Mackenzie King Best Friend of West

R. P. McLennan, Liberal candidate for Burrard, and the head of the firm of McLennan & McFeeley Ltd., one of the oldest established and one of the largest wholesale houses on the Pacific Coast, says:

"My candidature is as much of a surprise to myself as to the many of my friends, but the problems involved in this election are too serious, too vital in the interests of the province, and so affecting the whole Dominion, for anyone who takes an interest in public affairs to allow personal inclinations to be his entire guide.

"I am no apostle of gloom, no calamity howler, no whisperer of death, and no whiner; neither do I belong to the party who countenances such sentiments.

"Contrary to all such ideas, I am convinced that the foundations for the greatest prosperity Canada has ever known now lies within the reach of the people. The gradual but insistent growth of trade and development in all primary industries convinces me that Canada is well on the way to that prosperity we have been working for.

"The reports and interviews from President Beatty of the C.P.R., the heads of banks, trust companies, insurance companies and industrial institutions, are of the most sanguine and optimistic character.

"The Mackenzie King government has been our best friend. On the Pacific coast, the foundations for great world ports, with an immense import and export trade, has been laid. It is for the citizens of this province to give that government a mandate to go on with the great work."

SENATORS SHUT OUT PITTSBURG

Yesterday's World Series Baseball Game Won 4 to 0 by Washington World Champions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Goose Goslin and Joe Harris each touched Emil Yde, the Pittsburg hurler, for home runs in the third inning of yesterday's game when four runs were scored and the Washington Senators won their third victory in the World Series. The only scoring of the game was in the third inning, the final score being four to nil in favor of the Senators.

After the fatal third inning, Pittsburg worked two more pitchers—Jughandle Morrison and Adams. Johnny Gooch was behind the bat. The Washington battery consisted of Walter Johnson, whose pitching again puzzled the Pirates, and Ruel.

Johnson Was Hero

It was Walter Johnson's second victory for Washington in the series and gave the Senators three games to one in the championship battle. One more victory means the second straight world's title for them.

Goslin's home run with Rice and Stanley Harris on bases in the third gave Washington a winning margin and caused the downfall of Emil Yde, the Pittsburg southpaw, who was withdrawn after Joe Harris had followed with a second homer and Joe Judge had walked. It was the second circuit clout of the series for both Goslin and Harris and gave Goslin the record for the most home runs in championship games.

The Pirates got six hits off Johnson and had several chances to score but found the big veteran's "smoke" and the Senators' defence invincible in every emergency.

Old Country Conditions Much Improved Says Local Business Man Who Returned Saturday

Unemployment Due to Increased Population and to Slackness in Coal and Shipbuilding; No Internal Dangers

"Conditions in the Old Country I found to be much better than I had expected after reading newspaper reports reaching this country," states G. P. Tinker, broker of this city, who returned home Saturday afternoon after a visit to Scotland and England. "True there is a good deal of unemployment due to the slackness of the coal and shipbuilding industries, but, on the surface at least, there seems to be a general air of prosperity. The woollen and cotton industries are picking up as is also the boot and shoe trade. A great many of the tradespeople seem to be doing very well and the farmers, having had good crops this year, are particularly prosperous. I was informed that there was as many people employed in the Old Country now as there were in 1914. The increased population is the cause of increased unemployment."

Mr. Tinker is of the opinion that there is no danger of industrial revolution in the Old Country. There has been agitation along these lines but the average British workman, Mr. Tinker thinks, is too level headed to allow things to reach that pass. The government is taking Communistic agitation firmly in hand.

Building Activity Living conditions are improving in the Old Country, Mr. Tinker found. Great building activity is in progress and particularly in London. The borough of Southwick has a ten year program for the building of 15,000 houses per year. This building activity is general throughout England and Scotland, the result probably of the fact that there was no new building during the five years of the war. The program is being contributed to by the (continued on page two)
