City Greet Vice-Regal Envoy

Governor-General Declares Holiday For School Children

Prince Rupert today officially welcomed Canada's Governor-General, The Right Honorable Vincent Massey, P.C., C.H., M.A., D.C.L., LL.D.

His Excellency arrived aboard HMCS Sioux and last night was guest of the city at a private reception in Club 27 where he met heads of various organizations and clubs.

Welcomed by Mayor and Mrs. Harold Whalen at Ocean Dock, the vice-regal party drove directly from the destroyer to the Canadian Legion where Mr. Massey inspected men and women members of the Legion before attending the reception.

While the weatherman gave the Governor-General a taste of his "liquid sunshine" on his arrival, he backed up the city's greeting this morning with bright sunny skies.

The dapper, 65-year-old Governor-General was up early and after a visit to the giant BC Packers cold storage plant was driven to Booth Memorial High School where he addressed students from all city schools and declared the rest of the day a holiday.

In clear, concise words he told more than 800 students that meeting the young people was a highlight of his trip which began at Saint John, N.B.

He spoke of the development of Canadian spirit and urged his audience to live up to it.

"I have a certain interest in the question of holidays," he told the hushed throng, adding, "I have been told there will be no explosion from behind me when I say you may have the rest of the day off."

AT MILLER BAY
 The children clapped heartily and after A. M. Hurst, high school principal, thanked His Excellency on behalf of the students, the vice-regal party motored to Miller Bay Hospital and Columbia Cellulose plant on Watson Island.

Accompanying the Governor-General here are his secretary, Lionel Massey, and Mrs. Massey. His aides-de-camp, Lt. Lt. S. E. M. Milliken, RCAF, and Commodore K. F. Adams, came aboard the Sioux, and Captain Nicholas Eden travelled aboard the Princess Louise, arriving in the city yesterday morning.

With Mayor and Mrs. Whalen to greet the Governor-General were Lt. Cmdr. T. A. Johnstone, officer commanding HMCS Chatham; Col. S. D. Johnson, area officer commanding the reserve army, and Wing Commander John Laurie, MBE, of the RCAF.

The party, in company with the captain, executive officer and engineer officer of the Sioux, all were guests of the city at the reception.

The civic band, under the direction of Peter Lien, played the first six bars of the National Anthem as the Governor-General entered the auditorium and played soft music during the inspection.

The 55-piece Greenville Concert Band was on hand at Miller Bay Hospital when His Excellency arrived. They entertained patients prior to his arrival and after he and his party alighted from their cars struck up the first six bars of the National Anthem.

Dr. Douglas Galbraith escorted the party through the hospital.

On arrival at the Columbia Cellulose plant, His Excellency was welcomed by W. C. R. Jones, manager, and introduced to the mill staff before having lunch in the cafeteria and going on a tour of the mill.

PUBLIC RECEPTION
 The party returned to the Governor-General's private railway cars at the C.N. station and were picked up at 3 o'clock and taken to the Navy drill hall where a public reception was scheduled at which Mayor Whalen will officially welcome Mr. Massey.

F. E. Anfield, Indian superintendent here, also was scheduled to read and present to the Governor-General an address of welcome and loyalty by chiefs and chief counselors representing 3,000 native people of this area.

Several presentations were to be made to His Excellency including a gift from the city, as a memento of the visit.

The Alyans Silver Harmonic Band, under the direction of bandmaster B. A. Munro, played music prior to the arrival of the Governor-General.

LEAVES TONIGHT

The Governor-General leaves tonight for Prince George before proceeding to Edmonton. From the Alberta city he will fly to Winnipeg for the 75th anniversary of the founding of the University of Manitoba and return afterward to visit in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Massey, first Canadian-born Governor-General, plans further trips during his tenure of office and next time hopes to visit in the many smaller towns across Canada.

He will make a flying trip to the Northwest Territories in December to wind up his tour for 1952.

Jury Acquits Woman of Child Murder

WINNIPEG — A verdict of not guilty because of insanity was returned Tuesday by an assize court jury in the murder trial of a Winnipeg woman, charged with slaying her foster child in a religious frenzy last January.

Mrs. Lillian Marguerite McCullough, 53, was ordered held in jail, however, until the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor is known.

