poured into the country.

"Blue Ruin" False

"A quite casual perusal of the papers will convince anyone that conditions are not as the opposition members would have us believe, but that on the contrary British Columbia is facing a period of great prosperity," he said. "Last year these same speakers told us that the government's timber policy would ruin the industry, but in this paper I see where one concern alone, one of the richest on the continent, has just concluded a deal to put $15,000,000 into a pulp mill. Does that look as if capital is afraid to come into this province and invest?"

He read several other items along similar lines and then pointed out that in his own constituency there were plenty of opportunities for capital. Many properties already passed the prospect stage only wanted capital to develop their high grade ores and he asked coast capitalists to remember this and give the men now developing the north the encouragement of supporting them.

Farm Policy Praised

Agricultural development in the Nechako and Bulkley Valleys and other fertile districts of the north was also stressed by Dr. Wrinch, who was warm in his praise of the department of agriculture for its work in this connection.

Dealing with the University of British Columbia, Dr. Wrinch praised the government's action in continuing the work, stating that if building operations had not been carried on hundreds of students would have been thrown out in their studies. He pointed out that no matter what pursuit in life was followed, a university education was always an asset, and said that the C.P.R. and other big organizations realized this and were today offering university scholarships to their younger employees so that they could get the training necessary to give them an opportunity of becoming leaders in their various lines of activity.
