WARKE CANAL IS VISITED

H. F. Pullen and Son Much Pleased With Scenery of North Arm and Salt Lake

The North Arm of Warke Canal and the lakes at the head of the canal have scenery that vies with any in this great scenic district.

Particularly pleased were the two with the scenery of the North Arm where the magnificent Thulme River falls are the chief attraction.

The salt lake at the head of the canal is also very fine. They entered this lake at high tide, that being the only time when it is possible to pass through the narrow entrance with a power boat.

The trippers spent one night at Big Bay where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McAfee.

Mr. Pullen junior is leaving for Vancouver this afternoon on the Prince Charles.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Capital has suffered a relapse owing to the big political events of the past few weeks, I read. But that doesn't affect my empty pockets.

If the man who invented interest would think up a scheme to enable one to make money as fast as he can spend it, well, that would be going some.
