NEW ENGINEER ACCEPTS POST

H. McLean Will Arrive Here on February 15 to Take Position With Municipality

H. McLean of Moose Jaw, who received the selection of the city council on Tuesday night last for the position of city engineer, has wired acceptance of the post to City Solicitor E. F. Jones. Mr. McLean, who is an electrical as well as a civil engineer with wide experience, will be here on February 15 to assume his duties.

His Record

Mr. McLean was born in Middlesex County, Ontario, near London, and is 46 years of age.

He started his career by teaching near London, then taking a six year course of engineering in the State University of Michgan at Ann Arbor, obtaining B Sc. degrees in mechanical and electrical engineering. He also completed a course in mining engineering and has been a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada since 1914.

His experience includes three years in the design, construction and operation of steam and electric railways; seven years as city engineer of Sarnia; four years in munition manufacturing, and four years as manager of the Moose Jaw Electric Railway Co. He has designed, constructed and operated water works and electric light and power plants.

Mr. McLean recovered last summer from an attack of typhoid fever and, in the desire for a change of climate, he applied for the position of city engineer in Prince Rupert.

CAPE SCOTT LEAVES BEAVER PASS TO TOW CRIPPLED SHIP HERE

Having been held up at Beaver Pass for some 36 hours on account of the stiff gale in Hecate Straits, the tug Cape Scott put out this morning for Queen Charlotte City to pick up and bring to this port the crippled steamer Prince John. If the elements do not intervene again, tug and tow should reach here some time tomorrow.

In the meantime, the steamer Prince Charles is being prepared at the dry dock to take up the Prince John's run and will leave tomorrow noon. Capt. E. Mabbs, who has been acting as chief officer on the Prince Rupert, left that vessel on its return from Anyox this morning to stand by the Prince Charles and possibly take her south.

NEW ARMY CITADEL OPEN IN EDMONTON

Lieut.-Governor Performs Opening Ceremony of Fine Building for Christian Work

EDMONTON, Jan. 28.— Fond dreams of local Salvationists blossomed into realty, when the fine new Army citadel on 102 street, just completed, was declared officially open. As Lieut.-Gov. Egbert turned the key and, following a few appropriate remarks, opened the building, there went up from many a heart a grateful prayer that the work of the Salvation Army should have thus been blessed.

For many long years, the Army had had for its headquarters a somewhat dilapidated structure on 98 street that served inadequately its purpose. Salvationists had dreamed of the day when a better building would be obtainable—a building in which the service to which the Army is dedicated might better be carried on. Opening of the spacious and well-appointed 102 street citadel brought about a realization of that dream.

Wishes Army Success

Lieut.-Gov. Egbert, in expressing his congratulations upon the completion of this fine new structure, said the Salvation Army is recognized today as one of the most important institutions in every province and in every country. The citizens of Alberta were proud, he said, to note that so fine a building as the Edmonton citadel had been made possible, and would join with him, he felt sure, in wishing the Army every success.

Following these few remarks, his honor turned the key in the outer door, and the new citadel was declared open.

ISLAND HENS ARE WORKING OVERTIME

Twenty Per Cent More Eggs Laid This Year Than is Usual at This Time

VICTORIA, Jan. 28.—Stimulated by the mild weather prevailing generally in the West, Vancouver Island hens are laying about twenty per cent more eggs now than well-bred hens should lay at this time of the year. This condition prevails in the very best regulated hen families and nothing but cold weather will stop it, according to poultry experts of the provincial government.

Figures collected by the Department of Agriculture reveal an amazing egg production by Island poultry. The Cowichan Creamery, it is stated, has handled twenty per cent more eggs this winter than for a corresponding period last year. The price of eggs, too, is less than half and it is this condition that is disturbing poultry producers.

Hens are laying so many eggs now, experts declare, that they cannot keep up the pace indefinitely. Inevitably, they say, there will come a time of reckoning, for hens' systems can produce only so many eggs in a year. The result will be a laying slump in the spring when production should be at its peak, it is believed. This, combined with the use of huge quantities of eggs for hatching purposes, will help to stabilize the egg market, it is expected.

Meanwhile few U.S. eggs are coming into Canada, according to information received here from egg distribution centres on the prairies and in the East.

A Concession

Passing Show

In a new super-cinema to be erected in London there will be a dance floor, a restaurant and reading, writing and smoking rooms. As a concession to the old fashioned prejudices of a section of the public I understand that a screen will be erected at one end of the building on which moving pictures will be shown.

MORAL RIGHT PEACE LANDS

Premier Oliver Decides B.C. Has No Legal Claim on Dominion But Block Should be Hers

VICTORIA, Jan. 27. — Facts about British Columbia's relations with the Federal Government on railway matters, which have been hidden away in dusty volumes for years, are being whipped into shape by Premier Oliver now in his fight to secure the return of the Peace River Block to this Province.

After weeks of work, the Premier has assembled exhaustive data to prove that British Columbia has a just claim to the Peace River area. These facts will be made public when he addresses the Vancouver Canadian Club on February 5. The Premier's speech on this occasion will summarize in an authoritative way, in his opinion, the Federal Government should turn the Peace River Block over to the Province immediately for use in subsidizing the construction of a railway through the rich northern hinterland.

To secure this data the Premier has read scores of old parliamentary records, long forgotten, and has sifted various features of western railway history from one old volume to another.

"My investigations satisfy me," the Premier said today, "that this province has absolutely no legal claim to the Peace River lands but that, on the other hand, our moral claim is extremely good. I am convinced that this province is entitled to the Peace River area."
