Prospector Went Without Milk to Try to Save Wild Creature.

FORT WLILIAM, July 7. - An nteresting story of how an or phan calf moose was adopted and reared by two prospectors in the Woman Lake district of Northern Ontario, is told by William Carvell, of Cobalt, Ont., who recently returned from the north.

Proceeding by canoe up a small stream which runs into Woman Lake, the two prospectors noticed a baby moose near the edge of They returned a few hours later and the animal was still there. On investigation, the of the mother was found partly submerged in the water. The cow had been shot through the head.

According to Mr. Carvell, the calf permitted the prospectors to caress it. A teapot with a cloth tied to the spout and a mixture of condensed milk and water, was called into service. The calf readily adotped this strange contraption as its foster mother. The about half that amount. Mayor Newton told Mr. Meparty returned the next day and they found the orphan moose.
