WORLD'S BILLIARD TITLE IS AT STAKE

Edouard Horemans and Jake Schaefer will Cross Cues in Championship Tournament Opening at Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 4. — Edouard Horemans of Belgium, first foreigner to hold the 18.2 balk line billiards championship in two decades, and Young Jake Schaefer, the son of a champion and himself twice formerly champion, will be the principals in a 1500 point contest for the crown starting tonight in historic Orchestra Hall.

Horemans recently dethroned Schaefer in the most sensational contest ever developed by struggles for the 18.2 crown, winning a 1,500 point match spread over three nights of play by the score of 1,500 to 1,495.

The champion and challenger decided to postpone consideration of a referee until they arrive here for tonight's contest. Since the last match they both have been on exhibition tours, Schaefer pairing with Willie Hoppe of New York, who led the championship nearly twenty years, and Horemans with Leemput, the Dutch champion.

Of Opposing Types

The two men are of opposing types. Horemans is near 40 and several years older than Schaefer. He is short, stout, curly-haired and left handed. Schaefer is of the greyhound type, sleek haired, and handles his cue in the orthodox manner.

Their dissimilarity is continued further, however in that Horemans takes a full grasp of the but of his cue, while Schaefer holds with the thumb and first two fingers.

Horemans is a master of the open table nurse, while Schaefer excels at shot-making. Horemans in addition is a marvel at masse shots, although Shaefer, while not resorting to them as frequently as Horemans, also uses that difficult strategem with precision.

How Game was Named

The name of the game, 18.2 balk line, comes from the fact a chalk mark is drawn the length and breadth of the table eighteen inches out from each rail, and inside that line only two shots may be counted before one of the balls must be driven across the line.

An "open table nurse" is a series of shots made with all the balls grouped more than 18 inches from the rails. Masters of that shot do not move the balls more than a tiny fraction of an inch. It requires rare delicacy of touch.

SPORT CHAT

The Christmas and New Year holiday season now being over, schedules for the second halves of the season in the billiard, cribbage and whist leagues are to make their appearance. In all leagues, the first haives ended up with no teams having cinches on the season's honors so general interest will attach to the various activities on the home stretch. One thing that still seems to be a matter of regret to many is that no arrangements have yet been made for league basketball and that, after all, it appears as though Prince Rupert will see little if any of this interesting sport this winter.

There will be no outstanding changes in the lineup of the New York Giants for their campaign of 1926. In marked contrast to the steps for reconstruction taken by the New York Americans and to his own policy of former years, Manager John McGraw indicates that the team with which he fought a losing battle against the Pirates for the 1925 National League pennant will be retained substantially intact to renew the championship drive next season. Declaring that he intended to retain Heinie Groh at third base, despite his uncertain physical condition, and to restore to first base his all-around star, George Kelly, after having refused an offer from Cincinnati to exchange Kelly for Outfielder Eddie Roush. McGraw said he expected to make put one change in his line-up. This will place a new acquisition from Louisville, Albert Tyson, in the outfield post held last season by Billy Southworth.

TERRACE NOTES

One of the most enjoyable dances of the season took place here on New Year's Eve under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association. A large crowd danced to splendid music furnished by Mrs. Atwood's four piece orchestra. At midnight the Grand March was played after which refreshments were served and dancing continued until an early hour.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burnett entertained a number of their friends at a bridge party given as a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barker, at their home here on Friday evening.

Tom Lever drew the lucky ticket for the three pounds of tea given at the local movie house on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barker and two children are leaving on Friday morning on a holiday trip. They will go to Summerland, B.C., where they will leave the children with Mrs. Barker's sister, Miss Pollock, and then sail from Vancouver on the Niagara for the Hawaiian Islands. They expect to be away about three months.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Young were called to Hazelton on Saturday night, where their son Wilfrid is at present quite ill in the hospital there.

Oscar Olander and Alfred Egan of Kalum Lake returned to Terrace on Saturday night from Prince Rupert and left for the lake on Monday morning.

PRINCE GEORGE

The Misses Douglas entertained a large company of friends in their new home on Wednesday evening, the affair taking the form of a house warming. There were about thirty five young people present who danced with great enjoyment into the small hours of the morning.

Mrs. Minnion, has returned from Vancouver after receiving medical treatment.

Local merchants all report a good volume of business during the Christmas week, much in advance of what they anticipated. The business for the two weeks preceding the holiday was not up to that of last year, due to the stagnation of the timber industry but, for purely holiday buying the week exceeded that of any previous Christmas.
