TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR WAGER

J. E. McCoy Making Hike From Frisco to Halifax and Return

WINNIPEG, Man., July 30. — Ten thousand dollars is the wager which J. E. McCoy expects to win from the executive of the San Francisco Athletic Club for his hike from San Francisco to Halifax, N.S., and return, touching at Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. When he reached Winnipeg on his return trip he was seven days ahead of schedule, and barring accidents, Mr. McCoy expects to complete the long hike within the prescribed time limit.

McCoy started from San Francisco on October 25, 1924, and arrived at Halifax, April 17, 1925. He has three months to reach his starting point.

According to the stipulation of the wager, McCoy must travel only on highways and is forbidden to take to the tracks. As he could not find a highway along the north shores of Lake Superior, he left Canada at the Soo, and went through United States territory until he was able to enter near Fort William. He is entirely dependent upon the charity of people in the districts through which he passes for his sustenance.

In passing through Montana, McCoy was held up by bandits, but as he had nothing to give them, he was released. He lived without food for eight days and although he came across a number of Indian villages he was unable to make them understand his plight.

The hiker must not accept a "lift" but must stretch his legs day after day along the dusty roads until he reaches his goal in San Francisco.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed for the "Construction and Equipment of one (1) forty foot motor launch" will be received up to noon, July 30, 1925.

Plans, specifications and form of tender may be obtained at the offices of the Chief Forester ,Victoria; the District Forester, Court House, Vancouver, and the District Forester, Prince Rupert, on deposit of $10.00, which will be refunded on the return of plans and specifications.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

INDIANS TRY SKIN GAME ON PRAIRIES

Manufactured Wolf Ears in Order to Collect Bounty

BRANDON, Man. July 30.—Indians like many others practice "get rich quick" schemes. A case in point was brought to light here at the Indian reserve at Griswold, Manitoba.

Collecting bounty returns on wolf ears, manufactured from skins of young cubs, was the ingenious method employed.

The ears were turned in to secure the wolf bounty from the municipality. The Redskins figured it was much easier to make ears than to catch wolves. So well did they make the artificial ears, that municipal officers were fooled for some time. Finally the authorities discovered the ruse and provincial police started an investigation. Three men and a squaw were apprehended. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were warned with a year's suspended sentence.

COW MOOSE ATTACKED ONCOMING LOCOMOTIVE

Infuriated at Approach of Iron Monster on Calf—Instantly Killed

SASKATOON, Sask., July 30.—Infuriated at the "iron monster" which she saw bearing down on her calf, a moose cow, while crossing a railroad track between Hudson's Bay Junction and Prince Albert, recently, hunted the calf off the track and charged blindly at the oncoming locomotive. The moose was killed instantly. So fierce was the force of the cow's charge that a bar of the cow-catcher was splintered.

POLITE EVASION.

One afternoon two visitors rang the bell and telling them to be seated, Maggie went into another part of the house to see if her mistress was in.

"I am very sorry," she said, returning a minute later, but Mrs. Brown went out and won't be back till dinner time."

"That's too bad!" exclaimed one of the visitors. "And to think, too, that I have forgotten my cards. I must—"

"Never mind the cards, ma'am,," "I told the mistress your names when I went upstairs."

BEST WISHES.

An old lady approached a taxi with a view to hiring the car.

"Sorry, madam," said the driver, "but I'm engaged."

"Oh, I hope you'll be happy"' said the old lady with a beaming smile.

COULD NOT PAWN THEM.

Two chorus girls were bragging about their admirers and the gifts they had received from them. "Why," said one, "I once had a lovely brooch set with gems. There were twelve of them and it was a beauty." "Oh well, that's nothing," said another girl. "I had more than a hundred gems given me once, and given me by the same man."

There was a chorus of incredulous "Ohs!" from the other girls, but the speaker held her ground, protesting that she was telling the truth. Finally it occurred to some one to ask what sort of gens they were?

"Well," was the rather reluctant answer. "They were 'gems from a horrid poet."

DEEPLY AFFRONTED

There was no doubt he was an expert at "telling the tale." And moreover, in this case, it succeeded very well.,

"It as a very sad story, my man," said the lady in furs as she handed over a florin' "and I feel very sorry for you. Are you married by the way?"

As he pocketed the money, he replied: "Married, lady! Married! Do yer fink for one moment I'd be depending on outside support if I was married? Not likely."

Conventional Announcement.

The dapper young man lost his footing on the long and slippery hill and was tobogganing toward the bottom when he collided with a stout lady, tripped her, and proceeded on his way, with the lady seated on his back.

As they came to a halt at the foot of the hill, the lady seemed slightly dazed by events, and he remarked gently:

"You'll have to get off here, madam. This is as far as I go."
