Railway Problems For A Province.

No Canadian province can afford to go into the railway building business. That is plainly evident from the results obtained. There is no need to go to Ontario for an example. It is right in the West. British Columbia has her P.G.E. problem and Alberta has her E.D. & B.C. connecting Edmonton with the Peace River. Both are a drag upon the provinces concerned. Alberta has offered a favorable sale of her railway to the C.P.R. which has been refused and now it is proposed to make an offer to the Dominion Government. There is about twenty pleting the fisheries than comes million dollars against it and they are offering to sell for less than half that amount, shouldering the balance of the debt themselves.

Discussing future action the Edmonton Journal says edi-should be considered as against torially:

The claim of the railway to a subsidy as a colonization road has been frequently urged. Its soundness was admitted by the federal authorities waters contiguous to American attain their dearest wishes and when they paid a subsidy of $6,200 per mile on fifty-two miles waters, stands for absolute and they should in justice to Alberta extend this to the whole equality of opportunity and what a terrible world this would system. "It is very desirable to have it incorporated in one of the catch these fish of Canadian oritranscontinental systems rather than operated by the govern- gin in traps and purse-seines? ment as a separate enterprise. The people of Alberta as a If the Americans are bent on those people who have not whole are anxious to have the province get out of the railway ruining the run of fish at these business as soon as possible. An attempt was made by a woman fanatie to murder Pre- respective governments concernmier Mussolini. Doubtless she was inspired by lofty motives in ed. Seemingly they are from democratic progress she would be sacrificing herself for the sake of her country.

Similarly those loyalists who would put down the so-called Reds by force and stop them talking. They believe they are doing the future. It would now seem their duty to the country by stopping the mouths of those who they think would injure her.

Similar reasoning was used by the Catholics who burned Protestant hereties to save the souls of those they burned or others who might be influenced by them and also the Protestants International Halibut Commiswho burned Catholics and the patriots of old who drove out and murdered the heathen in the name of religion. The soviet rulers who have murdered almost a million people in Russia since the North, is quoted as saying: last revolution have been inspired by similar purposes. They would murder for the good of their country.
