NEGOTIATIONS WITH U.S. ARE PROCEEDING HALIBUT DUTY INCLUDED IN MATTERS TO BE DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

Conference Planned to Adjust Differences on Halibut Fisheries Here

Question of tariff is involved as well as use of ports of either country by fishermen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Negotiations with a view to a conference between Canada and the United States to adjust matters relative to the halibut fisheries of the North Pacific are proceeding.

The Canadian suggestions cover the question of tariff and the use of free ports by fishermen of one nationality in the territory of another.

It is probable that a joint meeting will be held shortly to discuss all questions involved and to recommend reciprocal action on the part of the two governments. Presumably the action will take the form of a special treaty or amendment to existing treaties.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 12.—Shipments of grain to Vancouver by the Canadian National Railway show an increase of nearly 6,500 cars over those for the same period last year. The total to date by that route is 7,840 cars.

Shipments to the lake head from the prairie provinces this season so far amount to over 100,000 cars, or 135,506,000 bushels. This is more than has ever been shipped that way before during the same time, the previous record being in 1923 when for the same period 117,167,000 bushels were shipped.

Shipments are still being made on the lakes. During the week 82 vessels sailed carrying 20,964,000 bushels.

Humorous Touch to Political Filibuster at Victoria This Week When Government Won

Pooley led attack and carried it on all night but it was Dick Burde who broke it up in early morning

(The following racy account of the political blockade in the Legislature early in the week is from the pen of W. A. deGraves staff correspondent of the Vancouver Star):

Opposition blockade tactics continued with innumerable divisions of the House and terminated at 5 a.m. Tuesday, when Major Dick Burde, Alberni, started a one-man filibuster, and which he threatened to maintain despite all protests, unless adjournment was granted, featured an all-night session of the British Columbia Legislature, which commenced at 8 p.m. Monday evening.

It was a session which, for sensation, seldom paralleled any sitting of the local assembly.

Frequently the vote was close. A vote of censure against Hon. John Oliver for certain actions in connection with the University over-expenditure, tallied 27 to 29. The Premier's salary carried 29 to 28, but along toward morning, the government majority strengthened as the members tired, and

R. H. Pooley and his chief lieutenants carried on the fray by weight of verbiage alone, until

Major Burde launched his tactics, which brought about an arrestice.

Brought Forth Mouse

The mountain labored and groaned forth a mouse. For days around the legislative corridors there have been rumors of the eleventh hour surprise prepared by R. H. Pooley, opposition leader, and his strategists. It was to be the bomb that was to blow the Oliver government to smithereens, and Friday last was the day scheduled for the lighting of the fuse. But something went wrong, and an agreement between whips caused the fuse to sputter weakly and go out. Incidentally it caused a few heartburnings in the opposition ranks, with some of the Conservatives accusing their colleagues of being Bowserites and suggesting that others take their places in the Liberal ranks.

But if Friday's bomb proved a dud, the opposition board of strategy was on the job Monday night. Horse, foot and artillery they swung into action when the House went into committee of supply with Opposition Leader Pooley in the van and his cohorts marshalled behind him.

At the outset Mr. Pooley issued his defi. The opposition was convinced that the government was not to be trusted to handle further sums of public money and when the first vote came up, which was for $86,000 for sessional indemnities, Mr. Pooley spurred to the front and began to read a carefully prepared statement that dealt with the over commitments at the university.

Appealed to Speaker

Deputy Speaker W. G. Perry was in the chair and when Hon. J. H. MacLean raised a point of order that the opposition leader was making remarks on something not applicable to the vote before the House, the deputy speaker ruled that Mr. Pooley was out of order. Mr. Pooley immediately appealed to Mr. Speaker, who was sent for, division bells were rung, and by a vote of 27 to 19, Mr. Pooley suffered his first setback of the evening.

Nothing daunted, he returned to the charge, stating he was prepared to show why the sessional indemnities should not be voted for the premier.

"Why pick on all of us? Wait till the vote for his salary comes
