CANADA NEEDS PUBLICITY IN OLD COUNTRY

SUFFERING FROM LACK OF IT SAYS CANADIAN WRITING FROM LONDON

Canada stands badly in need of more and better publicity in Great Britain, writes Horace T. Hunter in the Financial Post. While in London, I discussed this matter with one hundred or more prominent Canadians. Many of these are associated with Canadian companies and others have embarked on some enterprise in Great Britain. From almost every one of them I heard the same story, Canada is losing a great opportunity through lack of a comprehensive, forceful and intelligent publicity campaign.

Such a campaign would be of the greatest assistance in securing settlers, attracting capital, and developing markets in Great Britain for our agricultural and manufactured products.

The High Commissioner for Canada, Hon. P. C. Larkin, has done much since his appointment four years ago. He established "Canada House" on Trafalgar Square and thus brought our head office to the most prominent and most central location in London. He has taken a prominent place in the business and social life of England. This has brought him in contact with a number of big investors and he has persuaded many of them to come to Canada to investigate conditions at first hand. He collected over $130,000,000 due us from foreign countries. He was instrumental in having cattle embargo removed. He has acted as adviser to the Canadian Government on many matters of confidential nature which required the services of a man of large calibre, one who has been accustomed to handling big business questions. He has insisted that at all public functions Canada's representative should have the position of an ambassador and not that of the representative of a Crown Colony. All this has been of great value to Canada and it paves the way for a big forward policy of organized publicity in Great Britain which should be undertaken by the Canadian government at the earliest possible moment.

PUBLICITY MANAGER

We need a man in London as publicity manager for Canada. He should be a trained newspaper man with a good "nose for news." He should have a thorough knowledge of Canadian business conditions; in fact, such an experience as a man could get only by filling successfully some important executive position with a large and aggressive company. Such a man could widen the influence of our High Commissioner, Agents General for the Provinces, and Trade Commissioners.

Some publicity work is, of course, being carried on at the present time, but it is not on the scale our interests demand. We have not put the job in the hands of experienced specialists. The campaign of the Empire Marketing Board, details of which were given in a previous issue, will help to create a receptive attitude on the part of the people of Great Britain, but it will not do the specific work Canada requires.

IMMIGRANTS AND CAPITAL

We know we have wonderful opportunities for immigrants and the only reason they are not crowding to our shores in embarrassingly large numbers is because we have not convinced them of the great advantages we are prepared to share with them.

We need capital for the development of our natural resources and for turning raw material into finished products. We are rich in water power, minerals, timber, fisheries and fertile fields. We have a home market with large buying power and our large and growing export business indicates the possibilities for developing in many lines. Every known success beckons others to come and do likewise. Capital is consistently looking for profitable fields for investment, but it devolves on us to tell clearly and often what we have got and to create that feeling of interest and confidence which will bring to us the capital we require.

HAVE CAPITAL TO INVEST

In spite of her great losses, Great Britain still has a large amount of capital for investment. Heavy taxation at home makes particularly attractive, sound investments with a long pull. Shawinigan Water and Power, Price Brothers, St. Maurice Valley Corporation and other big companies have placed large blocks of their securities in Great Britain.

Judicious advertising of Canada, the steady development she is making, her great resources and stable form of government would enable investment bankers in Great Britain to build up a splendid clientele who would purchase Canadian securities and then keep adding to them.

We have not only opportunities for settlers and for the profitable investment of capital, but we are producing many things which can be sold readily abroad as their merit becomes known. Our northern climate has given to our fruits, such as apples, plums, peaches, a flavor which is at once the envy and despair of growers in other countries. Our tobacco has been supplementing that of Kentucky in the British market. Our No. 1 hard wheat makes the best flour in the world and millers in other countries are compelled to mix some of it with their own softer varieties to compete with us. We can make excellent cheese, bacon and butter, but much remains to be done to standardize the quality in these lines as well as in many others.

Our cheese won the first prize in the International Dairy Show in London in October. Our honey has been first in four consecutive years at the same show.

SAVE US FROM DEPRESSION

We have taken first place in the world in the production of newsprint, and can manufacture many silk and wood products to great advantage.

During the past five years our exports in these and other lines have saved us from a severe business depression, and with domestic business improving our further development of the export field should bring us unparalleled prosperity.

Unquestionably, we have something to advertise. It is merely a question of finding favorable markets and getting started at the job.

Great Britain has a population of nearly 50,000,000. Many of these have enormous permanent incomes from foreign investments and trade. We are selling to them over half a billion dollars' worth of goods. This, however, is only about 8 per cent of their total imports.

