DIFFERENCES AMONG CABINET MINISTERS

CHIEF MAGISTRATE OF SOUTHERN CITY PLEASED WITH EDMONTON MEETING

Peace River May Get Outlet by Extension of P. G. E. Railway

Mayor Taylor of Vancouver holds opinion that matter will be dealt with by Legislature

Mayor Louis D. Taylor of Vancouver, who is here after attending the conference of western mayors and civic officials in Edmonton, is of the opinion that a rail outlet may be given to the Peace River valley by completing the Pacific Great Eastern and extending it north from Prince George. He thinks that some action along this line may be taken at the next session of the legislature. "It is either a case of make the P.G.E. pay or go broke the way it is now," says Mayor Taylor.

Mayor Taylor is well pleased

GASBOAT IS DESTROYED

Bushy Boat Burned at Cow Bay Saturday Night—Man Is Burned

A small 3 horse powered launch belonging to the Rupert Marine Products Co. was destroyed by fire late Saturday night. Two men were on board at the time and were about to proceed to the Tucks Inlet plant from Cow Bay when the boat caught fire, presumably from the engine back-firing. It was soon evident that it would be impossible to save the craft and Capt. Swanson of the Prince Rupert Boat-house, sought to tow her away from the waterfront in order that she might not be a menace to the remaining boats at the float. Hardly, however, had he been able to throw a line aboard when the craft filled and sank.

A. D. Baillie, who was on board the craft, suffered from slight burns about the face and hands and was taken to the General Hospital where his burns were dressed. He is reported today as being up and around although his wounds are a bit painful.

CARDINAL BEGIN ANSWERS CALL

Distinguished Canadian Prelate Believed That They and Ulster Was One of B.C. Coast's Best Known Navigators—Here Since 1887

BORN IN QUEBEC

Romantic Career Finds Few Parallels in Church History

QUEBEC, July 20.—Cardinal Begin, Roman Catholic primate for all Canada and Archbishop of the diocese of Quebec, died early Sunday morning.

Born in the quaint atmosphere of a Levis farmhouse, the romantic life of Louis Nazaire Begin, Bishop of Quebec and Prince of the Church, finds few parallels in Canadian history. Despite the high position he held, the distinguished prelate never forgot the early lessons of his childhood. He remained to the last the same kindness of heart and simplicity of manner so characteristic of the French Canadian farmer. He won everybody by his native modesty. A stranger, noting him at the funeral of Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore said, "he has the kindest face of all."

Native of Canada

Cardinal Begin was born at Sarosta, in the parish of Levis, across the river from Quebec, the son of Charles Begin, a farmer, and Luce (Paradis) Begin, on January 10, 1840. The hamlet of Sarosta gave another distinguished son to the church in Mgr. Halle, a former canon in the diocese of Quebec, and Bishop of the Apostolic Vicariate of Northern Ontario, with his see at Hearst.

The late Cardinal Begin was educated at the Levis Model School, the College of St. Michael of Belleschasse, the Little Seminary of Quebec, and at Laval University, Montreal, where he took the degree of B.A. with honors, winning the Prince of Wales medal. He studied theology at the Grand Seminary of Quebec, and later attended the lectures of the Jesuits in the Gregorian University, Rome. He was ordained in the Holy City in 1865. After receiving the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Gregorian University, he remained two years longer to take a special course in Ecclesiastical history and oriental languages to fit him for teaching at Laval. From Rome he went to Innsbruck to continue his studies under the Jesuits. He later visited the Holy Land, where he remained for some time seeing the sacred places and studying Holy Script.

As a Father

Returning to Canada in 1867, after the completion of his studies, Father Begin, as he was then, taught theology at Laval University. He then became Prefect of Studies in the Little Seminary, Quebec, following which in 1882 he was appointed director of the Grand Seminary, and still later Principal of the Laval Normal School.

His Eminence attained the rank of bishop in 1888, when he was appointed head of the diocese of Chicoutimi, then just a village. Three years later he vacated that see to become coadjutor to Cardinal Taschereau, with the title of Archibishop of Cyrene, and in 1894 was made administrator of the diocese of Quebec. The late Archibishop Begin presided over a tribunal in 1898, constituted to try the

CAPT. MCCOSKRIE

Known Navigators—Here

Since 1887

The British Columbia coast loses one of its oldest and best known navigators in the passing of Capt. Edward G. McCoskrie whose death occurred at the Prince Rupert General Hospital yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The deceased had not been in the best of health for the past year and, about three weeks ago, suffered from an auto accident at the corner of Second Avenue and Sixth Street. Since that time he was confined to his bed and while at first there was little cause for anxiety, it was later discovered that he was suffering from a recurrence of former complaints. The last few days his condition became more serious and it was realized that it would only be a short time until the end came.

Mrs. McCoskrie and one daughter Mrs. J. S. Brown, of Vernon were present at the last. Capt. McCoskrie also leaves one son, William, of Galiano Island, and three daughters, Mrs. H. F. Kerigan of Alice Arm, Mrs. Annie Robertson of Vancouver, and Miss Emma McCoskrie of Alert Bay.

The late Capt. McCoskrie was born in Birkenhead, England, in December 1850, and at the age of fourteen, started his career on the sea. From 1887 to 1890 he plied in the lower waters of the B.C. coast and later returned to northern waters including the Naas River, and Skagway. In 1905 he removed to Hartley Bay and started a saw mill there. He was in the lumber business for five years. Later he was appointed timber inspector for Northern B.C. and in 1912 was appointed Harbor Master and Port Warden for Prince Rupert.

Faithful to Rupert

Few men have shown as much faith in the development of this northern port as Capt. McCoskrie. In his official position he was able to supply information to various inquiries from various parts as to the real nature of the harbor and, on several occasions, prepared data in respect to the port. He was very outspoken in regard to inquiries who mentioned the winter season here and asked as to the amount of ice in the harbor. It was a great source of satisfaction to him.

Premier Baldwin Endeavours to Smooth Out Crisis Over Program of Naval Building

LONDON, July 20.—Premier Baldwin has been busy over the week end endeavoring to smooth out differences among his ministers in the crucial problem of naval ship building and, in the opinion of most parliamentary writers, the resignation of First Lord of the Admiralty Bridgeman, Admiral Lord Beatty and other sea lords which were threatened will be withheld.

The differences hinge on the admiralty's demand of construction involving a fleet of fast cruisers costing £2,000,000 to £3,000,000 each. Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and other ministers strenuously opposed the program on the ground of economy.
