MINISTER OF LANDS STATES HI VIEWS ON MATTER OF

so. Formerly the idea of the people here was to make money and get out, whereas today the idea was to make homes here. The spirit of optimism was reflected in a delegation which waited on him the day previous and in the program of road building they outlined. In the early days of road the only difficulty in the way was that of raising the money to build them. The road building movement had entirely changed during the past ten years with the development of motor traffic. The whole system of the province had to be practically rebuilt. A short time ago a trunk road system for the province had been laid out which included a road to connect Prince Rupert with the outside world. It had been comparatively easy to connect up as far as Hazelton and now a person could drive from Vancouver to that point. The next section

Mr. Pattullo stated. The section from Hazelton to Terrace he was advised would cost $350,000 in the two years. willing to tackle even that obstacle. In the south people were objecting to taxation but he found no such cry here. They were willing to spend a tire sympathy with this movement. He had told the delegation that it was planned to build to Galloway Rapids next year but the delegation wanted him to go farther than that. He told Queen Charlotte City. This would be the minister of finance. This year purpose they were preparing an elaborate program covering three or four years, and he assured them it was the policy, so far as money permitted, to continue the work on the highway from Prince Rupert to Terrace.
