S. W. Africa Sees Wealth

By OSCAR TAMSEN

JOHANNESBURGH, South Africa (Reuters) - Diamonds, copper, karakul sheep and fish are bringing wealth to the barren wastelands of South-West Africa, one-time German colony mandated to South Africa by the old League of Nations.

In the last five years the territory has been transformed into one of the continent's fastest-growing industrial and commercial centres.

diamond and copper mining in- has been appointed to the that serves all of Canada's ter dustries. Sales of diamonds and copper reached a new mineral production record at $43,400,000 at the end of last year.

In addition, a new largescale fishing industry and the exporting of karakul pelts have injected new life into the economy of this arid stretch of African coastline.

South-West Africa is a vast territory 900 miles long and 350 miles wide, with a coastal strip of desert bordering the South Atlantic Ocean and rising to a central plateau running from north to south.

Politically, it is a separate territory under mandate to South Africa, aitnough the ties between the two countries are growing closer and its economy has in most respects been in-

Nanaimo Mayor Joins Socreds

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) - Mayor Earle Westwood of Nanaimo has joined the Social Credit party. He said today he had joined the party three weeks ago, but denied he had made any commitment to be a candidate in the next provincial election.

"So far, I am merely a member," he told newspaper men. "Nanaimo has got a rotten deal from the old-line parties for 20 years," said Mayor Westwood. "Let's try something new."

Earlier, E. J. Brewster, ousted as president of the Nanaimo-Islands Social Credit Association, claimed he was voted out of office by a group of unqualified delegates.

He charged the group was the spearhead of a movement backing Mayor Westwood for a candidate in the next election. Brewster was defeated in the June 12 election.
