WHEAT STILL FLOWS THROUGH UNITED STATES

VOLME OF CANADIAN GRAIN SENT THROUGH FOREIGN ROUTE UNDIMINISHED IN VOLUME

OTTAWA, Dec. 29.—The flow of Canadian wheat through United States transportation channels continues undiminished in volume.

Milton Campbell, Progressive M.P. for Mackenzie, already has announced that he will renew the fight in Parliament to have the Crow's Nest Pass rates on grain and flour extended to the National Transcontinental Railway. Mr Campbell will receive the solid support of all three Western Progressive groups, and it is learned an effort will be made to enlist the support of Conservatives and Liberals from the Maritime Provinces, as well as Liberals from Quebec. Maritime Conservatives will be given every opportunity to help, as it is the present intention of the Progressives to invite them to a round table conference to discuss the Campbell resolution.

The other favoring factor is in regard to Quebec. The City of Quebec has had an application before the Railway Commission for the extension of the Crow's Nest Pass scale of rates to the Transcontinental since last February. The Railway Commission has deferred judgment until the general equaliaztion case is completed, which means a delay of many months. The City of Quebec has protested against this decision, without success. It is now reported that the Quebec City interests will abandon hope of relief from the Railway Commission and will turn to Parliament as a last resort.

GREATER VOLUME

Meantime, wheat exports continue to flow through United States in greater volume than through Canadian channels. The Transcontinental Railway was completed and put into operation in 1916, when a rate of six cents per bushel on wheat from Armstrong to Quebec City was made effective. A few months later this rate was increased to 20.7 cents per bushel, which is prohibitive and, of course, very little wheat has been handled over the road since. The railway line cost $171,892,734.53 up to December 31, 1925.

The following table taken from Government statistics indicates the volume of wheat exports through the United States and Canadian channels:

	Via Canad Ports. Bushels	Via U.S. Ports Bushels
1919	35,292,000	19,102,080
1920	48,345,771	13,023,281
1921	32,767,225	54,193,010
1922	42,572,122	100,009,466

1924	126,790,482	141,079,337

SILK STEP-INS FOR MEN VERY LATEST

Don't Know Whether Prince of Wales Wears 'Em But Suppose He Does

Hold everything.

Men, rally round; we're gonna need protection and we're gonna need it bad.

Here's the latest. Silk "step-ins" for men have been displayed for sale at stores for men at the Pacific coast cities, and they say they're on their way north.

The garments, of orchid and maize color, are made of glove silk and rayon, similar to the feminine variety. They are described as "silky, soft and very sweet," also as "delicate and neat."

Alphonso, will you kindly pass a platter of raw meat.

B. Fletcher, 473 Twentieth Avenue West, to Maurice O. Corkill.

COOLIDGE MIGHT RUN AGAIN IN '28

PARIS, Dec. 29.—President Coolidge was quoted by Col. George Harvey as saying that he would run for the presidency again in 1928, if the Republican national organization and the voters wanted him to.

A series of reciprocal Rhodes Scholarships, by which, as well as sending scholars from the United States to study at Oxford, the Rhodes Trust will send Englishmen from Oxford to study here has just been established.

CIRCULATION OF FOREIGN PAPERS

ONE OUT OF EVERY SIX PERSONS IN NEW YORK READS PERIODICAL NOT WRITTEN IN ENGLISH

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The combined circulation of the forty foreign language newspapers published in New York indicates that one out of every six persons in this city reads a newspaper printed in a foreign language. With one out of three persons in New York Jewish, according to the latest estimates, the seven Jewish dailies alone reach more than half the foreign press clientele in every issue.

Forty foreign language dailies and a total of 193 foreign publications comes from the city's presses every month.

The Italians have 34 publications of their own; the Jewish organs run second with 27.

They print, examination shows, what their "public wants," a public largely of first generation immigrants interested in adaptation to a new environment.

Much thus, is less sensational than informative. The tone of most of his papers is highly conservative, even the tabloids being concerned largely with travel, popular science and music.

Even the humor retains its old world flavor and the single joke-illustration predominates over the "strip." When the cross-word puzzles swept the country, many foreign language editors used them freely to help acquaint the immigrant with the new language.

Despite the reduction of immigration, editors say, they can't teach the immigrant in a language he doesn't understand and they do not expect for many years any great decline in the foreign language press.

"Instinctively," they say, "the foreigners trust the mother language and respond more readily to information about the new country that comes through their own papers."
