CHORUS GIRLS RIOT ON STAGE

Mother Actor Tears Clothes from Daughter's Back

GENEVA, April 6. — A riot among the chorus occurred at the Grand theatre here during the performance of an operetta called the "Danse des Libellules."

The husbands of the women, who were also in the chorus, then came to blows. The chorus girls and men took sides, and a free fight followed on the stage and wings. Firemen and gendarmes attached to the theatre were called, and they attempted to separate the fighters, but it was only when the firemen threatened to turn the hose on them that order was obtained.

GIVE TRAINING TO IMMIGRANTS

MONTREAL, Que., April 6.—(By Canadian Press)—If some means were afforded British youths to establish themselves on farms after they had taken courses such as are offered under the Hoadley scheme, Canada would be more successful in attracting young men of the type she wants from the Old Country.

Mr. Waddell served during the war in India and Egypt. As a son of an Irish landed prospector he had considerable knowledge of stock-raising, and was particularly anxious to gain a thorough knowledge of marketing in this country.

GERALD CHAPMAN, NOTORIOUS AMERICAN BANDIT, IS HANGED ON NEW CONNECTICUT GALLOWES.

(continued from page 1) came known until October 10, 1924, when the New Britain policeman was killed. The policeman had surprised two safe blowers at work. One of them, who proved to be Chapman, shot his way to liberty, killing Skelly, and the other Walter E. Shean, son of a Springfield, Mass., hotel man, was captured. Shean confessed that Chapman was his accomplice.

Chapman was arrested in Muncie, Ind., and returned to Atlanta, the state of Connecticut, however, extradited him to stand trial for Skelly's murder. He was sentenced to die on June 25, 1925. His attorneys obtained a stay of execution until December 3, when they appealed the case, but the Connecticut Supreme Court affirmed the death sentence. The point was then raised that Chapman was a federal prisoner and could not be executed until his term for mail robbery was completed.

Revenge Killing Meanwhile, late in 1925, Chapman's pal, Anderson, had killed Ben Hance and his wife, on whose farm near Muncie Chapman and Anderson once lived, presumably because they had testified against Chapman in his murder trial. Anderson himself was killed a few weeks later by a Muskegon, Mich., policeman.

President Coolidge commuted Chapman's twenty-five year sentence in an executive order issued November 23, 1925, but three days later Chapman in his cell in Wetherfield prison refused to accept the order.

So that Chapman might have time to carry the computation order into the courts, Governor Trumbull relieved him on November 27 postponing the execution until March 3.

Chapman's next move was to seek a writ of habeas corpus which would have transferred him back into federal custody. That was denied on December 14, 1925, by Federal Judge Thomas of Hartford. The United States Circuit Court at New York upheld his ruling on February 15, 1926.
