ALBERTA BILL TO ALLOW KILLING DOGS

EDMONTON, March 5.—When George Hoadley two years ago fathered a bill for the protection of Alberta bees, legislative circles buzzed for weeks.

Yesterday when Mr. Hoadley introduced a bill respecting dogs the members almost howled.

But the minister of agriculture, and of health and provincial secretary was serious. He asked first reading for the measure not yet in printed form. In order to allay merriment amongst Liberals Mr. Hoadley told them after the session that no law exists in the province outside of municipal bylaws for the destruction of vicious dogs by the police.

"Under the criminal code of Canada a policeman may order the owner to kill a vicious dog but there is no way to enforce the order," he explained. His bill he thought should be a howling success.
