Taking This Port More Seriously.

Prince Rupert is being taken more seriously of late. People in Vancouver and Edmonton and at other places now realize fully that we are a port and a port with a future. They see in this place all sorts of prospects and are willing to recognize our right to a place in the sun. In spite of all this we shall have to fight every inch of the ground and must not expect too much all at once.

Government Has Been Patient With Opposition.

The Dominion Government has apparently had it within its power to stop the debate on the address by moving the closure. This is a rather drastic measure and one that governments do not like to resort to. If it is done too early in the debate the Government is likely to be open to the accusation of trying to shut off criticism. This time, however, they seem to have delayed too long. They should have applied the closure long ago. There is a limit to obstructive tactics and they should not be encouraged in any party. Liberals have been guilty of similar tactics in past years but usually have not been given the latitude allowed the opposition in this House. Meighen and his cohorts have made a record.

Circulation Audit. And How It Is Done.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations, whose man completed an audit of the Daily News circulation books yesterday, is very thorough in its methods. The auditor checks up the records of all subscribers and examines the receipt stubs. He checks carefully the street sales, the waste papers, the sales to agents. Then he examines the newsprint invoices and the daily press run and can tell almost exactly how many papers should be printed from a roll of paper. The daily record is sworn to and investigation is made into anything that might look like free circulation, which is not allowed. It would take a clever person to put it over one of the auditors as he has had experience with those who try to pad their circulation.

Any newspaper that has padded its circulation figures does not ask for an audit. To do so would be fatal.

Get Together Without Opposition.

The advice of Mayor Taylor that the Pacific ports should get together for their mutual benefit without opposition to each other, is the kind of advice we should follow. We have everything to gain by standing shoulder to shoulder to fight for our rights. We have been gradually getting better treatment in regard to freight rates but there is still more to get before we have equal treatment.

Just now the grain is going out by Eastern United States ports when it should be coming out by Western Canadian ports. By uniting our efforts we can force the East to give us that justice which we have so long been demanding.

READING ROOM FUTURE POLICY

Recommendation That it be Combined With Library and Housed in Same Building

COMMITTEE NOT EFFECTIVE

Only Three Members Present at Only Meeting of Year Alderman Stephens Says

That the reading room be placed under the management of the library board and that steps be taken in the near future to house the reading room and library in the same building was the recommendation made last night by the reading room committee to the city council and adopted by them. Also it was decided to continue all the magazines and papers for the reading room the same as last year and to add two new ones, the Manitoba Free Press and the Toronto Saturday Night.

Discussion Over Papers

The list of magazines and papers recommended by the committee omitted the Daily Herald, of London, England, organ of the labor party there and also the Socialist Review. Alderman Larsen asked that these be retained. They had been put on the list by special request. The Socialist Review had on its staff high class writers and was educational in nature.

Alderman Stephens said if they went into the list they would see there were three other labor papers and that ought to be enough for any one class.

No Labor Paper Left

Alderman Larsen urged that if these were taken off there was not a labor paper left.

Alderman Stephens said complaint had been made that there were not enough Canadian papers. Labor was represented on the committee and there had been no objection to the change.

Alderman Larsen said labor people here took a great interest in labor affairs in the Old Country and he thought the city could well afford to purchase these papers. He moved that they be allowed to remain. Alderman Brown seconded and it was carried, after Acting Mayor Casey had urged its adoption.

Amalgamation

Alderman Casey then drew attention to the proposal to amalgamate the reading room with the library. The reading room was taken advantage of by men who had no homes. It was a sort of club room where they read and discussed and made general use of it. The work of the library was quite different.

To take the reading room away would inconvenience a lot of patrons.

Alderman Stephens said the reading room committee was a joke as it met only once a year. The library committee met once a month and was functioning. They should pass the reading room out of the joke stage and put it under a committee that functioned. The two should run hand in hand, be looked after by the same librarian and janitor and the heating plant should be the same. Sooner or later they would require to house both in a building. The library building was small and they did not know how long they would be allowed to use it.

Alderman Greer said considerable money would have to be spent as the building was in bad shape.

Alderman Brown said they would be loath to see the men lose their club room. There were always men there.

The report, which was carried follows:

The Report

Your reading room committee met on the 24th instant for the consideration of the business of the year 1926.

Those in attendance were Ald. M. S. Stephens, chairman; Fred Lauza, and J. J. Gillis.

The following recommendations are respectfully submitted for your consideration; all having been unanimously passed by the committee:

That in the interest of efficiency the council be asked to consider the combining of the duties of the reading room committee with those of the library committee whose duties are similar;

That the reading room and library be permanently housed in the same building, under the same management as soon as it
