AMUNDSEN'S AIRSHIP NORGE IS AWAITED

OLD COUNTRY STRIKERS EXPECTED TO BE BACK TOMORROW EXCEPT MINERS

Miners to Get Lower Wages is Proposed in the Settlement Plan

Strikes are clearing in Britain where railways have signed up with men and other industries resuming

LONDON, May 14.—The British industrial crisis began to rapidly today. The railwaymen, who had remained out, notwithstanding the official termination of the general strike, had an agreement with the companies at noon today and will be resumed as soon as possible with the expectation normalcy will be reached by tomorrow.

Premier Baldwin told Parliament today that he had framed proposals for the settlement of the miners' strike and that these been placed in the hands of both the men and their employers immediately so that they can consider them over the week end.

The indications, he said, were brighter for agreement. The Trades Union Congress officials said there was a marked easing of tension in the situation throughout the country. Employers were becoming increasingly inclined to discuss a reasonable basis for the resumption of work.

Also it was announced that an agreement had been reached between the London Underground Electric Railway Company and its employees under which the underground system and the affiliated tram and bus lines will shortly resume normal service.

Government Proposals

The government's new proposals for mediation of the mining dispute include the establishment of a national wages board similar to the present board, which is characterized as "further financial assistance to the industry," will amount to £3,000,000 and while it is in effect the miners are to accept an unnamed reduction. Minimum wages other than in subsistence rates amount are to be determined in joint conference.

Resumption of Work

Reports received from all sections of the country indicate that the unions and employers have got together to such an extent that industry should right itself shortly.

The resumption of work of the railwaymen was settled on the basis that employees who went on strike be taken back as soon as traffic conditions warrant and work can be found, seniority to be the guiding principle in each grade.

Amundsen's Airship Norge Has Failed to Report and Fears Are Expressed for Safety of Party

NOME, May 14.—The dawn of the third day since the dirigible Norge left King's Bay to fly across the Pole to Nome saw the world anxiously awaiting word from her naval radio station at Hinckley Island, near Cordova. It was reported to the Associated Press this morning that they had picked up a mysterious message which said the Norge passed Point Barrow at noon yesterday Eastern standard time. The distance from Barrow to Nome is 550 miles, only an eleven hour voyage for the dirigible.

Fears are felt that Amundsen and his sixteen companions may have met disaster, as a falling barometer yesterday indicated the possibility of a storm and speculation is rife as to whether the giant airship could withstand such ferocious disturbance of the elements as frequently sweep across the north. On the other hand it is believed possible that Amundsen may be exploring the Arctic wastes or may have turned back toward Spitzbergen.
