

Kinsmen's Peanut Sale Aids Work For Children

Hallowe'en Parties, Fire Crackers, Candies Provided

For the second year in succession, the Kinsmen Club will hold their "Peanut Day" tomorrow.

Club members, from the president down, will take to the streets early in the morning and will be assisted by Boy Scouts in their sale of peanuts.

Proceeds from the sale go into the club's "project account" which is used to sponsor Hallowe'en parties, Christmas parties, various events at the Civic Centre, Miller Bay Hospital and towards development of the children's camp at Lakelse Lake.

More than 90 cases of peanuts have arrived in the city and before nightfall tomorrow the Kinsmen hope to have disposed of their lot.

Children have also been selling shell-out tickets throughout the city for the past week. Proceeds from this also help offset cost of the Hallowe'en parties which have been arranged for next Friday night.

On Hallowe'en night there will be three parties—at Gyro Park, Totem Park and Conrad Street School. Nearly $100 worth of fireworks have been purchased.

Bonfires will be lit at each party and hot dogs given to the children. There will be novelty prizes for the little children.

All the fireworks are aerial types to eliminate any danger of children being burned or injured during the display.

The Kinsmen Club has taken a leading part in keeping Prince Rupert safe and sane for the past seven years.

During the summer, the club gives its Kiddie Kamp at Lakelse to any organization wishing to take children there for a vacation. Last year 70 Rupert children enjoyed life at the camp and already more than 200 children are booked for camp life next summer.

The Kinsmen camp can accommodate 48 children at one time.

FIGHTING FANS

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP)—Police were called to break up a disturbance in front of a movie theatre. Hundreds of children started fighting after six youngsters forced their way to the head of the waiting line-up.

SUMMER HOME—The Kinsmen Kiddie Kamp at Lakelse Lake has been closed for the winter but the club plans to get it opened much earlier next summer. Built and maintained by the Kinsmen of Prince Rupert, it is situated on Lakelse Lake. Pictured here is the main building which comprises a meeting hall, dining room and kitchen and on the right side are staff quarters. The canvas over the roof of the meeting hall was taken off for the winter and stored away. Besides this structure there are three permanent sleeping huts and three tent shacks.

But Not Too Much Sweet Stuff

By KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer

"Trick or treat," the little guy across the street will soon be stuttering from behind his big raise face. And probably his mother will be forever grateful if you limit the sweets put into his Hallowe'en basket.

Apples make good "shell-out" material. Cookies too find favor among the small fry. Here's a recipe for unbaked cookies that taste almost like candy:

Ingredients: Two eggs (well beaten); one-half pound chopped dates; one cup granulated sugar; one teaspoon vanilla; pinch of salt.

Put a tablespoon of butter into heavy frying-pan, add eggs, dates, sugar, vanilla and salt. Cook slowly, stirring continually, until done (about 10 to 15 minutes). Remove and cool. Add three cups rice flakes, shape in balls and roll in fine coconut.

SWEET STUFF

If the Hallowe'en handout must be candy then home-made fudge is excellent.

From the Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland and Labrador comes this recipe for chocolate fudge: two tablespoons butter; two cups sugar; three-quarters cup top milk or thin cream; two squares chocolate or five tablespoons cocoa; one tablespoon butter; two tablespoons light corn syrup; one teaspoon vanilla or one-quarter teaspoon cinnamon.

Cook sugar, milk, chocolate and corn syrup slowly until chocolate melts, stirring gently. Boil without stirring until mixture forms a soft ball when tried in cold water.

Remove from fire, add butter and let stand until cool. Add flavoring and nuts or 12 marshmallows. Beat until creamy.

A less expensive fudge from the Newfoundland recipe book is this one for a brown sugar candy:

Boil two pounds light brown sugar, two-thirds cup milk, one tablespoon butter or margarine until the mixture forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from fire and beat until creamy. Add vanilla and chopped nuts. Pour into greased tin.

SAVING WAYS

Tea biscuit mix can be made in quantity, say home economists of the consumer section, Canadian Department of Agriculture. Furthermore, this mix is most inexpensive when skim milk is used.

Ingredients: Eight cups sifted all-purpose flour or nine cups sifted pastry flour; four tablespoons baking powder; 1½ tablespoons salt; two-thirds to one cup skim milk powder; one cup shortening.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and skim milk powder. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles fine bread crumbs. Store in a covered container in refrigerator or in other cool place.

Hallowe'en Dates Back To Druidism

The story of Hallowe'en, spooks and goblins dates back further than Christianity although the day on Oct. 31, also known as All Hallows Eve is really the eve of the Christian festival as the vigil of Hallowmas or All Saints' Day.

The two chief characteristics of ancient Hallowe'en were lighting of bonfires and the belief that this is the one night in the year during which ghosts and witches are most likely to wander abroad.

History shows that the main celebrations of Hallowe'en were purely Druidical, and this is further proved by the fact that in parts of Ireland Oct. 31 is still known as Oidhche Shamhna, "Vigil of Saman." This is directly connected with the Druidic belief in the calling together of certain wicked souls on Hallowe'en by Saman, lord of death.

While the fad has now all but worn off due to persistent campaigning and education, creating mischief on Hallowe'en night saw its greatest boom in the 20 years between 1930 and 1950.

Pranks were the order of the night on Oct. 31 many years before that however, but not until the modern age crept forward did many of the pranks actually develop into wanton mischief and oftentimes tragedy.

Today, Hallowe'en is looked forward to by countless millions of children throughout the North American continent as a night of fireworks, masks and calling on neighbors' homes for "treats."

Mischief is frowned upon, even by youngsters.

Masquerade Dances For Hallowe'en

At least three separate Hallowe'en dances will be held by different organizations which will feature full dress masquerade, so there should be plenty of goblins and witches to celebrate the annual event.

A Hallowe'en benefit dance will be held at Miller Bay Oct. 31; the Junior Chamber of Commerce is holding a masquerade party Nov. 1; and the Elks hall will be staged in the Elks Home Oct. 31.

THE LETTERBOX

THANKING KINSMEN

Editor, The Daily News.
As in the past the Kinsmen Club of Prince Rupert is planning for the Annual Hallowe'en Bonfires and children's parties and I would earnestly request all citizens to support the Kinsmen in their endeavours to keep Hallowe'en safe and sane, and to supply the children of the city with good wholesome fun. Ex-Mayor Glassey's letter to the editor of the Daily News published last November provides, I think, ample proof of the success of their Hallowe'en parties and I can only reiterate his feelings.

"May I, on behalf of the citizens of the city, express our grateful appreciation to the Kinsmen Club for the able manner in which they handled the Hallowe'en festivities.

"It has been expressed by many citizens and the police department that this Hallowe'en has been the quietest that has been encountered for many years, with little or no damage done. This, I have no hesitation in saying, is due to the members of the Kinsmen Club and the manner in which they organized the entertainment for the children of this city, and I feel that Hallowe'en night could not go by without a "Thank you, Kinsmen, for the splendid work you have done."

H. S. WHALEN,
Mayor.

Chinese Now Make 'Indian' Moccasins

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Sitting Bull and Piapot would arise with wildly-waving tomahawks if they could see the contents of a letter filed in the Moose Jaw Chamber of Commerce office.

Even the officials of that organization, which advocates free enterprise, feel there is a limit . . . because China is trying to sell North America native novelties to Moose Jaw store keepers.

In a letter from Hong Kong, the Chamber was advised that K. S. Lau and Company are the manufacturers of all kinds of Indian beaded belts as well as jewelry, moccasins, novelties, etc. The company said it had been handling this line for years, establishing a good name in the whole of the United States.