Her husband, Gavin McCullough, 53, has been confined on a similar ruling since he also was acquitted of the murder charge last May because of temporary insanity.

The two were arrested when police investigated reports they were praying in a snow-covered lot, clad only in night clothes. They found the body of the child, Martha Louise, 7, in an upstairs bedroom.

Lady Tweedsmuir 'Heartbroken' At Prospect of Park Spoilage

Distinctive added evidence that there are many admirers of Tweedsmuir Park who are dismayed by the prospect of unsightly effects caused by flooding for the Alcan project has been received by Mrs. Bartheaux, of Fort Langley, in the form of a letter from Lady Tweedsmuir, widow of the former Governor-General.

Written from Oxford, England, Lady Tweedsmuir's letter to Mrs. Bartheaux says:

"I have received your letter and I cannot tell you how deeply I am in sympathy with all you say. My husband and I, camped on Intata Lake and I shall never forget the beauty of Tweedsmuir Park. I have never seen anything so lovely as Tweedsmuir Park and I am heartbroken to think of it being spoiled."

Sudden Death Claims B.C. Political Figure

E. C. Carson Stricken With Heart Attack at 58

VICTORIA — E. C. (Ernie) Carson, former public works minister in British Columbia and perhaps only weeks away from becoming leader of the provincial Conservative party, died yesterday. He was 58.

Mr. Carson's family said the Progressive Conservative Member of Legislature for Lillooet died of a heart attack in the garden of his home in neighboring Oak Bay.

Mr. Carson, returned to the legislature in every election since 1941, became minister of mines and trade and industry in 1942 and in 1946 became works minister in B.C.'s Coalition government. He held this cabinet post until the divorce of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives early in 1952.

A former cowpoke, he was born June 9, 1894, on the Carson family ranch in the Cariboo country of the province's interior.

Mr. Carson, a merchant as well as a rancher in later years, served overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in the First World War.

Elected as a Conservative in the 1928 election which carried the Tolmie government into office, he announced himself as independent for a time when he disagreed with government policies.

He met defeat in 1933 but was returned in 1934 and in every election since 1941, latest being the election on June 12 of this year which resulted in Social Credit forming the government.

In the June election Progressive Conservative strength in the legislature dropped from 11 to four seats and Mr. Carson since has been house leader of the party.

SLATED AS LEADER
 New Progressive Conservative leader—Herbert Anscomb has announced he is resigning—will be chosen before Dec. 15 and political sources felt Mr. Carson was the most likely successor.

Survivors include his widow and three children.

BATTLE-SCARRED KOREA

Korea (CP)—A blonde widow of the Korean "mother" temple to three Korean children.

Wan" to the three is Marjorie Heath of Seattle. She is the widow of the 2nd Royal Canadian Infantry, killed in action in 1941.

She came to do what she could for the cause for which she died, Mrs. Heath was in New York in March this year to work for the United Nations Korea Rehabilitation Agency.

She arrived in Korea in August, and her "mothering" assignment came in September, when she came to Seoul as secretary to a film unit doing a film on Korea for UNKRA.

SHOW'S WAR RAVAGES
 Called "Hava-No" (pidgin English over here for "have not" or "out of stock"), the script was written by Pat Frank, author of "Mr. Adam."

Its aim is to dramatize the plight of today's Korean family, to show how every family has been touched by the war, has suffered damage and injury, lost some member. The picture also will be an indirect appeal for support for the UNKRA.

Main stars are Mrs. Heath's three charges—two girls, aged 15 and 10, and a boy aged 14. There is a supporting cast of United States Army officers and other ranks.

The families of all three children were formerly well-to-do. Fourteen-year-old Shim Dong Chul, the boy star, worked more than one year as house-boy with an army unit to save up enough money to return to school.

Mrs. Heath, whose husband was a former professor at the University of Alberta, is a graduate of the same university. Before joining UNKRA she worked in Montreal.

LUXURIOUS QUARTERS
 In the luxurious, Japanese-built house in Seoul she now shares with other members of the film unit, she says the war might be a million miles away.

"We are walled off as it were. You are served on chinaware, sleep between sheets. It makes you feel uncomfortable to be so comfortable."

She is amazed at the Koreans' will to learn. The girl
