Inspiring Address Delivered Yesterday Afternoon on "Fundamentals of Morality"

"The Fundamentals of Morality" was the subject of an inspiring address that was delivered yesterday afternoon before the Gyro Club by Bishop E. M. Bunoz. His Lordship dealt in an interesting and thoughtful manner with the requirements of civil law! which he declared was based on Juman reason under Divine command. While education and environment to a large extent was responsible for the human sense of morality, there was nevertheless an inherent trait that caused even the most primitive savage to differentiate between right and wrong. As members of society. all people were required, not only by the common law but also by dictates of reason and conscience, to base their actions on their personal as well as the publie welfare All men, being free, were inclined to be kings over their own small kingdoms but tion as there was in and around that they must travel at over 30 heir sovereignity was limited by Tp. 2A, Glasgow.
