STRUCK NEGRO WITH JACK KNIFE

Faustino Pena Found Guilty of Unlawfully Wounding With Intent to do Bodily Harm

HAD BEEN DRINKING. Evidence Indicates There was a Brawl in Which Accused Was Aggressor

Guilty of unlawfully wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm was the verdict brought in yesterday afternoon by the jury at the Supreme Court sittings in the case of Rex vs. Faustino Pena, Peruvian, who stood indicted for the attempted murder of C. Agarde, colored, at the Premier wharf in Stewart on June 8 last. The accused was a fireman on the American steamer Curacao which, at the time, was lying at a dock in Hyder, Alaska, and the man who attacked with a jack knife following a drinking bout at Stewart was a negro mess boy. The case was heard with despatch, evidence was of a simple nature, the whole hearing last about two hours and it took the jury a matter of less than ten minutes to reach its verdict. Sentence was reserved by Mr. Justice D. A. Macdonald until the end of the assizes. L. W. Patmore prosecuted and E. F. Jones appeared on behalf of the accused. The jury consisted of A. T. Parkin (foreman), G. A. Kelsey, D. Scherk, Joe Brown, H. F. Glassey, J. Taylor, Fred Gilhuly, E. W. Wesch, Steve King, M. McArthur, J. W. Exley, J. Harris and G. W. Rudderham. Sam Wood and J. Taylor were challenged by the crown, Mrs. E. Morris, W. H. Sherman and E. Davidson by the defence and W. H. Montgomery was stood aside by the crown.

Case for Crown. In briefly outlining the case for the crown, Mr. Patmore said that evidence would be submitted to show that the crew of the Curacao had been ashore at Stewart and had been drinking on the Premier dock after getting hold of quite a quantity of liquor. Agarde was talking to a white man when accused approached and struck him. Agarde took it all in good part and accused could not get a fight out of him. Accused then left and came back brandishing a knife with which he stabbed Agarde in the neck in the proximity of the jugular vein. Agarde then followed accused and gave him a punning. The fight continued until the police arrived on the scene when accused was placed under arrest and taken to jail. Agarde being removed for medical treatment. After having been in hospital, Agarde had rejoined his ship which, since that time, had diligently kept away from Canadian waters, making it impossible to subpoena him to appear as a witness.

The First Witness. Gordon D. Mills, carpenter at the Premier mine, was the first witness. Having been addressed by Agarde earlier in the evening, he was standing talking to him about 11 o'clock when accused, who seemed to be in a surly mood but was not drunk, approached Agarde and asked him to rejoin the party which was drinking and making merry further down on the dock. Agarde said he would be along in a few minutes but this did not seem to satisfy accused who attempted to shoulder him towards the crowd and then struck him in the stomach. They elbowed and accused struck Agarde in the jaw. Accused then went away and returned with a jack knife saying: "Now you will come?" Agarde told him to put the knife down, accused then with one blow stabbed Agarde in the neck. Agarde put up his hand, felt blood and saying "Ain't that hell? He's cut me," followed accused. Ascertaining that the knife had been taken away from Pena and thrown over the wharf, Agarde then knocked accused inside the Premier office and started to pound him. Both Agarde and accused, witness said, had been strangers to him before this night. Under cross examination by Mr. Jones, witness said that while accused had been with the drinking party, he did not hear the appearance of himself being drunk. He looked to be in a surly mood and had been swearing. He did not know that Agarde was a prize fighter but it appeared that he was able to take care of himself. Constable Islip. Constable W. F. Islip told of making Pena's arrest. After the fight, he (accused) was found crouching on all fours in the corner of the wharf shed. Accused was apparently sober although he might have had some drink in him. His attitude was Strong Soaps. No soap that is safe for toilet use will "remove" germs any better than Palmolive. If guarding a good complexion is your aim, use a soap made to protect it. THIS is to protect beauty seekers from some false impressions. Good complexions are too precious for experiments. There's an idea, we are told, that some soaps combat germs; and others not. That for aseptic reasons certain soaps must be used. Soaps to "destroy" germs should be used only on advice of a physician. All soaps "remove" germs to a certain degree. No soap suitable for toilet use will "remove" germs any better than Palmolive. In your own interest, carry that in mind. For beauty's sake, take care. Would you gamble with the good complexion it has taken you probably years to attain? In old days, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." For soaps were too harsh. Then Palmolive came... a soap made of cosmetic oils... a soap made to protect the skin. Women tried it, and found amazingly improved complexions and charm. Palmolive became quickly the leading toilet soap of the world. In France, home of cosmetics, Palmolive is one of the two largest selling soaps. French women have found it their ideal of a soap. That is because Palmolive is a unique creation, based on 60 years of soap study. It is made solely for the skin. Palmolive is not intended for laundry use or even for fine fabrics. For to be good for those things, its cosmetic qualities would need be much reduced. And millions of good complexions be thus endangered. As a "germ remover" no other soap suitable for toilet use is more effective. But Palmolive results don't come from those other soaps. They don't come from strong soaps. They don't come from medicated soaps. Don't expect them. And don't take chances. To protect your beauty, use a soap made to protect it. Palmolive, we frankly grant, is not the only fine complexion soap. We know of two others. But they cost you 25 cents, while Palmolive costs but 10 cents—no more than ordinary soaps. Enormous production brings you this modest cost. Wash, launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care. Use Palmolive, a soap you know is safe to use. It is nature's formula to "Keep That School-girl Complexion."

No "Two-Purpose" Soap Will Bring Palmolive Complexion Results. Palmolive Soap is made for ONE purpose ONLY—to guard your complexion and charm. It is not intended for laundry use, nor even for fine fabrics. To make it good for those things, its cosmetic qualities would need be much reduced. And good complexions are too precious to be thus imperiled. Don't expect Palmolive results from common soaps. Don't expect them from "jack-of-all-trades" soaps—soaps claiming to be good for scores of different uses. Palmolive is a secret blend of rare cosmetic oils, a scientifically made soap to be used freely and safely on the skin—millions of clear, pretty skins prove Palmolive results. Note carefully the name and wrapper. Palmolive is never sold unwrapped. (MADE IN CANADA)
