HON. S. F. TOLMIE
CONSERVATIVE LEADER.

The Conservative deadlock at the Kamloops convention seems to have been of great benefit to the party for as a result they have chosen a man to lead them who is much better fitted for the work than any of those previously mentioned for the position.

Simon Fraser Tolmie, who was the final choice of the convention, is an outstanding man as an agriculturist and one who it is expected will not stoop to any of the pettiness which has often characterized the provincial politicians. While he has had no experience in the provincial House and knows little of parliamentary leadership, he has been official organizer for the Conservative party in Canada for several years and that experience should stand him in good stead as the leader of the party in British Columbia.

It is difficult to see how the Conservatives could have secured a better leader than they have done. If he is elected to the Legislature in the near future it will be a contest between two farmers, Farmer John Oliver and Farmer Simon Fraser Tolmie.

BACK TO THE LAND FOR A LEADER.

Readers of history will remember how the Romans found it necessary to take a man from between the handles of a plow to save the city from the attacking enemy. So today the farmer is to the fore. John Oliver, who was never anything else but a farmer before he entered politics has been one of the great successes of provincial statesmanship. S. F. Tolmie was taken from the farm when a union candidate was needed during the war and both Liberals and Conservatives supported him wholeheartedly for neither knew to which party he belonged and both claimed him. He was returned then by a huge majority in Victoria and has been returned at two general elections since as a Conservative, and during the Meighen administration held the position of minister of agriculture for which he was well fitted.

NEARLY A LEADER,
BUT NOT QUITE.

Leon Ladner came very near to being leader of the party. He had a majority vote of the convention but was unable to secure the desired sixty per cent, something which his opponents apparently banked on when they framed the convention constitution. Hitherto a majority vote has carried.

However, Mr. Ladner will be able to continue his parliamentary work at Ottawa and if an opportunity should arise for a Conservative government to again take the reins of office in the federal field, Mr. Ladner will undoubtedly be a possibility for a ministerial position, if he is then a member.

Senator Taylor, the choice of a section of the convention, is almost unknown in modern politics. He is the owner of the New Westminster Columbian, a strongly partisan daily newspaper, which has never made any great mark in the newspaper field, although it has been a financial success.

W. J. Bowser, who dropped out near the beginning and who was the force behind Senator Taylor, is probably out for good. It is not likely that he will again attempt to lead the party in this province but is much more likely to essay the federal field, possibly as a successor to Mr. Tolmie.

KING APPROVES
CANADIAN APPOINTMENT.

The new dignity of the Canadian nation was emphasized yesterday when King George in person approved the appointment of Hon. Vincent Massey as minister of His Majesty's Canadian Government to Washington. This is the first appointment of the kind approved by the King and is an indication of the change which has come about as a result of the Imperial Conference.

DUTHIE TALKS OF NEW MILL

SAYS AT SMITHERS HE HAS PLANS FOR CONCENTRATOR AT HUDSON BAY MINE

With the single stipulation that the property maintains its present rate of progress on improvement, J. F. Duthie announced on Thursday evening, his plans for erecting a concentrator on the Duthie mine after the new year, says the Interior News. Mr. Duthie returned to Smithers on Thursday evening after a trip of inspection of the mine and he did not attempt to control the enthusiasm he felt for the future of that property, which has made such sensational progress and given up a steady flow of high grade ore in the process of development during the past few years.

"One encountered in the shaft establishing depth of the property, progress on the drift to tap the ore shoots and the continuity of the ore deposits in the various workings all entered into the optimism of the owner, who saw the early necessity of embarking on operations of a major scale, of which the most pressing and first to be provided would be the mill to handle a generously estimated output of the future."

Such an enlargement of operations would mean a great deal to the mining industry throughout the interior and especially to the town of Smithers. In transportation alone a mill would mean much in the way of reduced costs to the ratio of concentration and the population around the mine would jump to big numbers.

Mr. Duthie outlined other undertakings now under way that would revolutionize the mining industry in this whole country, but details of which were as yet not available for the public.

THE MAN IN THE MOON says:

If you want to keep your name out of the newspapers, avoid fame and the bootleggers. Also give the police court a decent treatment.

Some people want to become great by means of a patent sharpener instead of a grindstone.

Some nuts develop into oak trees and other turn mostly to sap.

I know a born leader of men. She is a woman.

You have of course heard about the man who dropped a pint of bootleg liquor on the concrete pavement and it ate its way through and made a hole in the pavement and now they are going to let the next paving contract to a man who can build better concrete.

The steamers are coming so there, the steamers are coming, so there. The steamers are coming, so there. The hobos are bumming. So what in hell will do we care.

