Ernest Love Sails Tonight for Stewart to Manage Power Plant

Ernest Love today relinquishes his duties as superintendent of city utilities and will sail tonight on the Prince Rupert for Stewart where he will take over the management of the Stewart Light Co. in which he has become financially interested. FRUIT DISTRICTS ARE FAVOR OF WINE BEING SOLD IN BEER PARLORS

A definite move to bring about the sale of wines in British Columbia beer parlors is now on the way among private members of the Legislature, it was learned today, says the Victoria Times. Under present plans the members favoring this radical departure in British Columbia's liquor laws will introduce their proposal when the Liquor Act is under general review, as it is expected to be before the end of the session.

Chief support for the wine proposal, it is expected, will come from members representing constituencies in which small fruits suitable for use in manufacture are grown. A number of representatives of such districts, it was learned today, are favorable to the move and are waiting for a suitable opportunity to test the opinion of the House on it. Investigations are being carried on now to find out whether the wine sale scheme would have a reasonable chance of success in the assembly.

Definite announcement that the government was not sponsoring wine sale was made a few days ago by Attorney-General Manson, who said that no such scheme was under consideration. How members of the government would regard the proposal if it emanated from private members, however, is not known.

The chief argument used by those favoring wine is that its sale would result in the use of enormous quantities of small fruits to the great advantage of fruit growers.

ALASKAN CANNERY MERGER HELD BACK

Opinions Divided as to Benefits to be Obtained from Uniting Interests

KETCHIKAN, Dec. 2. — The $10,000,000 cannery merger involving 27 canneries in Southeastern Alaska, has been abandoned, according to advices received by W. F. Schlothan and E. D. Skinner, principal supporters of the project.

In his communication to Mr. Schlothan, Mr. Skinner said that it had been proven impossible to get enough cannerymen united on the proposition and it was therefore necessary to abandon the plan.

While the merger would undoubtedly have had a stabilizing effect on the industry, it would not have resulted in any benefit for Ketchikan and probably just the reverse, local cannerymen who were interviewed on the subject, declared.

Whether the plan to merge was abandoned entirely Mr. Schlothan was not informed, and it may be possible that another attempt will be made in future years.

ROAD BUILDING IS URGED IN ALASKA

(Ketchikan Alaska Chronicle)

The story of human progress is the story of good roads, for no civilization ever advanced beyond its transportation facilities.

The World War was won behind the lines by good roads.

Because of good roads, the United States has one automobile for every five persons. And during every summer, at least half the people of the country broaden their vision by visits to other sections, automobile touring providing one of the most healthful forms of recreation.

Motor busses also are developing rapidly as passenger carriers, with which the development of better roads will connect and enliven the smallest communities and supplant short haul transportation by rail.

This progress may seem slow in Alaska, but each year brings added mileage of roads available for pleasure and business traffic of auto and truck owners.

More good roads have been constructed during the past five years in the United States than during the previous 50 years.

PLANNING TO BUILD SOLARIUM ON ISLAND

VICTORIA, Dec. 2.— The response to an appeal for funds with which to erect a solarium or sunshine cure home for crippled children on Vancouver Island is meeting with considerable success. The appeal is province wide and children for the home will be accepted from any part of the Dominion. It is being carried on under the Women's Institutes.

Malahat Beach facing Saanich Arm at Mill Bay is chosen as the most suitable site for the new institution.

BADMINTON CLUB IS HAVING TOURNAMENT AT THIS WEEK END

The Prince Rupert Babminton Club is arranging a mixed doubles tournament for the week end, partners to be drawn for. A number of entries are already received. Unfortunately the hall in which the games are played is so small that it is impossible to accommodate visitors other than members of the club or their close friends. The two courts take practically all the available space.
