Flying Boat DU Came Down Near Queen Charlotte Sound and Was Slightly Damaged

The flying boat DU, piloted by Flying Officer A. L. Morfee and with Corp. E. C. Tennant aboard as mechanic, was forced to make a landing off Duncan Island just south of Queen Charlotte Sounds on Thursday while on its way from here to Vancouver. Engine trouble was believed to have been the cause and, according to word received here, the hull of, the machine was slightly damaged in the forced landing. Flying Officer Morfee and Corp. Tennant were picked up by the steamer Princess Beatrice and taken to Ocean Falls where they are now making arrangements for the plane being taken to Jericho Beach. While the machine was not seriously damaged it is understood that it will have to be shipped south.
