JUDGE YOUNG HEARS CASES AT SMITHERS

Dominic Dellas Appeal Fails and Civil Suit is Held Over for Consideration

SMITHERS, Jan. 29.—The appeal of Dominic Dellas against a sentence of three months for being in possession of stolen property came up before Judge Young at the sittings of the County Court on Thursday, but was thrown out of court by his honor as being out of order and Dellas started for Okalla the same evening. L. W. Patmore represented the Crown and H. L. Robinson the defendant.

In the civil suit of Kennedy vs. Bell, the judge after hearing considerable argument, requested counsel on each side to submit their cases in writing and he would consider it. J. S. Kennedy was represented by H. L. Robinson and Bell by M. Gonzales.

The four minors up for their were given a stern talking to and let out on suspended sentence, on their parents bonds of $500.

POLICE STORMBOUND GOING TO ISLANDS

Having been stormbound aboard the launch Pachena, Capt. Paul Armour, off Banks Island, for some 36 hours, the provincial police party which left here Tuesday night to investigate the results of a drunken brawl at Lookport reached their destination yesterday afternoon. It is expected they will return to the city tonight. In the meantime the local provincial police office reports that no details of the trouble have yet been received.

A plot is not without honor, save in the scenarios.
