Leaders of Rum Runners Are Arrested Including Captain Geo. Ford formerly of Quadra

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16 .- Government officers last night arrested four men at Los Angeles and two at San Francisco, three of whom are said to be among the wealthiest and most powerful liquor smugglers on the Pacific Coast, as the organizers of a huge rum-running conspiracy credited with landing in San Francisco last week a single shipment valued at $300,000.

All the prisoners are said to be connected with the operations of the Consolidated Exporters Limited of Vancouver and include J. W. Neard, a wealthy B.C. liquor dealer, alleged by government officials to be a powerful figure for the* past three years in the rum-running industry; L. L. Tait, a Canadian, said BANCROFT SEES to be the San Francisco agent of the Consolidated, and Captain George Ford, former commander of the seized rumrunner Quadra and who is now under sentence of two years' imprisonment.

MINING IN B.C. FORGING AHEAD

MONTREAL AFTER YEAR SPENT IN THIS PROVINCE

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 .- British Columbia has mineral resources which will materially assist in putting Canada on the map as one of the leading mining countries of the world, professor Austin Bancroft, professor of geology at McGill University, said today on his return after a year's leave spent in the examination of the lead, zinc and copper mines of that province.

While he was unable to say anything Dr. Bancroft intimated that British Columbia was going ahead fast and that the mining industry had a great future. "British Columbia seems to be moving along the good solid way. There's no boom on but real progress s being made," he concluded.
