OLD AMUR IS NOW FOR SALE

Freighter Famous, Wrecked Near Here Last Year, Said to be as Good as New

VICTORIA, Aug. 5.—Formerly a coastwise ore carrier, the Famous, once known as the steamship Amur, is being offered for sale here.

Captain Berquist bought in the Amur last year, after the engines had been taken from her and brought her to Victoria, where she was reconditioned by the Victoria Machinery Depot at a cost of approximately $25,000, not to mention the new engines that have been installed.

The Amur was wrecked off the mouth of the Skeena River early in 1924, and was badly damaged. She was salvaged by the Pacific Salvage Company, of Victoria, who delivered her to her owners in Vancouver.

There the engines were removed and installed in the former inter-coastal freighter J. H. Plummer, which has since been renamed the Amur, and is now operating in the ore-carrying business.

New Engine Installed

Captain Berquist purchased the wrecked vessel and, bringing her to Victoria, let the contract for repairs to the V.M.D., which company, after installing thirteen new plates, repairing others and replacing broken frames and deck work, declares her to be as seaworthy as the day she was launched from the Strand Shipway yard, Sunderland, in 1890. A new triple expansion engine has been installed by Captain Berquist and the vessel is now completed and ready for operation. She is now lying at the V.M.D. awaiting a purchaser, it is reported.

Barbara La Marr and Conway Tearle as the sublime lovers in a great love play of luxury and beauty. Barbara, more gorgeously gowned, more beautiful, more alluring than ever. She rules the heart strings — she plays while men dance to the tune of her beauty. He saw her. An exotic creature, with the grace of a modern Venus moving through the orchid scented gardens of Southern France and this strong man took her in his arms—threw position, future, all, to the winds for one rapturous moment. Siren of hearts—graceful—tempting. Each broken heart just one more conquest. An exquisite photoplay—set in luxury—staged in splendour. Strong cast.
