CONSERVATIVE PARTY FIGHT

LEADERSHIP IS QUESTION BEING THRASHED OUT AND KEEN INTEREST TAKEN IN CHOICE

ILLEGAL METHODS CHARGED

Esquimalt Latest Scene of What is Called Underhand Method of Electing Delegates

VICTORIA, Nov. 16.—While the suburban districts are quietly choosing delegates to the Kamloops Conservative Convention which favor Leon Ladner as leader, the city of Victoria is pledging its delegates to support former Premier W. J. Bowser.

Complaint was made recently of methods used in choosing delegates at Oak Bay and Saanich and now a similar complaint is made in regard to the Esquimalt delegates. The following letter to the Victoria Times expains the situation:

ESQUIMALT MEETING

"Editor of The Times:—Following in the wake of the unsatisfactory meetings in Saanich and Oak Bay for the purpose of electing delegates to the Kamloops Convention, comes Esquimalt. Last Tuesday night a meeting was held at the home of Capt. W. J. Cox, Wollaston Street, Esquimalt, when fourteen people were present, including the present temporary Leader of the Opposition, R. H. Pooley. At this meeting five delegates were elected to go to Kamloops. Previous to naming the delegates additional names were added to the executive of the local Conservative Association (that is, those who were unable to be elected at the annual public meeting) and from this enlarged executive five were chosen as delegates. Now, sir, when you consider that the area covered by the local Conservative Association contains over 1,900 voters you will readily see how they will be represented at Kamloops. I am given to understand that the B.C. Constitution calls for reasonable public notice notice being given of such meeting, but in the present case apparently only those that were thought favorable to the "Cause" were invited, and some of those that were added to the executive were present, shall I say in anticipation of their election to that body?

AFRAID OF PUBLIC MEETING

"If Mr. Pooley and his followers are afraid of a public meeting on such an important occasion as the present one how could they with confidence meet the same public with the man they are now fighting for, if by a miracle he got elected as leader? One would have thought that Esquimalt, above all other constituencies, having supplied the temporary leader of the Party, would have been more than anxious to have a large meeting for the express purpose of discussing the important problems of the day so that some constructive resolutions could have been sent to the convention for consideration and probably included in the Party's platform, but from past experience perhaps this is too much to expect.

"Messrs. Pooley, Coventry and Cox can do all the explaining they desire, they can twist the constitution to their own liking, but they cannot make the thinking public believe otherwise that that this is the most important time in the history of the Party, when every effort should have been made to get large and fully representative meetings so that the future platform of the Conservative Party could have been thoroughly discussed and the needs of every constituency fully considered and placed in proper and intelligent form for the consideration of and acceptance where practical by the convention.

TO GAIN VOTES

"Apparently every logical and important matter has been left aside for the express purpose of getting a few paltry votes for the man they desire to elect as Leader; I feel sure that the methods used by the supporters of Mr. Ladner on the south end of this Island will do more to defeat him than anything his opponents could have done. I sincerely hope that those people attending the convention will show in no uncertain manner, their resentment of such unfair tactics.

"It may be claimed that at the Esquimalt meeting no candidate was endorsed or instructions given to the delegates, but considering the personnel of the delegates chosen this was unnecessary, as those chosen to make the trip will readily toe the line and do the bidding of their dictators.

Tea room—Mrs. Jack Ratchford, Mrs. J. Gawthorn, Mrs. P. Strand and Mrs. Thor Johnson.

A musical program is being arranged to which the Moose Orchestra will be the principal contributor.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

NOVEMBER 16, 1916.

Many friends were present last night when Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Embleton, Sixth Avenue West, celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary. Prize winners at whist were: ladies' first, Mrs. Toomire; ladies' second, Miss Birnie; men's second, C. C. Loop; men's second, Phil McDonald.

No decision has yet been reached by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Co. with respect to the application of John Emerson for a site at Seal Cove where he proposes the erection of a sawmill.

In a debate last night at the Fortnightly Club that the time was not ripe for the Presbyterian Church to enter into Union the negative side won. The affirmative speakers were E. H. Patterson, D. C. McRae and Douglas Stork while the negative side was taken by C. R. Murray, W. Smith and W. Turnbull. The gathering was presided over by D. McCorkindale.

It is not nice for men to talk about women's apparel but Jake says he does not like the length of his mother-in-law's stays.

The other day a summons was issued to a person for broadcasting without a license. It was at an afternoon tea.

The great tragedy is being nutty and not knowing it.

Chances are made to be taken
If you would bring home the bacon
But whenever I make
A flier they take
All my cash before I awaken.

Think of it boys and girls, it once was thought wicked to whistle on Sundays.

The Prince of Wales has taken to chewing gum, so now we must expect to see all the jaws working on Nob Hill.

The Prince once said by gum
I wish you'd give me some,
For I'm tickled to see
How delightfully
The Wrigley they chew and keep mum.
