Prices Realized for Consignments from Northern Country Just Arrived

ized for the first large consignment of spring furs from the Peace River and northern British Columbia districts, valued all over $15,000, sold at the auction rooms in Edmonton are considered highly satisfactory. - An exceptionally large and choice lot of beaver sold at a better price than that ruling on the eastern markets. Prices for this skin ranged from $12 to $35. ith one extra fine lot of skins averaging $26.

Mink Steady

fair offering of fisher showslight improvement over last sale prices, better grades bringing up to $85, while mink was steady at $12 for best lots of winter-caught pelts. A small offering of badger sold in good demand at $3 and $8 and ermine showed a further decline of 5 per cent, from last sale at $1.00 o $1.15. Offerings of bear were ight, but of fair quality, to sed at $5 to $9. A good lot of lynx advanced a per cent., with ops selling up to $19.

A good collection of red fox skins sold steady with last sale prices, winter-caught pelts averaging $13, while cross fox sold in good demand at fully steady prices of from $18 to $22. The best skins in a small offering of silver foxes brought up to $85 with one extra choice pelt up to and tops up to $42.

Marten Neglected

Offerings of marien are still somewhat neglected with best sale. Spring rats show a decline of 5 per cent., owing to the large number of shot pelts in around $1.30. Ofter sold firm Keith Hotel. with last sale prices at $22 and skunk sold well at $2. A small last sale values.