Jake says if anyone can write worse verse than I do, he's willing to donate a year's subscription to the fund for taking care of liberated idiots.

The first time a man is interviewed by a newspaper he feels about as much put up as if some person wanted to borrow ten dollars from him.

The man who is just as good as anybody does not have to say so.

Just about one more big fight and Tunney will be writing his memoirs.

I wish I was a Conservative so that I could shout over the choice of the new leader.

To a convention I would go. To find out what I know. I'd just like to be one in political fun—

Oh how I would cackle and crow.

What a wonderful old world this would be if there were no enemies.

And what a delightful planet this would be to live on if there were no friends who tell the same old stories over and over again.

I know a lot of real brave boys around this town. They are always going to hit somebody.

British Columbia is the finest province upon earth just now according to the Ontario moderates and the worst province this side of Hades according to the prohibitionists. You can prove anything from us.

The greatest country in all this wide wide world is right here. The greatest little town in this wide wide world is right here, and the greatest man in this great little town in this great wide world — Oh Jimmynie, why should I say so?

Piles QUICKLY BANISHED

"I suffered years of agony through blind itching piles," says Mrs. W. Hughes, of Hochelaga St., Montreal.

"Pain, loss of strength, complete misery, was my daily lot until I came across Zam-Buk. I know now that there is nothing on earth to equal this grand herbal healer. Since it lifted me from misery my earnest wish is to make Zam-Buk known to all sufferers." — See Box.

Mrs. Reg. Hogan of Pacific was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taft during the week.

A recent Vancouver paper contained an account of the death in the Vancouver Military Hospital of George (Yorkie) Edwards, a well known old timer of this district. Mr. Edwards first came into the valley during construction days and took up a pre-emption in the Kalamalka district. He was overseas during the war and he had never been in good health since coming back. For some years after the war he was employed as watchman on the C.N.R., later going to the Military Hospital for treatment. He was a native of Yorkshire, England.

J. K. Gordon returned on Wednesday from a three week's holiday spent in Seattle.

Mrs. Jas. Richmond who spent several days in Prince Rupert during the week end, returned home on Wednesday.

Terrace experienced the first snow storm of the season on Thursday morning. Some snow, accompanied by a real Terrace wind, ushered in winter in earnest. So far the thermometer is too low to expect a snowfall in any quantity.

Mrs. V. Soucie entertained the Ladies Guild on Wednesday afternoon, when final arrangements were made for their sale of work for Saturday, Nov. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Sundal entertained on Tuesday evening at an enjoyable bridge party when six tables were played. High scores were made by Miss Easthope and Dr. Turpel. After refreshments were served a very pleasant hour was spent in dancing.

D. W. Davis returned on Wednesday from a short business trip to Prince Rupert.

A number of the town people have enjoyed several days good skating on the slough at Braun's Island, where quite a stretch of splendid ice was available.

H. H. Halliwell returned from Prince Rupert on Wednesday after a short business trip.

P. C. Bishop is this week installing another large engine in connection with his electric light plant. When it is in working condition Mr. Bishop expects to have sufficient power for all purposes required.

The W.A. of the Anglican Church met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. T. J. Marsh with Miss Dawson as hostess.

There was a sound of revelry when all the natives turned out with drum and cornet Saturday evening to welcome the Salvation Army officers. In the party was Colonel and Mrs. Gideon Eller, secretary of Canada West, with headquarters at Winnipeg; Staff Captain Merritt, who is an expert on the concertina as well as a fine singer; Major Church, editor of the War-Cry; Adjutant Kerr who is well known in this district. A meeting which was open to the public, was held in the Assembly Hall, and was well attended. The party spent part of Sunday at Glen, Vowell, and on Monday went east in their tour.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wyman at the Hospital on Monday, the 21st. Congratulations.

Johnnie Sayers, known as the care-free taxi driver, left recently for Stewart where he will spend the winter. He intends returning in the spring to resume his business.

A party of Indians left for the south accompanied by Constable Wyman, where they will take a course in farming or domestic science work at Okalla.

Miss Hazel Cox has returned to Prince Rupert having spent a few days visiting her home, and her sister who is now reported on the way to recovery after her very serious illness in the hospital.

Some of the advocates and lovers of sport are wishing that some of those deer which have been seen around Kitwanga would put in an appearance here. Doubtless there would be some venison steak and onions on many a menu list.

Corp. Hall of Teekwa is in charge of the police station during the absence of Constable Wyman.

"Did you inform father you intended to marry me?" asked the girl with flirty hair.

"Yes," answered the young man with large eye-glasses. "All he said was that he wasn't very well acquainted with me and he didn't see why I should tell him my troubles." — Washington Star.

After taking three bottles I was completely rid of my cough, and have never had a cold since."
