TWO HUNDRED MEALS SERVED

Salvation Army Christmas Cheer Campaign had Pleasant Result Yesterday

Some 135 meals were served and delivered to unemployed and homeless men by the Salvation Army on Christmas Day, making a total for the week of something in the neighborhood of 200 meals that have been given as a result of the Army's Christmas Cheer campaign. Yesterday at noon and in the evening, five long tables laden with Christmas dainties were set in the junior hall and ample justice was done by many men to the dinners set before them. Each table was decorated with a lovely bouquet of donated flowers.

Those assisting at the dinner tables were Capt. and Mrs. Rea, Lieut. Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. B. Rand, J. Morris, R. Turner, T. Harmen, A. Moore and G. Holman.

After supper a lantern service was given, the slides having been kindly donated by Rev. G. G. Hacker and R. F. McNaughton, C.N.R. district passenger agent. A vote of thanks to the Daily News for its assistance in connection with the campaign was passed.

The collections for the Christmas dinner fund according to a compilation made today, totalled $115.50. Donations not previously acknowledged are as follows:

IN FAVOR OF MODEST DRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Society leaders in the national capital have begun a campaign against some of the present tendencies in the dress and habits of American women.

Mrs. John B. Henderson, long an influential figure in the exclusive circles of diplomatic and official Washington, today made public a set of resolutions to which she and other social leaders here have subscribed calling on society women everywhere "to abandon cigarettes and immodest attire."

Officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Henderson said, has assured her they are ready to combat as far as possible habits which threaten the perpetuity of the American nation.

As made public by Mrs. Henderson, the resolutions endorsed by influential society women here are as follows:

"That we are deeply interested in the efforts of certain high dignitaries of church and schools who have met hoping to modify undesirable prevailing fashions for women's apparel, and have hopelessly laid the blame to mothers, calling upon them to come to the rescue; that we feel that they do not realize that Dame Fashion is a powerful potentate; that a large number of American girls now work for an independent living, and if chided by helpless mothers concerning questions of fashions they simply regard such mothers as out of date and old fashioned.

"That the best women of France and England, also as here represented in their Embassies, also by the Royal family of England do not follow fashions of women's apparel not in good taste, quite regardless of fashions which are dictated by the under world of Paris.

"That we suggest for street wear dress skirts broader and of ankle length.

"That we call upon society women of America everywhere to band together to condemn such vulgar fashions of women's apparel that do not tend to cultivate innate modesty, good taste or good morals.

"That in the interest of future public health and efficiency, we pray that the comparatively new fashion of cigarettes be abandoned, in that reserves from health capital, expended to save the living organism from perils of poison inevitably lead, sooner or later, to physical bankruptcy and race degenaacy.

"That women's colleges whose mission it is to teach what best befits girls for future life, viz.: life's greatest asset, normal physical health, could aid in discipline by dismissing those who refuse to conform to college rules."

Marion Davies

— in —

"Zander the Great"

The story of a man, a maid and moonshine. He could handle a gun, but he couldn't handle a woman. She made him smash his own business—every bottle of it. It took a sandstorm to show this bad man that this girl had sand. A comedy-drama of life along the Mexican border with a humorous slant at bootlegging.

A delightful dissertation on liquor and love.

You'll roar with laughter at irresistible Marion Davies, who, as Mamie with her adopted child, Zander, started out with a battered, wheezy flivver to win a hostile world.

They struck Arizona like a cyclone, for what mere man could withstand her charm, her courage, her sense of humor and the appeal of youth.

Magnificent scenery. Superb cast:

Marion Davies, Harrison Ford, Holbrook Blinn, Harry Myers, George Siegmann, Hobart Bosworth, Harry Watson, Emily Fitzroy, Hedda Hopper and others.
