PLAN COLONIES OF FISHERMEN

Captain Vince Telling Vancouver Island People of Plans to Bring Out Settlers

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 22.—Establishment of model fishing villages on the west coast of Vancouver Island, peopled by men and women of hardy English and Scottish stock, is the ambition of Capt. I. M. Vince, veteran mariner, fisheries operator and personal friend of Premier Stanley Baldwin.

Captain Vince has spent several months making arrangements for the development of the fisheries industry along lines that hitherto have not been attempted. He declares that past efforts to induce immigration of fisherfolks to this coast have been failures, but he believes that the lack of foresight and the practical element are responsible for this situation. He is confident that if the proper methods are used it will be easy to bring hundreds of experienced fishermen here to engage in the herring and other branches of fishing.

"In a few years the inside waters will be almost depleted of fish if the present rate of consumption continues," said Captain Vince. "There are schools of herring seven miles long off the Vancouver Island coast and at present they are not being molested because there is no demand. With other fisheries approaching exhaustion there will soon be a demand, however, and this deep water fishing is something that appeals to white men, not Orientals. For that reason I believe that efforts to interest Old Country fishermen in such a program as I am working on seems to me to be entirely practical."

Captain Vince recently made a visit to the British Isles, where he conferred with Premier Baldwin, whom he has known personally for forty years, and others concerning his project. The support of the Imperial government was promised and the Overseas Settlement Board and Agent-General are now active in the matter.

CITY TO BUY BACK $5,000 WORTH OF ITS OWN DEBENTURES

On recommendaion of the finance committee, the city council decided last night to buy in from the B.C. Bond Corporation of Victoria $5,000 worth of 1934 five per cent Prince Rupert bonds at 96.5. It was reported that local people were prepared to buy $3,000 worth of the bonds in question and the remaining $2,000 would be placed in the city's sinking fund. Ald. Casey spoke in favor of the transaction, stating that it was advantageous to the city.

MAYOR'S ANSWERS WEARY ALDERMEN

Verbosity of Mayor Newton Checked Last Night by Ald. Casey

A report from the board of works recommending to the 1926 council last night that Borden Street be included in next year's program of grading was adopted by the city council last night.

Ald. Smith and Ald. Stephens had certain questions to ask, the latter being opposed to the principle of passing on recommendations to a new council which should be competent to reach its own decisions on such matters.

The mayor went on to give a detailed explanation of events leading up to the report being submitted. After His Worship had been speaking for some time and the council was becoming visibly wearied, Ald. Casey said: "I move that we proceed with the business before the council. We should not sit here all night discussing something of really no importance since we cannot do the work. Why fool away our time?"

"Every member of this council, when he asks questions, is entitled to an answer," replied His Worship.

"But we don't want to sit here all night listening to answers," was ald. Casey's rejoinder.

"Every alderman is entitled to get a satisfactory answer and that is what I have been trying to give," insisted the mayor.

Ald. Smith and Ald. Stephens indicated that they were satisfied and the matter was dropped with the adoption of the report.

RECOMMENDATIONS ARE THROWN OUT

Principle of Telling 1926 Council What it Should do is Opposed by Ald. Stephens and others.

The principle of making recommendations to an incoming council was attacked at the meeting of the city fathers last night by Ald. Stephens and others. Ald. Stephens felt that the 1926 council should be duly competent to reach its own decisions without being embarrassed or in any way committed by an outgoing body.

There were three recommendations presented, all from the Board of Works. One of them succeeded in getting through. That was regarding the grading of Borden Street. The two others that were shorn of their recommendatory clauses were that a space in the east end of the city 100 by 100 feet be cleared for the Gyro Club's playground instead of the originally planned 50 by 50 feet and that the present six inch water main from the Mount Oldfield reservoir be put in repair and that an additional six inch main be installed. Both matters were passed on to the 1926 council without recommendation.

SPORT CHAT

The Commercial Grads, Edmonton's celebrated ladies' basketball players, will play at the Arena in Edmonton on Wednesday, December 30, and on New Year's afternoon with the Tri-Chi club of Chicago, holders of the Central States ladies' basketball championship. The series is attracting a lot of attention especially since the Edmonton team has again set itself upon taking another whirl at the next Olympic games.

"Andy" Ducat, known to thousands of Old Country sport followers in Canada as well as in the British Isles as a double international and now manager of the Fulham Football Club, has recently undergone a serious operation for throat trouble. It was performed by a famous London surgeon at a nursing home and Ducat's condition is regarded as still serious.

Accounts up to December 18 totalling $15,666 were passed for payment at last night's meeting of the city council.
