

A Watch to be Proud of

During the many years we have been selling watches we have never handled an assortment better than the new lot of imported watches received this Fall.

Since the war, owing to unsettled conditions, a great many inferior watches have been put on the bargain counters and many of them will not keep going more than a year.

One of our new makes has all the steel parts of stainless steel, which will not rust even if exposed to water.

Prices from $15.00 up. Let us show you!

Wild Life of Rockies to be Saved for Future Generations

Full Protection Given to Wild Animals in and Around Jasper National Park; Animals Become Very Tame

MONTREAL, December 26.—(By Canadian Press).—Canada's policy of making the national parks also game sanctuaries has saved the wild life of the Canadian Rockies for future generations, in the opinion of Major Fred Brewster, M.C., nature lover, outfitter and guide extraordinary, of Jasper National Park, Alberta, who is in Montreal on his annual visit to the Eastern Canadian and United States cities. As a result of the absolute protection given to wild animals in Jasper National Park, which is Canada's largest national playground, elk, and deer are feeding within a stone's throw of the railway yards at Jasper, where railway shunting operations are carried on day and night. Mountain sheep and mountain goats are daily visitors to the outskirts of the town while black and cinnamon bears make regular visits to the back doors of hotels and other places where they hope to find free meals awaiting them in the garbage cans and boxes.

The increase in big game animals is not confined to the park but is noticeable also in the hunting territory surrounding its boundaries. Major Brewster stated. Hunting parties in the Jasper area this year found not only larger numbers of the game usually encountered but noted also the increasing presence of moose, though these animals had been very scarce in previous years. Wild fowl are also increasing, since the water birds find sanctuary with the many lakes and breeding grounds and prairie chickens, which have made their appearance in the eastern area, are apparently following the grain trains westward and moving into the foothills in great numbers.

SURPRISING INCREASE
"There is no danger of mountain sheep or goats vanishing as did the buffalo of the plains," Major Brewster stated. "In fact, a careful survey made by the park wardens shows a surprising increase in these animals. We know there are from 10,000 to 15,000 mountain sheep and probably 6,000 to 7,000 mountain goats within the park. Elk or wapiti herds are growing steadily and this fall almost twice as many of these animals have come down to the valleys as were there last year.

"Bands of elk and deer are now pasturing on the Jasper Park Lodge golf course daily and instructions have been issued that they are not to be disturbed as they are keeping down the grass on the fairway. Occasionally they interfere with golf, which continued this year until less than two weeks ago but they are more than earning their feed by keeping the grass well cropped.

"Caribou herds are increasing also, though these animals maintain a good distance between themselves and civilization. As for bears, they are becoming as numerous and almost as tame as dogs since they realize that they are no longer hunted. The blacks and cinnamons have constituted themselves the town scavengers. The grizzlies, while numerous, are not socially inclined and prefer to remain at a distance from man and all his works. They remain on the higher slopes of the mountain where they are seen less frequently than the blacks and browns."

THIS COLD WAS MERE CHINOOK

WINNIPEG OLD TIMER TELLS HOW FRIGID IT WAS IN EARLY DAYS.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 26.—(By C.P.)—The recent cold spell which brought about some talk of record low readings, was a mild "chinook" compared to the Northern blasts of fifty years ago. At any rate that is the contention of Alex Calder of Winnipeg, who came to Western Canada in the early '70s. "Why back in '79 the thermometer sank to 45 below zero regularly and often remained at that level for several days. During the winter of 1880 the mercury hit 50 below on New Year's Eve.

Mr. Calder who settled in Manitoba before Winnipeg was even a town, cannot understand why people complain when the temperature drops to a "mere" 25 below. He belongs to a generation that did not ride in heated street cars, and regarded sub-zero weather as invigorating and healthy. It was not until the temperature dropped to 40 below that they felt entitled to say it was "getting rather chilly."

Mr. Calder came to Canada from the Old Land in a sail boat 85 years ago, but only once has he complained of the cold in Canada. That was when he was living in London, Ont., and drove into Sarnia with both ears frozen. The temperature on that occasion stood at 60 degrees below zero, he states.

"Those were the days when we were men and spats had not made their appearance west of Montreal; those were the days when wavy and wiry whiskers were as common as bobbed hair is now; when the pre-breakfast shave meant thawing a lump of ice on the kitchen stove for hot water, and when one often awoke in the morning to find shoes and other things frozen to the floor. I've seen it so cold in the house that water several feet from a red hot stove would freeze solid.

"We do not get the snowfall they used to get, either. Mr. Calder added.

"In 1885 it snowed so heavily that persons riding in railway coaches in Illinois and Wisconsin couldn't see a thing except an unbroken wall of snow rising up on either side of the car. Farmers had to dig trails through the immense drifts and when they drove through all that could be seen from the side was the horses ears poking above the snow-line.

MINK RAISING IS PROFITABLE

FOLLOWED ON LULU ISLAND AS SIDELINE TO GENERAL FARMING

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28.—Raising mink for fur as a sideline to a general farming business is the pursuit of J. A. Ransford, of Lulu Island, who several years ago brought two pairs of the little animals all the way from Quebec and now has a large colony of them. He finds the Quebec skins to be superior to those of the species indigenous to the Pacific Coast and he manages to obtain prices for them three and four times as high as those paid for other grades.

Mr. Ransford feeds his minks fish. He also breeds muskrats on an extensive scale and finds that the two species can be raised satisfactorily even when comparatively closely confined. He has

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household--every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare--should make a habit of reading the ads.
