MILL HERE WILL BE REBUILT, POSSIBLY BY THE UNDERWRITERS

Though some differences are reported to have arisen between the Prince Rupert Spruce Mills, Ltd. and the insurance adjusters regarding the settling of insurance as a result of the mill fire here a few weeks ago, it is expected that the plant will be rebuilt. The insurance adjusters may themselves rebuild that portion of the plant which was destroyed and turn it over to the owners instead of paying cash claims. The lumber burned will, of course, have to be covered by the companies.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Joseph S. Barnes Sent to Higher Court by Magistrate McClymont this Morning

Joseph S. Barnes appeared before Magistrate McClymont this morning on a charge of forgery and was committed for trial.

It is alleged that Barnes signed the name Josie Barnes to a check for $45 which was cashed at the Royal Bank last week. Information against accused was laid by Mrs. May Bird who had been living with him as Mrs. Barnes. Besides Mrs. Bird, other witnesses in the case were J. R. Stevens and A. H. Howlett of the Royal Bank staff and Constable McGlinchy.

Accused made a statment to the effect that, since living with the informant, they had had a joint bank account and he had intended no crime in drawing from it. The question which Barnes failed to answer to the satisfaction of the court was why, under the circumstances, he had signed the woman's name to the check instead of his own.
