PREFERS ROAD TO A RAILWAY

Resident of Peace River Declares Route to Pacific of Secondary Importance

EDMONTON, Feb. 3.—Completion of the Peace River highway between that district and Edmonton is of infinitely more importance to the people of the Peace River country at the present time than an outlet to the Pacific coast, declared Norman Soars, secretary of the Peace River Board of Trade...

"Until the Peace River district has population and production the outlet to the coast must be of secondary importance to the highway. The railway to the Pacific would cost anywhere up to $50,000,000, and will take years to build, while the highway can be completed this year at a cost of perhaps $20,000, and will make it possible for the hundreds of home seekers and others who are expected to trek to the Peace River country this year to get there with their cars and settle in the fertile farming country available. At the same time the completion of the highway will be of immense benefit to Edmonton merchants by making it possible for the settlers to get into the country and create an immense populous trading centre for this city," said Mr. Soars.
