FEARED LOST IN BULKLEY

John Gimelly Missing Since Sunday From Smithers Road Camp.

SMITHERS, July 30.—It is feared that the waters of the Bulkley River have claimed another victim and again the man is an employee of the provincial public works department. On Sunday morning, John Gimelly, a member of a road gang working near Trout Creek, between Smithers and Moricetown, left camp with the intention of going fishing and has not been seen since.

There is a canyon and rapids in the river just below where the men are camped and the fishing is good there. It is thought that the unfortunate man may have slipped on the rocks and fell into the swift waters.

The police have been patroling the shores of the river and have men also scouring the woods as he might have become lost in the brush, but as yet no trace of the man has been found.

Very little is known of Gimelly locally as he was a stranger in these parts and had only worked four days on the road, but he is supposed to have come from Hope, B. C.

New Process for Ore Treatment Being Developed in Old Country.

(By E. A. HAGGEN, M.E.)

A company financed by British and Swedish capital has developed, through one of the best European metalurgists, a process for treatment of complex ores at low cost. For instance, it is claimed that in the case of zinc ores or concentrates carrying high values in silver, as perfect an extraction of the silver can be obtained as in the case of clean load ores. By present processes the loss in silver in zinc ores is high, and heavy deductions have to be made by present metallurgical plants accordingly. Under the process referred to it is claimed that all silver values up to 5% can be paid for and that zinc deductions are reduced to 10%. At present even the Belgian metallurgical plants cannot handle zinc ores high in silver and refuse to accept them as they cannot recover a sufficiently large percentage of the silver.

The company is building a plant in Scotland at a cost of $1,500,000, and is arranging for shipments of silver-zinc and other complex ores and concentrates from all parts of the world. The manager intends visiting British Columbia at an early date to ascertain the precise conditions here, and if he can see a sufficient quantity of such ores available the company will establish on the coast a plant to treat them—probably at the town of Stewart on Portland Canal.

CO-OPERATION OF FOUR CITIES OF WEST URGED BY McGEER IN ORDER TO GET BETTER RATES

content of the grain would be affected and Mr. Lanningan, of the C. P. R., had said there never would be any grain shipped that way. Yet directly the rates came down the elevator had broken all records of shipment through any single elevator in the Dominion, and grain was landed in the United Kingdom in the best of shape.

Hilding Country Back

A factor that is holding the country back, he claimed, is the high freight rates to the Pacific Coast. He showed from figures quoted by the railway officials how the Pacific Coast rates showed large profits. He wanted to see the C. P. R. successful; for the more successful the railways, the more successful would be the country. As it was, the business of the railways had been a pitiable failure on this coast compared with what they might have been if reasonable rates had been given. He told how other nations on the Pacific had developed and urged that British Columbia might have kept pace with these had the freight rates been sufficiently low.

The speaker stated that in Prince Rupert there would be fisheries development which could not take place now as the rates were prohibitive. Reduction in rates was not ruining the railways, but in recent years had increased them. "The railways do not need high rates. They are realizing today that the Pacific Coast business is the best they can develop."

Create Prosperity

Continuing, Mr. McGeer urged that the people of Prince Rupert should do more than just live here. They should create prosperity. Prince Rupert should get in and fight. There had been more kick at the building of the elevator at Prince Rupert than at the lowering of the freight rates. As the port became active after business the people would find the pull against the port would necessitate unity of action here.

He told how practically the whole of the East had united against the lowering of rates to the Pacific Coast, a rate which stood to benefit Canadian ports as against American. He urged that an effort be made to build this part of Canada on permanent foundations. If they went steadily ahead realizing that this problem of lower cost of transportation had to be solved, there would be no doubt as to future prosperity.