De we realize the vastness and immensity of this market? It is four to five times as great as our own. If we sold to Great Britain all our exportable surplus of apples they would only last them one week. They consume annually bacon, pork and other hog products to the value of about $325,000,000. Our exports in this line are less than 10 per cent of their requirements.

GRAND TRUNK

I believe the old Grand Trunk management, itself so culpable, was permitted to poison the sources of public information abroad to Canada's very great prejudice, while the case for Canada was permitted largely to go by default. As a result, the Dominion, which by its action preserved to the British investing public the bulk of its investment in Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific (which otherwise might have been lost) has never received the credit due its great financial sacrifice, and will probably always carry an undeserved stigma in that connection. This could have been largely avoided by earlier appreciation of the possibilities for harm of Grand Trunk propaganda.

A good press agent would have the ability to sense the implications involved in unfriendly references on the platform and in the press, and he would have the judgment, information and experience necessary to deal with them promptly.

He could also spike the guns of those fakers, who mislead the British public by exaggerated statements, and load them up with certain mining stocks and other securities which never had a chance of success. Every misrepresentation of this kind makes it more difficult for reputable firms to sell good Canadian securities.

STAGE "NEWS" SITUATIONS

Newspapers in Great Britain will use more matter issued by the press agent of a large advertiser than would be the case in either Canada or the United States. I am not suggesting, however, that Canada's press agent should supply stereotyped matters to newspapers, but that he should stage situations which newspapers would be glad to cover, and that he should suggest timely articles which editors would feel were of real interest to their readers.

Australia and South Africa have done a great deal of clever work along these lines. They are both advertising in large space in the British press and this has stirred up an interest among their readers which has caused them to feature these two countries prominently in the news columns.

Mr. Bruce received at least three times as much publicity in Great Britain during the Imperial Conference as Mr. King. This was due to the practical nature of his addresses and to the excellent work of his economic advisers and press agents.

A publicity manager must keep constantly in mind the people he wants to reach and the things he wishes to advertise to them.

He should utilize every agency which can be of assistance to us. A permanent exhibit in London of Canadian products should be part of the program. The use of the cinema showing Canadian products should go with the exhibit and should also be shown widely throughout Great Britain.

I am not attempting to work out a complete plan, but merely to give enough details to indicate the great service an able publicity manager with the necessary assistants could accomplish. Canada needs publicity in Great Britain and suffers from the limited publicity it now gets there.

SPORT CHAT

Considerable controversy has appeared in the American press recently as to the large amount of money expended each year in that country for sport. Now one of the leaders in the sport world comes forward with the assertion that the American public spent only $50,000,000 last year for sporting goods whereas about $98,000,000 was expended for gum in the same period.

Only one world's champion has come through the boxing campaign this year without being dethroned. He is Fidel La Barba, the Los Angeles flyweight, who has successfully defended his title since he lifted the crown from Frankie Genaro's head in June 1925.

Among those who shattered records in 1926 is Babe Ruth who, during the World's series, was responsible for breaking nineteen records. Four home runs during the series,—three in one game,—was his record at bat, to say nothing of his dazzling fielding. The series also was notable for breaking all records for attendance and paid admissions, there being over $2,000,000 paid to witness the games of which the winning players each got over $5,000, while the losing players share was well over $3,000.

ALASKA S.S. CO. BUYS NEW VESSEL

Sister Ship of Yukon Will be Placed on Run Next Season

A new passenger liner, the Panama, sister ship to the steamer Yukon, has been purchased by the Alaska Steamship company for the Alaska route from Seattle.

Captain C. A. Glassock left Seattle recently for Panama to bring the new vessel to Seattle where she will be remodelled for the Alaska service. During his absence Captain Jock Livingston, well known navigator, formerly on the Jefferson and other Alaska Steamship Company steamers, has been transferred to the Yukon.

The addition of the Panama will give the Alaska Steamship Company three large ships for the westward run, the Alaska, Yukon and the new vessel. The Alameda and probably the Northwestern will be scheduled on the southeastern Alaska run.

The Panama, formerly the Havana, is a steel ship, operating between Panama and New York. She is 360 feet long, 5,638 gross, tonnage, 3,476 net tonnage, 50 feet beam, 19.9 feet depth of hold 3,000 horsepower and carries a crew of 120 men. She was built in Philadelphia in 1898.

J. McRae and Roy Sweet were further remanded in the police court this morning for another eight days on charges of assault.
