BEAVERBROOK HAS ENOUGH NEWSPAPERS

Says he Will Never Buy or Start Another Except Possibly as Defensive Measure

LONDON, Dec. 8. — (Canadian Press despatch).—"I shall never buy or start another newspaper, except for defensive purposes or as a reprisal," declared Lord Beaverbrook in an advertisement concerning the Sunday Express, one of his trinity of jourals. The exception which his Lordship indicates is capable, of course, of a very wide interpretation.

In an article discussing how the big financier has come to dominate London newspaper ownership "Truth" remarks:—

"The dark horse in the newspaper world today is Lord Beaverbrook. He is the ablest man in the business. He has money, brains, youth, ambition. He has also personality. He is a man who takes long views, any observer can see that in his newspaper policy he is not concerning himself so much with the dividends for the day as with building for the future. Lord Beaverbrook is gaining in experience and ripening in judgment, but he still handicaps himself by impetuous and amateurish exhibitions which shows that he does not yet take himself seriously enough as a newspaper man. He will go far if he is capable of concentration on newspapers and manages to impress upon himself that responsibility goes with power."

JOHNNY'S DIAGNOSIS.

"Mother," cried little Mary as she rushed into the farmhouse they were visiting. "Johnny wants the listerine. He's just caught the cutest little black and white animal, and he thinks it's got halitosis."

The city's $60,000 temporary borrowing bylaw was put through its final readings last night. Mayor Newton stated that the manager of the bank had been interviewed with a view to having the interest rate reduced from 6 to 5½ per cent and the manager had agreed to recommend this to head office although he did not expect it could be obtained. It was pointed out that, even at 6 per cent, the city was paying less to the bank for the temporary use of money than the interest on its debentures amounted to.

ELEVATOR TO BE KEPT BUSY

today for Calgary and Winnipeg where I will endeavor to secure business for the Prince Rupert elevator."

Mr. Hetherington said that it was also his intention to keep in close touch with the local grain board which would be in a position to furnish him with information on local conditions at all times.

"If nothing moves through the Prince Rupert elevator," he said 'it will be through no fault of the elevator management."

Mr. Hetherington leaves here with the expectation that the plant will be ready to receive grain in force on December 15 and ready to ship it on January 1.

Regarding the staff of the plant, Mr. Hetherington stated that, apart from the superintendent, accountant and electrician, all the employees would be local men. The inspection and weighing staff was not appointed by the grain commission but by the Civil Service Commission of Canada.

At first there will be a skeleton crew at the elevator but, as the movement of grain demands, this will be increased. The staff with the elevator operating at capacity will number about 25 men.

Mr. Hetherington sails tonight for Vancouver enroute to Fort William. He expects to be back here in the spring.

HUNDRED MILES TIMBER BOUGHT

De Boys Pulp Concern of Pennsylvania and Oregon Interested at Islands

According to word which reached the city, the De Boys Pulp Mill Co., the principals of which are the De Boys millionaire interests of Pennsylvania and Oregon, have acquired one hundred square miles of pulp lease at Skidegate, Queen Charlotte Islands, and also have bought all the holdings of the Slate Chuck Coal Co. there. There being considerable coal in sight of a lower quality which might be used for steam purposes and almost illimitable resources of timber suitable for the manufacture of pulp and paper, it is believed that the De Boys people might go ahead with developments along these lines as originally contemplated by the Slate Chuck Co. In any case, the new owners of the resources have been carrying out extensive surveys recently with Harold E. Whyte, B.C.L.S. of Musgrave & White, Victoria, in charge.

"His Supreme Moment"

Samuel Goldwyn's glamorous, scintillating fashion show of romance and fineries. An adaptation of May Edginton's celebrated story. The glitter of the stage, the sumptuousness of elegant society, the danger and hardship in wildest South America—these form the backgrounds for a mighty love that finds its climax in "His Supreme Moment." Two beauties vie in wit and charm for one man's love. The story of a society girl who braved mob vengeance and a man's mad love. None should miss The Loves of all Nations, a sequel in natural colors showing beauties of every race and clime, and the latest Paris creations worn by two of the screen's prettiest girls. If a pretty miss gave you a kiss, would that be your "supreme moment." Notable cast.

Ronald Colman, Blanche Sweet, Cyril Chadwick, Ned Sparks, Nick de Ruiz, Jane Winton, Belle Bennett and others.
