Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many way to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in salve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

"POT AU FEU" FAVORITE DISH WITH THE FRENCH

PARIS, . 20.—Here is the recipe for "Pot au Feu," which is the favorite dish in France, the land more celebrated than any other for its cookery.

Tie a string tightly about two pounds of beef and place it in a saucepan containing ten and one half pints of cold water. Add a good handful of coarse salt. A small piece of ham or mutton may also be added to improve the flavor of the broth.

Place the saucepan on a brisk fire and as a whitish foam begins to form skim it off until it ceases to appear. Then add three leeks, the green part of which should be tied tightly into one packet, and the white into another; four carrots, a small amount of parsnip, thyme, a clove of garlic, a bay leaf, a bit of parsley, and a large onion, into which three cloves have been thrust. Then let the pan stand on a slow fire until the broth is boiled at least six hours in all. Remove the grease and strain the broth before serving.

Suitable beef for "Pot au Feu" may be cut from the rump, shoulder, or round of beef.

TOO LIVELY.

"If you want to spend a quiet half-hour," said the native to the holiday visitor, "there's no place like our local art gallery, and—" "Just a minute," interrupted the visitor: "I've been reading it up in the guide book. Listen: 'Immediately on entering the visitor is struck by a statue of Hercules, then he is stunned by the splendor of the grand staircase. In the Blue Room one is crushed by the overwhelming beauty of the painted birds. Brilliant colors run riot everywhere.' No," said the visitor, "If I want peace I'll adjourn to the local hospital."—Glasgow Herald.
