QUEBEC CUT OF LUMBER LARGE

Billion and Half Feet of Logs Being Got Out This Winter

QUEBEC, Feb. 20.—The lumber cut of the province of Quebec for the winter of 1925-26 is expected to be about 1,500,000,000 feet, it was announced by C. G. Piche, chief forester in the provincial government. Lack of snow during January throughout the province made little difference in the lumbering operations in the 350 camps which have been opened, for, whereas in some districts too much snow fell early in the season, the fact that practically none fell during January stabilized matters, and rendered the roads just right for active work.

In all, some thirty thousand men are scattered throughout the province. Hygienic conditions are reported to be vastly improved over previous years, for the forestry men employed by the provincial government, some two hundred in number, are visiting each of the camps in turn, and seeing that the new rules and regulations laid down by the provincial health bureau are observed in full. In addition to this work, these foresters are also charged with enforcing the law regarding the minimum growth of timber that can be felled. The 1925-26 timber cut is expected to be completed about the end of April, but long before that the provincial forestry department will have started their plans in connection with the operations for next winter. Mr. Piche stated that his department would this month start arrangements for next winter's work in the forests of the province.

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN BY MRS. M. THOMPSON TO NUMBER OF HER FRIENDS

On Thursday evening a very pleasant social affair took place when Mrs. M. Thompson gave a birthday party in her apartments on Third Avenue. The evening was spent in games, dancing, singing and recitations. W. H. Waldorf gave an exhibition of hypnotism. Nels Larsen's antics when he imagined himself to be a dancing bear proved very amusing. At midnight supper was served and in the early hours of the morning the festivities finally came to a close when all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

Those present beside the hostess were Dwight Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scadden, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. E. Saxon, Miss Pearl Collier, Master Arthur Linstead, Mrs. O. Linstead, Vic Marckland, Nels Larson, A. Prophet, W. Way, J. Prescott, W. H. Waldorf and A. McIvor.

TEA AND SALE TODAY BY BAPTIST LADIES

Affair is in Progress in Church Parlors this Afternoon

A tea and sale of home cooking and plain sewing is being held this afternoon in the church parlors by the Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church. Mrs. C. E. Larkin, president of the Aid, is receiving and Mrs. Frank Morris is general convener. Mrs. J. S. Macdonald is in charge of the tea room with Miss Hughes, Mrs. Hewiston, Mrs. C. O. Campbell, Mrs. W. Darton and Mrs. A. Ivarson as her assitants. Mrs. W. S. Hammond is convener of the home cooking table assisted by Mrs. Jud Thurber and Mrs. Hibbard and Mrs. J. A. Lindsay are in charge of the sale of plain sewing. Mrs. Lemon is acting as cashier.

SPORT CHAT

Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer, is about to break into print again with a series of "sensational disclosures." The disclosures will undoubtedly be as profitable to Jack as they may be sensational. In any case, he announces that he will tell the true inside story of his split with Jack Kearns with whom he abruptly ended partnership after his wedding to Estelle Taylor. Jack says he will also tell the story of the deal for the battle of the century, why he failed to knock out Tom Gibbons at Shelby, the secret of his battle with Willard, how Kearns acted in crucial moments, the quarrel over Estelle Taylor and what he thinks of Wills and Tunney and when he will fight.

Commencing today and ending next Friday, the second annual winter carnival at Vanderhoof is now being held. One of the most important events will be the queen contest which will be in progress throughout the week until the Athletic Association dance on Friday night when the standings of the candidates will be announced. There will also be staged during the week a number of winter games including hockey and skating. The proceeds of the carnival will be devoted to the development of a skating rink. The proceeds of the first carnival last winter made it possible to establish a rink this season.

GRAND NATIONAL IS GREAT EVENT

Preparations Being Made For Great Steeplechase Next Month

40 JUMPS IN 4½ MILES

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(By Canadian Press.)—The winter steeplechasing will finish in its yearly blaze of glory, and the 1926 flat racing season will be inaugurated, near the close of next month with the 86th renewal of the Grand National at Aintree on March 26, and the 73rd running of the Lincoln Handicap at Lincoln two days earlier.

Grand National entrants this year are considered well up to the usual standard. Though the bulk of the 48 candidates are of only average quality, some good horses, many of them with long experience over the difficult course at the Liverpool track, have accepted the weights allotted them.

Double Chance Favorite

Outstanding among the turf's veterans who are being prepared for the greatest test that the thoroughbred can face, are Double Chance, winner of the National in 1925; Old Tay Bridge, who fell in two races and finished second last year; Silvo, fifth last year and third in 1924, and Fly Mask, third last year, and second in 1924.

Some of the horses who enter the Grand National year after year have a fair chance of winning it sooner or later, and age is not always the most important factor. Old Tay Bridge is 12 years old, for instance, but Sergeant Murphy, revered at Newmarket as a model jumper, was 13 years old when he won the race in 1923. Sergeant Murphy has been conspicuous in the race for many years, and his absence this year is regretted by turf followers. He is being used at Newmarket to school the younger entrants who will essay the difficult jumps on March 26. At that, there is a possibility that Sergeant Murphy will have another try next year.

With 48 candidates in training, it is quite possible that the field for the Grand National this year will be larger than ever before. The record is 35 starters, in 1921. Thirty-three started last year.

Forty Jumps

"Started" is the correct term. The Grand National fully deserves the reputation of being the most arduous horse race run annually in the world. Along its length of four miles and 850 yards are scattered 40 jumps and practically all of them are higher or wider than the obstacles found at other tracks. One of the three water jumps is 15 feet wide. In the course of the race, these jumps generally bring to grief a half or two-thirds of the field, and rarely do a dozen horses finish the course. Glenside, in 1911, was the only entrant to finish without falling, and in 1921, when Shaun Spadah won, he was followed over the finishing line by only four others, out of the 35 starters.

Naturally the heavy casualty list does not pass unremarked. Always there are those who advocate the moderation of the National's damaging jumps, or a shortening of the long course. The question has even come up in the House of ommons.

In addition, it is disheartening sometimes to see a horse, running in fine condition and apparently with a bright chance of finishing at the top, fall within sight of the finishing post. Old Tay Bridge fell three fences from the winning post in 1924, when he was leading with Silvo. The latter has to carry top weight of 175 pounds in the race next month.

The horses finishing in the first six places last year are again entered, namely, in their order, Double Chance, Old Tay Bridge, Fly Mask, Sprig, Silvo, and Dwarf of the Forest. Other entrants with previous "National" experience are Arden, Ammonal, All White, Ben Cruchan, Gardenrath, Keep Cool, Pencoed, Patsey, White Surrey, and Ballinode.
