Save The Forests Once More The Cry.

Canadian people are usually reasonable and they are willing to be shown. Today there is need for education and co-operation in the movement to save the forests from destruction. It is a reasonable proposal and one that all will endorse.

Much has already been done in this respect. The young boys and girls who are growing up and leaving school are thoroughly imbued with the idea that forest fires are a menace to the whole community. The difficulty is with the older people and with the immigrants. It will take years of campaigning to make people understand that when one source of wealth in a community is destroyed the whole community suffers.

Wealth From Poles, Ties And Piles.

This last winter fewer ties than usual were taken out because they were not needed by the railway. The result has been that the interior country was not as prosperous as usual. The production of ties, poles and piles in the past five years will give some idea of what the business means.

The local production of ties in five years was 3,957,000 valued at $2,374,000, of which there was distributed in wages $1,424,000, in supplies and equipment $475,000, and the government received in stumpage and royalty $277,000. These amounts are very large and mean an immense lot toward the general prosperity of the place.

Take another example, that of poles and piling. There was cut in this district during the five year 8,863,000 lineal feet valued at $1,152,000 of which there was distributed in payrolls $691,000 in supplies and equipment $230,000, and the government collected $115,000 to take the place of taxes. No further argument is needed.

Boys' Week Is Latest Idea.

The latest movement for education is the institution of Boys' Week. It is from May 1 to May 8 and is a very worthy object. The purpose of the originators of the international movement is as follows:

- To develop loyalty on the part of the potential manhood of the nations.
- To turn May Day into a loyalty demonstration of youth.
- To give the public an opportunity to review its potential citizenship.
- To awaken an interest on the part of the public in organizations engaged in work for boys.
- To focus the attention of the public upon the boys as the medium through which all problems of society can eventually find a solution.
- To create a healthier attitude toward the boy.
- To develop in the boy himself a respect for the ideals of his country, and the opportunities which await him in the community.
- To provide an opportunity for the schools and the organizations working with boys to demonstrate their programs of work.
- To cultivate in the mind of the citizenship at large the idea that the boy is the foundation stone upon which a nation is built either strong or weak.

Alberta Crop Is On The Increase.

The amount of land being cultivated in Alberta is constantly on the increase and this will affect very materially the status of Prince Rupert as an export centre. Since the Alberta Wheat Pool has arranged to take over the elevator we are much more interested in the happenings and development of Alberta. We must more and more realize that their prosperity will mean greater prosperity for us and that if depression hits them it will affect this port. For that selfish reason we are glad to see Alberta developing rapidly.

BAND CONCERT LAST NIGHT

Good Crowd Out to Greet Lads at Westholme Theatre Entertainment

The splendid progress made by the boys' band since their last public appearance was the general theme of conversation after the concert last night at the Westholme Theatre, which had been arranged by the Rotary Club in aid of the youthful musical organization. The feature of the evening was the playing of the boys, who gave eight or nine selections, in a manner which might have done credit to a much older organization.

During the intermission, Thomas McClymont, president of the Rotary Club, explained that the band was not a Rotary band but a civic organization backed temporarily by the club until it was able to become self-supporting. Excellent results had been obtained through the efforts of bandmaster Wilson, whom he complimented. Efforts to form a band of older people had been made on many occasions and failed. The present effort he was glad to feel had succeeded and he thanked all those who had taken part in the concert or in any other way contributed to the financing of the band which they were hearing with such enjoyment that evening.

Of the other performers it is more difficult to speak. All acquitted themselves with great credit and their efforts were much appreciated, the following being the complete program:

leave and then George said that he was going. Referring to fishing, Burchall had said that it was a "mug's game." There was nothing noticeable in the attitude of either man toward the other.

On the morning of the incident, witness saw George on the rocks calling for help and asking that a boat be brought as a man had been drowned. George's clothes were all wet. Men and boats were immediately sent to pick up George and attempt to save the man who was said to be drowning. Later, on shore, George said to witness: "I will give myself up to you or anyone who will take me in charge."

Had a Scuffle
Telling of the incident, George told witness that he and his partner had had a scuffle in the boat. George had accused Burchall of putting dope in his food and Burchall had called him a liar. Then George went after Burchall and both went in the water. George said that he had tried to save Burchall. It was a very short distance to shore to which George had said that he had swum. Flewin also gave evidence as to recovering Burchall's body.

Provincial Police Constable Smith told of making the investigations after the drowning. In the course of a search of George's cabin, a pad was found on which was written the words: "Two lives for Mabel George, 3711 38th Street W., Seattle." The officer then interviewed George in the Port Simpson Hospital. Speaking of the drowning, George said: "It was no accident. I threw him overboard." George was immediately placed under arrest and duly warned. The officer then told of searching Burchall's body after it had been found. Among the effects was an identification disk reading: "P. J. Burchall, 16 Sackville Terrace, Toronto." In the hospital, George appeared to be quite normal. His right arm was bandaged.

Body Identified
Provincial Constable Cann gave evidence corroborating that of Constable Smith and Inspector Spiller took the stand to identify the body which had been recovered by himself and Constable Ponder.

The jury then retired and returned, after fifteen minutes deliberation with its verdict.
Patrick John Burchall, the man who was drowned, was 28 years of age and was born in Surrey, England. He had been 16 years in Canada, the most of the time around Toronto where a brother is believed to reside. Two years ago, he came to this coast and was employed as a dredgerman at Vancouver from which place he came north about two weeks before the accident.

Wesley George, the man charged with the killing of Burchall, is 39 years of age and was born in the United States but is a naturalized Canadian. For some time he lived at Marpole but came north recently from Seattle where his wife, Mabel George, and two children now reside.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

THIS is the season when people want to trade their radio sets for boats or first payments on the new car.

GREAT men are so much like the other kind that it is hard to distinguish them on the street and they snore just as loud when they go to bed.

COMPULSORY training of parents is what Jake says we ought to have, and perhaps he is about right this time.

WHEN a man begins to blame his wife, you may be sure he has just taken the count and declared himself beaten.

WE all grumble at the Government taxes but we tax ourselves much more highly and do not complain the least.

IF it were not for nerves, what would the doctors do for a living?

YOU know a Canadian at once because he wants to cut down all the trees. If Adam had been a Canadian there would have been no fruit to pluck because the tree would have been eliminated before it bore fruit.

THE boy's band concert last night was a good one but the ushering came in for some criticism. It is said that the single sheets were too attentive to the girls and did not look after the other people. Also there was too much levity.

JAKE wants to know how those old men got an idea they could usher? He says it takes youth and brains for a job like that.
