

Large Audience Follows Trio in Musical Adventure in Music

adventure in musical entertainment for audiences," was how Maxim Schapiro presented the concert that he and his two fellow artists at the Civic Centre last night, and an enthralling performance it turned out to be.

600 persons who filled the auditorium. It was an auspicious start along the Music Trail of 1952. The series itself it was a financial success. Season tickets were to meet all obligations of the four concerts con-

Mr. Schapiro was one into a more type of music than he had previously in the past. Almost hesitatingly he accepted the alternative of chamber music, but doubts he had about it were unfounded.

At the moment he, Luigi Bela Urban opened his composition with a selection of a selection of composers, they held their breath. It was a skillfully chosen and played.

On his remarks on his opening number, Mr. Schapiro said, "We are doing something to meet this need, and a pleasant feeling many have come to."

ABOUT TOWN

Beautiful weather, wonderful scenery and general business activity, so impressed George Gregory of Toronto this week, that he may decide to come and live here. A friend is Peter Craveto of Fourth Street, well known local old timer. Mr. Gregory said this was his first journey to the coast, and was much struck with all he had seen.

Al Sheardown has returned from his vacation during which he visited the PNE and the Armstrong Fall Fair. Outstanding thing he witnessed, he says, is a "white man standing on a ladder carving out a totem pole." This was in the Okanagan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Hedstrom returned to the city Tuesday night after a motor trip which took them as far as Fraser Lake. They also enjoyed fishing at Trambler Lake.

Visitor Tells Meeting of Toronto Lodge

The Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association of Past Mistresses heard an interesting account of the Toronto lodge from a visitor to the city at the meeting last night at the home of Mrs. W. Thomson.

Visitor is Mrs. Bell, sister of Mrs. Thomson. Following general business with President Mrs. Maude Viereck in the chair, a raffle donated by the hostess was won by Mrs. Barber. Delicious refreshments were served. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Paulson, Oct. 16.

Praise Paintings of Young Artists

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP) — A 23-year-old artist who took his first art lesson less than a year ago is being hailed here as a top flight painter. George Lee was in hospital suffering from a serious chest ailment when he took his first lesson in drawing from Mrs. C. F. Swannell, the hospital therapist.

Recently provincial museum authorities here, were so impressed with his paintings of Indian masks and other native relics that they put some of his best works on exhibition at the museum for several weeks.
