First Aid To The Injured.

At the week-end the Daily News told of the presentation of certificates to a number of railway employees who had completed their first aid course. Two of these were ladies. The work is most commendable but better than anything we can say in regard to it is the letter from Organizer Cook who sent the following message to those who had been successful:

First Aid is a course that can never be completed. The achievement of one year is but the opening of a door to further success and advancement. The first year certificate leads to the voucher; the voucher leads to medalion; and the medalion leads to the table, and each and every table to succeeding tables to be won annually.

First Aid is like every other study; to think that you have mastered it completely after one or two years' study is a detriment to further completion and the subject itself, as far as you are related to it, if left alone, becomes stagnant, rusty and dead. Furthermore, the reception of a First Aid award is but an inspiration to continue on to further progress. There is one thing to be remembered about all other things, and that is the first aider is not to consider himself as a camouflaged doctor. "This true he deals with medical subjects. He or she has a general knowledge of human anatomy, the circulatory system, the physiological organs of the human body, but all this knowledge is intended simply as an aid until the arrival of the qualified physician. In other words the first aider is but a bridge between the accident and the doctor. And you know perfectly well that a man who can convert himself into a bridge between the injured patient and the medical man has performed work of inestimable value—work which can be a life saving achievement; work that can be of assistance even to the medical practitioner. Therefore, the first aider is a servant of his fellow men, prompted by benevolence and constructed upon humanitarian principles. It therefore is indeed a privilege personally for me on behalf of the company, the Canadian National Railways, as well as the Western Region Council of the St. John Ambulance Association, to have this honor of presenting to you these certificates, as a token of your competency and ability to perform the fact, resourcefulness, dexterity, sympathy, etc., called forth by the eight points of the White Cross, the emblem of the order of which you are members, and that considered you as being worthy of its color and insignia.

Making Ourselves Fit To Live With.

Eddie Guest, the poet, is a man who is always talking about life and letting in new light on it. He says bright things in a bright way and although it is not all poetry, some of it is. He writes for the newspapers and millions of people read his verses. Seldom, if ever, has a man had such a wide circle of readers and been so highly appreciated.

One day Mr. Guest got the idea that while he had to live with others and it was necessary to fit himself to do that, his chief difficulty was to keep himself right with himself. He developed the idea and wrote this:

I have to live with myself, and so
I want to be fit for myself to know.
I want to be able, as days go by,
Always to look myself straight in the eye;
I don't want to stand, with the setting sun,
And hate myself for things I've done.
I don't want to keep on a closet shelf
A lot of secrets about myself,
And fool myself, as I come and go,
Into thinking that nobody else will know
The kind of a man I really am;
I don't want to dress up myself in sham.

I want to go out with my head erect,
I want to deserve all men's respect;
But here in the struggle for fame and self
I want to be able to like myself.
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.
I can never hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know,
I never can fool myself, and so,
Whatever happens, I want to be
Self-respecting and conscience-free.

SPOOK RANCH TO BE SEEN HERE TONIGHT

Hoot Gibson Picture is Funny and Weird and Full of Thrills

The story "Spook Ranch" showing here tonight starring Hoot Gibson, concerns a cowboy who is arrested in a small town for a slight offense. The sheriff has been troubled of late with a haunted ranch near the town, of which all the citizens are afraid and refuse to approach. The cowboy, a stranger in town, does not know of the unsavory reputation of the place and so accepts the sheriff's offer of liberty if he will investigate the place. Going there he finds that the ghosts are in reality a band of ruffians who are attempting to get the secret location of a mine from the rancher and his beautiful daughter.

After a fight Gibson is knocked out while the bandits disappear with the girl and her father, leaving their leader bound after a mutiny. Awakening, Gibson does not know his fellow prisoner and takes him to be someone who can help him. They chase after the bandits and Gibson subdues them in a gun battle, freeing the rancher and his daughter. Meanwhile the bandit chief disappears with the girl and Gibson is given an excellent opportunity to show his horsemanship to advantage. He picks up a stick on the run, strikes the bander leader with one hand as he grasps the girl with the other rescuing her from possible death beneath the horse's hoofs.

This is undoubtedly one of the cleverest bits of heroic horsemanship ever shown on the screen and it is only a sample thrill from a thrill-ridden film.

There are plenty of laughs in this film.

"CLOTHES MAKE THE PIRATE" IS COMING FOR THE MID-WEEK

"Fifteen men on a dead man's chest—" The once popular ditty will be revived at the Westholme theatre at the mid-week, when as fierce a band of cut-throats as ever prowled the seas appear on the screen there.

They are the pirates of the comedy, "Clothes Make the Pirate," in which Leon Errol is starred with Dorothy Gish. Errol is the pirate leader, and among his precious rogues are Tully Marshall, James Rennie, George Marion and Walter Law. In one of the thrilling scenes the buccaneers attack a British man-of-war and after a furious battle between the two sailing ships, Dorothy Gish, Nita Naldi and Edna Murphy are carried off by the victorious pirates.

Mast, sails, and deck, housing are shot away and the two fighting craft fire and ram each other, until the pirate crew manages to board and scuttle the war vessel.

"Clothes Make the Pirate" is from the Holman Day novel, Maurice Tourneur directed.

SOUTH SEA ISLANDS PICTURE WEEK END

"Never the Twain Shall Meet" is Peter Kyne Tale Fast Moving Story

"Never the Twain Shall Meet," which is here for the week-end a new film, presented by the Cosmopolitan Corporation, and released by Metro-Goldwyn, is a picturization of Peter B. Kyne's South Sea tale of the same name, and proved to be one of the most exceptional and enchanting pictures of the year. It combines an excellent cast, pictorial backgrounds of charm and beauty and a fast-moving story with drama, pathos and comedy mixed in exactly the correct proportion for perfect screen entertainment.

In the making of this picture, Maurice Tourneur, the director took a notable company to Tahiti and Moorea for the filming of the scenes on the actual locale described by the author.

Anita Stewart, in the leading feminine role of Tamea, a half-caste island princess, has never been lovelier or more bewitching than in the native costume of the South Seas.

Bert Lytell, as the young American scion of wealth and social position, who gives up his ambitions, his mode of living and his wealth for the half-caste girl, has an unusual opportunity for displaying his powers of character delineation.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

The Comed group of four claims, situated below the Hazelton View near Hazelton, has been acquired by Hon. P. E. Lessard of Edmonton from D. J. Comeau, Magnus Johnson and August Norberg. The deal was negotiated by B. R. Jones who held an option on the property.

Mayor M. P. McCaffery returned to the city last evening by train after a trip to New York on city financial business.

Let's Banish the Children-Cheater!

"MISTER, that's not Orange-CRUSH. Why don't you give a fellow what he asks for?" Picture your boy or girl confronted by a burly buccaneer whose one idea is to profit more by selling cheap substitutes. He won't argue unless he has to. But what chance do the youngsters have with the children-cheater?

Orange-CRUSH is worth fighting for. Far too many of our boys and girls are cajoled into accepting inferior substitutes. The dealer who hands out Orange-CRUSH when they ask for it is worthy of their patronage. He has to pay more for Orange-CRUSH than for inferior imitations, but in the end he profits more, because it brings him a larger volume of sales. The dealer who sells the Krinkly Bottle is a man worthy of your respect because he sells a Quality drink. Call for Orange-CRUSH—look for the name Orange-CRUSH blown right into the Krinkly Bottle. Then drench your thirst in cool deliciousness.
