JUSTICE MURPHY THRILLS WOMAN'S CANADIAN CLUB IN STIRRING ADDRESS

Exaggerated Sense of Nationality Obstacle Against Banishing War

Mr. Justice Murphy delivers strong address to Women's Canadian Club at luncheon on Saturday

"It is our exaggerated sense of nationality that is the chief obstacle to universal peace," declared Mr. Justice Murphy in speaking to the women's Canadian Club here Saturday afternoon at a luncheon given in his honor. "In loyalty to the flag I stand aside for no man but my loyalty is based on reason rather than sentiment," he declared. "Only under the British flag and to a lesser degree under the United States flag can human beings live free and untrammeled as long as they do not interfere with the rights of others. British treatment of minorities is the test of this. Yet if the law of the jungle is to continue as it has hitherto and if force is to dominate and not reason, then war is inevitable and the next war will end our present civilization. If war is to be avoided public spirit must be created against it. Nations are necessary but they must deal with each other as citizens deal with each other and the law of the jungle must pass."

The judge outlined the present condition of Europe and the part each nation played there, especially in relation to Germany, and closed with a stirring appeal to the women in which he pictured the horrors of war and the scars it left even yet in thousands of Canadian homes to an exciting chase and four of day. The costs recovered.

Two companions of Gerlitz escaped.

Two armed masked bandits raided a gambling den in Chinatown and "stuck up" fifteen players and the keeper and escaped with $210.

Mrs. J. C. McLennan introduced the speaker in brief speech and at the close a vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. G. A. Egger, and seconded by Miss Mills and carried with enthusiasm.

Appealed to All

In opening, Judge Murphy said the perpetuation of peace and the outlawry of war was something that would appeal to all and especially to the ladies of the Canadian Club. As he grew older he was inclined to become cynical about the future but the spread of primary education and the changed status of women made for peace. Women knew the value of human life because they had to pay the price.

Turning backward, the speaker said that Canada found herself plunged into the war over night. A situation such as this made it desirable that they should understand the international situation. Chamberlain in one of his speeches declared that fear brooded over Europe and unless the situation was relieved they were moving toward a new catastrophe. Canada would be drawn in again if it occurred. The last war was inevitable under the law of the jungle as it prevailed.

The war, the speaker said, was to destroy autocracy, to recognize nationality and to recognize democracy. The first of the three had been accomplished but not the other two. Autocracy had been destroyed but they must go further and the law of the jungle must give way to that of reason.

Discussing the European situation, Judge Murphy, told how following the war Britain and the United States had tried to write into the Treaty of Versailles some of the new idealism, but this was opposed by France which still relied on the doctrine of force. She could hardly be blamed for her country had been ravished twice in one generation.

With one bridge out at Kaye River on the west and two bridges out near Uxk on the east making it impossible to get equipment between to make repairs following a number of washouts which have inundated the track at various points, the situation along the line as a result of recent rains and mild weather is such that it was announced at the office of the G.N.R. superintendent this afternoon that there would be no train service either in or out of Prince Rupert for at least one week's time. All the company's resources from Prince Rupert on the west and Smithers on the east are now working to replace the damaged bridges. These will have to be repaired before work can be done on the washouts between such points as Salvus and Esket.

No. 3 from the East due here this morning got as far west as McBride and was sent back from there with its passengers, express and mails. The express and mail will come on to Prince Rupert by way of Jasper Park and Vancouver and should come here Thursday night. Mail now accumulated for the East will be despatched south aboard the Cardena tomorrow night. Christmas mail for the Old Country to

Engineer Making Survey of Waterfront at Cow Bay with View to Providing Facilities

For the purpose of making surveys and obtaining the necessary information regarding the location at Cow Bay so that estimates may be prepared for the next session of parliament to provide mooring facilities for the fishing craft and mosquito fleet using Prince Rupert harbor, J. P. Forde, of Victoria, district engineer for the federal department of public works, arrived in the city, on the Cardena yesterday afternoon accompanied by Capt. H. Peters of Victoria, a departmental engineer. Mr. Forde and Capt. Peters are proceeding with their work today and expect to return to Victoria tomorrow evening.

Speaking to a representative of the Daily News yesterday, Mr. Forde pointed out that any action the Dominion government might take on the matter, which has been a good deal under discussion lately, would have to depend on the altitude of the city with regard to providing a suitable site. Mr. Forde has with him a plan of a site that has been tentatively agreed upon between himself and the provincial department of lands. This site is the 400 or 450 feet that the Provincial government is prepared to convey to the federal government for the purpose of providing facilities for the mosquito fleet. The city has been asked to accept this accommodation in return for its assistance to the filling in of Cow Bay. The matter came up at last week's meeting of the city council and was laid over until tonight for final decision.

Mr. Forde stated that, providing the city authorities can make arrangements satisfactory to the government authorities, there is a possibility of the new work being proceeded with during the 1926 season as Mr. Stork, the local member, is keenly interested in the matter and has promised to do everything possible to have the appropriation necessary for the carrying out of the work passed by parliament at the forthcoming session.

Pending the city's decision and the making of its own surveys and soundings, Mr. Forde declined to commit himself as to the form the work to be done by the federal government would take. It is understood, however, that a system of heavy floats well sheltered and with good anchorages is proposed. Owing to the depth of the water, it is believed that a breakwater is out of the question at this time.
