STUDY WHALES IS THE OBJECT

Big Creatures Will Be Marked With Silver-Plated Darts Shot From Vessel.

LONDON, July 14.—Keen interest is being taken in scientific, fishing, and shipping circles in an expedition about to be embarked upon by the research ship William Scoresby, now lying in Humber Dock at Hull. The vessel has been built to the order of the Crown Agents for the Colonies and is chiefly for whaling research and deepsea fishing study generally. It is expected that the expedition will lead to legislation for preventing the whale being fished to extinction in certain seas.

Ascertain Habits

The primary object is to ascertain the habits of whales, whether they are polygamous, and what measures should be taken to protect the whaling industry. If the expedition finds that the male whale has more than one female mate it will then be known that it is more destructive to kill a male than a female, and steps will be taken to safeguard the propagation of the males. The expedition is being undertaken on behalf of the government of the Falkland Islands and will act in concert with the Royal research ship Discovery, which has already been in service for some months. The William Scoresby is named after a famous Whitby whaling captain, and was built at Beverley expressly for the purpose. She is 125 feet long, with a beam of 26 feet and a depth of 13 feet 6 inches.

Marksman's Platform

On deck is a marksman's platform, constructed right forward to facilitate the marking of the whales and giving a good radius of observation. From this platform a man may shoot from a gun small, silver-plated, serially-numbered darts, by which whales will be marked, to determine their migratory habits. Every whaling station in the world has been circularized from London and asked to report the capture of marked whales with a note saying where they were caught and their state of maturity.

Her Liver Was Bad And She Felt Tired and Depressed

Mrs. M. Siefert, Grosswerder, Sask., writes:—"I was greatly disturbed with pains in my liver, and felt tired and depressed most of the time.
One day I read about Milburn's
LAXA-LIVER PILLS
and the next time I went to town I bought four vials of them.
I have used them regularly, and after two months' use I feel like an entirely different woman.
Now, I always recommend them to any of my friends who are troubled as I was."
There's only one "Laxa-Liver Pill", and that's the one put up, for the past 32 years, by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FATHER INTERCEPTED PLANS OF ELOPERS

Flew from Croydon and Met Train Train as it Pulled Into East Coast Station.

LONDON, July 14—Like an up-to-date film thrill was the dramatic overhauling of two eloping lovers, whose plans a father upset with the aid of an aeroplane. The other day a motor car dashed at high speed along the road leading to the London air station, Croydon, and drew up at the gates. From it lept a man, who rushed into the offices of the Imperial Airways, and demanded an aeroplane to take him to a resort on the East Coast. All the available large air liners were engaged in the continental services, and a small three-seater machine was hurriedly obtained. It was in the air in less than fifteen minutes. On alighting at his destination he made all speed to the railway station to await the arrival of a train from London. From this, as it drew up, emerged a girl and a man. The air passenger went up to the girl—his daughter—and besought her to leave her companion, with whom it was evident she was eloping. This after a great deal of persuasion, she agreed to do, and her father hurried her away, leaving the man discomfited on the platform. Then the father, leaving nothing to chance, took the girl back to the waiting aeroplane and flew with her to London.

BORROWED CUSTOMS OF FIJI ISLANDS

OMAHA, Neb., July 14.—Bobbed hair and short dresses are customs North American women have borrowed from his people, Ratu Meli Halabogi, native chieftain of the Island of Viti Levu, of the Fiji group, declared. He is touring the United States with J. F. Fulton, missionary in the Fiji Islands for 32 years.

"In my association with white people, I have noticed many changes in their dress," the chief said. "The girls and women used to dress more modestly. Now the girls' dresses are short, the way the dresses of my people are. You have borrowed many customs from us. One of them is bobbed hair. The girls of the polynesian people have worn their hair bobbed for many years.

"My people, with black faces, use paint to make them blacker. I notice you people, with white faces, powder them to make them whiter."

FOREST AND OUTDOORS MAGAZINE NOW BEING PUSHED BY PUBLISHERS

The Canadian Forestry Association is doing good work in drawing attention to the need of forest protection and education in conservation methods. They are publishing a magazine "Forest and Outdoors," which is a very interesting and valuable publication. Just now a drive is being made with a view to placing the magazine in as many homes as possible.

The general scheme is a good one and the magazine should be of interest to anyone who cares for outdoor life.
